NURSING HOME FIRE CLAIMS FOUR VICTIMS

TORONTO (CP)—Two elderly men died in hospital today raising the death toll in a pre-dawn nursing home fire to four. Frank Cooper, 71, and John Black, 75, died of smoke poisoning six hours after they were rescued from the west-end Craig Nursing Home. (See earlier story, page 3.)

De Gaulle Headed for Talks With Pflimlin on New Crisis

VICTORIA'S CONEY ISLAND

Sunday early proved itself to be a day of sun, and people started flocking to wide expanses of Willows Beach in mid-morning. By 3.30 p.m. sands were crowded. Temperatures reached mid-70s, tempered by light sea breeze. Visitors covered not only shore of arc of beach, but filled grassy area by Oak Bay Kiwanis Club concession. Volunteer concession workers said beach was busiest seen so far this year.—

Kootenay Bus Depot Bombed

Doukhobors Blamed for Violence; Nelson Mayor Asks Gov't Action

NELSON (CP) — The Sabbath stillness was shattered here Sunday as for the third time in the last six months parts of the West Kootenay area rocked to terrorist bombings.

Windows and doors were smashed and inside walls torn when an explosion ripped through the Greyhound bus terminal about 3.30 a.m. A number of power poles in widely separated areas were blasted.

No one was injured.

This district, about 250 miles due east of Vancouver, is the home of a large number of who have been blamed for simi- Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, lar incidents in the past.

A portion of a natural gas pipeline was blown up in December. About the same time power poles near Trail were blasted.

In mid-January a section of CPR track was destroyed. A week before bombs were discovered in three movie theatres in the area and buried beneath giant 200-foot power poles.

Police said all Sunday's explosions were set off by time bombs.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse of Nelson was en route to Victoria today to urge Attorney-General Robert Bonner to take action.

At the bus terminal a steel baggage locker, in which the bomb was planted, was ripped apart. Large holes were torn in the wall of an adjoining cafe and dishes and utensils were smashed.

The power poles were bombed at Tarrys, 18 miles southwest of here, at nearby Crescent Valley, and 15 miles west of Rossland.

The West Kootenay Power Company's feeder line, to the public utilities commission plant at Whatshan Lake was cut for several hours following the blast at 1.25 a.m.

Provincial secretary W. E. Black, acting attorney-general while Mr. Bonner is in Europe, will meet Nelson mayor Shorthouse on the matter of the bombings.

"I will be glad to meet with him too," said Premier Bennett.

"If necessary we'll ask the federal government to accept some responsibility. The federal government originated the situation," the premier stated.

Bonus Cheques To Pay Sommers Eversfield Says

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accountant Charles Eversfield continued today to recount how money was allegedly passed to former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers who now is involved in a 38-count indictment of bribery and conspiracy.

Testifying before an assize court jury of nine men and three women, Eversfield mentioned sums of $4,666 and two sums of $1,875 apiece. He said the $4,666 represented two-thirds of $7,000 and had been requisitioned from the C. D. Schultz Company Limited by Pacific Coast Services Limited where he was formerly bookkeeper.

He said that in August, 1954, H. W. Gray, his former boss and now one of the accused, had said he wanted to get money to Sommers and suggested that Eversfield draw a bonus cheque under his own name. The accountant said he refused to do this and that Gray finally informed him that two bonus cheques of $1,875 each were to be drawn over the names of John Gray and another company official, S. W. Armitage.

Eversfield testified that Gray told him that this money was to go to Sommers.

Under the examination of assistant prosecutor Stewart McMorran, Eversfield twice took documents to the jury and explained them directly. At one point Schultz' counsel, Alfred Bull, objected to this procedure but was rather sharply overruled by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

PART FOREST CLOSURE RULED BY GOVERNMENT

A restricted industrial forest closure, brought on by unseasonably warm weather of the past two weeks, was ordered today by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston for the whole of the Vancouver Forest District, to be effective at midnight.

Under provisions of the closure, no industrial operation such as logging, sawmilling, mining, construction or road clearing can be conducted within one-half mile of a forest or woodland except between the hours of midnight and 1 p.m.

It will mean the hated "early shift" for all loggers.

Deputy forests minister Dr. C. D. Orchard, speaking on behalf of the minister, said "this closure action is imperative because of the consistently high forest fire hazard in the Vancouver district, and the meteorological forecasts indicating that no real relief can be expected in the immediate future."

The forests are still open for recreational purposes, but Dr. Orchard cautioned that everyone entering the woods should exercise extreme care with fire.

New Bid to Avert Black Ball Strike

New talks will be held Tuesday at Vancouver in an attempt to head off a strike threat against Black Ball Ferries Ltd.

Richard Greaves, secretary of the National Association of Marine Engineers, said today negotiating committees of three unions will meet with the company to try and reach a settlement of pay disputes.

The engineers, Seafarers' International Union and Canadian Merchants Service Guild of licenced officers, have voted to strike against Black Ball but none has set a deadline for the walkouts.

Mr. Greaves said his association also will meet with the CPR Tuesday to re-open negotiations after weekend balloting among 97 members resulted in an 87 per cent vote to strike against the company.

The 10-ship Princess fleet already has been tied up 10 days by an SIU strike of 350 seamen.

The idled CPR engineers seek wage increases of 19 per cent spread over two years plus a $26 monthly cost of living bonus.

Similar demands have been made for some 40 engineers employed by Black Ball. Current pay ranges between $370 and $485.

An SIU meeting tonight will decide whether the seamen will accept an appeal by Victoria city council to agree to arbitration of their strike for reduced wage increases averaging 25 per cent.

However, Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent in Vancouver, said he doubted that the Union membership would agree to arbitration.

CPR vice-president J. N. Fraine said his company would be willing to accept arbitration if conducted by a Supreme Court judge. He added that the arbitration would have to apply for all three groups involved in the pay dispute.

Mayor Percy Scurrah today finally received a reply from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to his continuous appeals for government action.

ROUND-ROBIN TRAGEDY AT TEXAS BEACH

Six Rescuers Lured to Death By Child's Drowning Struggle

ROCKPORT, Tex. (AP)—Struggles of a drowning child drew 10 rescuers off a sunny beach late Sunday and seven persons perished, including the little girl the others tried to save.

Drowned were the little girl, a United States Air Force chaplain, the little girl's mother and four other children.

The tragic sequence started after Janice Bailey, nine, stepped into a deep hole off the small public beach opposite this Texas port on the Gulf of Mexico.

Chaplain Leonard Berry, 40, dived in.

The father of another child, who also drowned, and Janice's mother, Mrs. Mary Bailey, 26, followed. Efforts to help were made by seven other children, including the four who went down.

Wayne Bailey, an airman from Foster Air Force Base at neighboring Victoria, Tex., was in the crowd of more than 3,000 persons who saw the bodies of his wife and daughter pulled from the water.

Rockport Fire Chief Dick Fox identified these other dead:

David Curby, 7; Margarita Torres, 11, and Aurelia Tomas, 10.

Joining in the vain rescue attempt was Concepcion Tomas, who saw a little girl thrashing in the water and dashed from his parked car. He arrived too late to reach Janice or his own daughter.

Resuscitation efforts were fruitless.

Fox said 30 emergency corpsmen, swimming or in boats, joined in the rescue attempts. Twenty others aided on the beach with a respirator.

French Premier's Power Waning; Reds Call Strike

(From UPI and AP Dispatches)

PARIS—Gen. Charles de Gaulle left his rural home tonight apparently for Paris and possible talks with Premier Pierre Pflimlin over the French Republic's steadily worsening crisis.

All France waited for de Gaulle to keep a date with destiny.

De Gaulle drove swiftly away from his hideaway at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 150 miles southeast of Paris. Several hours earlier it had been learned de Gaulle offered through an intermediary Sunday night to consult with Pflimlin over means to save the republic.

Pflimlin's answer was not yet known.

Pflimlin's power appeared to be slipping, however.

After his National Assembly call for unity today he was applauded by only the centre half of the deputies.

The reticence of the rightists and the Communists to endorse Pflimlin's view of a well-planned plot against the republic was significant.

Leaders of the powerful Conservative party said they will ask President Rene Coty to call a meeting of all non-Communist party leaders to consider the formation of a de Gaulle government.

Conservatives said the meeting would be held "if possible with Gen. de Gaulle."

"The passion for national unity and the existence of General de Gaulle" were the only chances left to France, Gaullist Senator Michael Debre said.

Meanwhile, the Communist-controlled General Confederation of Labor ordered its members out on strike Tuesday to protest the possible return of de Gaulle to power. The announcement did not say how long the strike would continue.

TUNIS: Demonstrators Demand French Ouster

TUNIS, Tunisia—Tunisian demonstrators streamed into sun-baked street today demanding anew that French forces get out of this North African country.

Their protests were sparked by renewed weekend fighting between French and Tunisian troops in Remada, in the southern Tunisian desert. The fighting there had stopped today.

Demonstrations in Tunis carried over from Sunday. There were more reported in Bizerte and the olive-growing sections of Tozeur and Deggache in south central Tunisia. The demonstrations were vociferous but orderly.

President Habib Bourguiba was scheduled to make another radio broadcast to his people a state of emergency for all later in the day. He declared Tunisia Sunday after fighting at Remada swelled. French planes bombed and strafed Tunisian positions 25 miles north of Remada.

Five French soldiers were killed and 14 wounded as the French military command at Remada tried to break through Tunisian roadblocks.

Fighting at Gafsa in central Tunisia also was reported to have ceased after Tunisian troops fired on planes landing on a French airstrip.

ALGIERS: Warships Leave NATO Exercise

ALGIERS—Seventeen French warships have cut short their participation in the current NATO Mediterranean naval exercise to sail for the ports of mutinous Algeria on "routine" visits, French fleet sources said today.

The sources said the vessels would skip the closing review of the exercise in Malta Tuesday. Instead, they will head back to the southern France naval base of Toulon—calling on the way at the Algerian ports of Bone, Philippeville and Bougie. They are not planning a call at Algiers, centre of the civilian-military insurgent moves.

Although the fleet headquarters sources here termed the visits as a "routine movement," no such calls had been announced previously.

The sources clearly meant, however, that the move should not be construed as an indication the ships were coming to Algeria to bolster the cause of the dissident generals and civilians.

The disclosure of the new visits came amid reports that the huge French aircraft carrier Lafayette and three destroyers already had arrived at Bone from Malta.

By coincidence, the imminent arrival of the fleet units in the Algerian ports came at the same time as a visit of Gaullist Jacques Soustelle and top generals of the all-Algeria committee of public safety to Bone and Constantine in eastern Algeria.

Meanwhile, insurgent authorities in Algeria accused the Paris government of plotting to create incidents between the French and Tunisian forces in Tunisia to discredit the committee of public safety in Algeria.

An official spokesman of the committee said the government of Pierre Pflimlin is trying to exploit the situation and obtain international sanctions against the Algiers authorities.

He added that the 22,000 French troops in Tunisia commanded by Gen. Fernand Gambiez were "working in very close contact with us for operational reasons."

CORSICA: Insurgents Solidly in Control

AJACCIO, Corsica (AP) — Thousands of Corsicans today marched through the flag-decked streets of this insurgent capital to hail emissaries from the rebellious Algeria junta.

This French island, which Saturday night staged a bloodless coup d'etat, was solidly under control of public committees supported by the tommy-guns of French paratroopers.

Special riot police, ordered here from metropolitan France to deal with the insurgents, basked idly under the hot Mediterranean sun or joined the anti-Paris demonstrations.

Residents of the capital city of Ajaccio—birthplace of Napoleon Bonaparte—massed in front of the two-storey prefecture and loudly cheered representatives of the Algerian movement who flew here in French air force planes to consolidate the takeover on Corsica.

There was no sign of dissension anywhere. The island has been virtually cut off from the outside world on which it depends heavily for food and other supplies. A warning was published against any hoarding or black marketing but there was no sign that either has begun. Restaurants had full menus and shops were well stocked.

Canadian Killed In Israeli Clash

JERUSALEM (CP)—Lieut.-Col. George Flint, Canadian chairman of the UN mixed armistice commission, and two Israeli policemen were reported killed today after a clash between Israeli and Jordan forces in the Mount Scopus area.

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—Israeli and Jordanian forces clashed today on Mount Scopus, northeast of Jerusalem and an unofficial report said Col. George Flint, Canadian chairman of the mixed armistice commission, was severely injured.

An Israeli army spokesman said two policemen were wounded in the exchange of fire that lasted two hours.

The spokesman said a third man was wounded when the Jordanians fired on a rescue party sent to pick up one of the two originally wounded. A fourth policeman was wounded later.

The Israeli spokesman said the Jordanian troops violated a cease-fire arrangement negotiated by UN truce supervisors by continuing to shoot after the deadline set for 3.30 p.m.

He said the Jordanians had not respected arrangements by UN officers for the transfer of the wounded policemen.

DEAN OFFERS LABOR STRIFE PEACE PRAYER

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral offered a "prayer for the easement of labor strife" in his church on Sunday.

The Dean read the following supplication:

"O God who hast ordained that men live and work together as brethern, we humbly beseech Thee to put away all strife between those who are engaged in the labors of industry and those who employ their labor. Grant that all, seeking only that which is just and equitable, may ever continue in unity and concord, to Thy glory, their own well-being, and the prosperity of this Dominion; through Jesus Christ Our Lord, Amen."

W. German President To Speak in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Theodor Heuss, 74-year-old president of the West German Federal Republic, flies to Quebec City this week on first visit to Canada by a German head of state. He will address members of both Houses of Parliament in the Commons on June 2.

Heavy Vote in Italy

ROME (AP) — Election officials began counting more than 30,000,000 ballots today immediately after the end of 1½ days of heavy voting for Italy's third postwar parliament. Final results of the balloting, which was orderly throughout, are expected Tuesday.

Beirut Bomb Kills 6

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Anti-goverment terrorists set off a time bomb in a packed Beirut streetcar today. Six to eight persons were killed and 12 to 15 injured, according to early estimates.

Four Workers Killed In 7,200-Volt Flash

WARREN, Ont. (CP)—Four workers of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission died today five hours after they received electrical shocks in an accident at the hydro substation at Warren, 40 miles east of Sudbury.

The dead were identified as Louis Villa, 36, of Sudbury; Aubrey Staples, 36, of Garson; Maurice Paradis, 26 of Chelmsford, and Aurele Fournier, 30, also of Chelmsford.

The six-man crew from Sudbury was working on replacement of a transformer and was slipping steel pipe scaffolding into position when the accident occurred. Armstrong said the scaffolding touched the blade of a live switch. The line was carrying 7,200 volts.

They were held fast to the scaffolding until a transformer fuse blew, breaking the circuit. Armstrong said the feeder line on which they were working was dead.

branches of industry belong to the confederation.

The Socialist Force Ouvriere and the non-Communist General Confederation of Labor, which broke away from the main body several years ago, summoned their joint executive committee into special session. A spokesman said the committee also was in touch with the Christian Trade Union Federation, another non-Communist group.

The joint committee called on members to "oppose subversion . . . and aid legitimate authorities to the maximum."

This raised the possibility the workers would try to seize arms if rightist mobs took to the streets in support of de Gaulle.

Pflimlin told the Assembly there had been "no justification and no excuse" for the military-led seizure of power in Corsica.

He said the government has already increased its security measures to prevent spread of the pro-Gaullist insurgency to the French mainland.

"The government will use with inflexible vigor all the means it has against any who rise from any side against the law," he declared. "But security forces are not enough to save our threatened freedoms. The nation as a whole must do its duty."

Pflimlin said civil war threatens and called on all Frenchmen to defend their basic liberties.

"The danger threatening us is that of civil war," he told the deputies.

"Our liberties are at stake."

OUT OF SUPPLIES

Striving to stem the tide of revolt, the government:

1. Cut off communications and supplies to the insurrectionists who consolidated their control of Corsica with Algeria-type public safety committees. Rebel leaders in Algiers said they would funnel supplies to the Mediterranean island's 140,008 people.

2. Extended censorship to all news distributed in France — whether from French territories or from abroad.

3. Announced government officials and military personnel who took part in the Corsica uprising would be fined and jailed.

4. Asked the Assembly to order expulsion from Parliament of any deputy who works against the unity of the republic. The bill was aimed at Corsican deputy Pascal Arrighi, who helped direct paratroopers and civilians in seizing power on the island. It could also be used against Jacques Soustelle, leading Gaullist deputy who fled to take a top role in the Algiers revolt.

Tenement Fire Kills 6

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Fire crackled through a three-story tenement today and six Negro tenants were burned to death. Twenty-five others fled to safety. Police arrested another tenant who lived on the top floor after they said he admitted smoking in bed. He was held on a charge of investigation of arson.

Convicts Die After Poison Booze Party

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two prisoners have died and two are in hospital following a party early Sunday at a prison work camp in nearby Chilliwack during which poisonous spirits were consumed.

The two dead were identified by prison officials as Archie Morin, 28, and Joseph Bastarache, 48, who were serving their seventh and eighth sentences respectively in Oakalla prison in suburban Burnaby and had been sent from there to the Chilliwack camp.

It is believed the men drank anti-freeze fluid or some type of spirit fuel taken from a mechanic's shed.

A letter from the prime minister noted that the federal labor department was watching the strike situation closely and "you may be sure that the government of Canada is anxious to assist in reducing the unfortunate effects which you state will arise from the present strike."

Mayor Scurrah refused comment on the letter and two similiar ones from the department of labor and the office of Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, VC.

"They speak for themselves," he said.

HOTELS LOSE OUT

With attempts to end the CPR strike stalemated, tourist businesses such as hotels and motels continued suffering losses.

Managers expected to be hit hard this weekend, Memorial Day holiday in the United States which normally brings a great many visitors here, if the strike was not settled immediately.

Mayor Scurrah attended an emergency meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce today in the Crystal Garden where reports on the CPR strike situation were made.

The SIU should accept the offer of the CPR to submit the union's wage dispute to binding arbitration by a Supreme Court judge, Arnold Webb, secretary-manager of the Victoria chamber said.

"GENUINE OFFER"

Mr. Webb dsecribed the offer as a "crack in the curtain."

"It appears to be a genuine offer and there seems to be no reason why the union should not be prepared to submit its case in the same manner," he said.

Commenting on a CPR statement that it was operating its ships at a loss and any increase in costs "would entail increased fares, reduced service, or both," Mr .Webb said the chamber was opposed to any reduction in service between Victoria and the mainland.

Labor Minister Michael Starr told the Commons that the CPR and SIU are still "far apart" in their dispute. He said a federal labor department attempt to arrange new talks over the weekend failed.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Otto Honicke, 2422 Cedar Hill, $35 and $5 costs and licence suspension, for careless driving.

Donald L. Trahan, 866 Craigflower, $35 for careless driving.

In Sidney RCMP court today:

Arthur Saunders, Sidney, $50 and $3 costs for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $35 and $5 costs for careless driving.

REACTOR KNOCKED OUT IN ATOM DUST MISHAP

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's powerful NRU atomic reactor at the Chalk River, Ont., atomic establishment was knocked out of action Saturday night following a rare accident which contaminated the building housing it with radioactive dust.

Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Crown company that operates the huge atomic project, said no one was injured in the accident. However, the $57,000,000 reactor, which goes by the code name NRU, likely will shut down for three or four weeks.

French Police Seize U.S., London Papers

PARIS (AP) — French police seized today's issue of The London Daily Mail and the European edition of The New York Herald Tribune.

The information ministry said the seizure of The Herald Tribune was ordered because the paper printed remarks by the French naval commander in the Mediterranean, Admiral Philippe Auboyneau, that the navy supported the rebel group in Algeria.

The Daily Mail was seized when it arrived in Paris. No reason was given. Other London papers were distributed without interference.

The seizures were part of the government's campaign to keep from the public certain information pertaining to the spread of the Algerian revolt against Paris control. The government Sunday extended censorship to all news distributed in France, although there still is no censorship on outgoing news.

Tear Gas Attack On H-Bomb March

GIRL FRIEND CUT UP, TOO

He Kissed His Car Goodbye

VANCOUVER — A kiss cost a young motorist his convertible Sunday. It also resulted in injuries to his girl companion.

Police said the youth admitted he was kissing his 16-year-old companion when the car skidded and plunged over a 25-foot embankment into Burarrd Inlet.

The girl was hurled from the auto as it shot over the bank. She was treated at hospital for shock and bruises. The driver, who stayed with the car, escaped injury but police said the vehicle was demolished.

A charge of driving while his licence was suspended will be laid against the youth, police said, and other charges are being considered.

FRANCE AT CROSSROADS

'Awful Abyss Of Civil War'

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI)—Only a hairsbreadth today separates France from the awful abyss of civil war.

The great showdown was on. It involved:

A weak parliamentary regime, shaken by chronic political crises for the past 13 years, that suddenly was making a desperate eleventh-hour effort to reform itself.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the haughty, austere former Free French leader, who sees France's only hope of salvation in scrapping the "regime of parties" and replacing it with a firm "executive authority."

The Communists, who have polled more than 5,000,000 votes in every French national election since 1945. They are setting their sights now at a new Communist-dominated "popular front" that would turn France swiftly into another Moscow satellite.

What made this crisis far graver than any of the scores of other political blow-ups that have shaken France since 1945 was that for the first time the army was involved.

Frenchmen with 26 governments in 13 years have seen this showdown coming for a long time.

The only surprise was the way it exploded—in Algeria rather than in France itself.

ENDLESS STRUGGLE

For more than three years a 400,000-man French army has been locked in a seemingly endless struggle against 25,000 Moslem rebels in Algeria. Successive French governments always have held back from the decision to make it a total war.

The French army and 1,200,000 French settlers have burned under an increasing feeling of futility.

Their anger and fear came to a head May 13, as cautious middle-of-the-roader Pierre Pflimlin, a member of the Catholic Popular Republicans, prepared to form a government in Paris.

Word of a planned "sell-out" in Algeria touched off an explosion of fury there.

A vast mob of angry settlers invaded government house in Algiers, ransacked it and set up a "committee of public safety." Demanding power for de Gaulle, Gen. Raoul Salan, commander-in-chief in Algeria, and Gen. Jacques Massu, a swaggering paratrooper, put themselves, or allowed themselves to be put, at the head of the rebel committee.

Other similar committees soon sprang up in every Algerian city

FLAG OF REVOLT

The insurgents expected de Gaulle would answer their call by unfurling the flag of revolt in metropolitan France and placing himself at the head of a movement, spearheaded by the French army, that would have swiftly overthrown the Fourth Republic and established a de Gaulle regime.

But there was no accompanying outbreak in France. De Gaulle proclaimed his readiness to take over power "if the nation wants me," but made it clear he will not seize power by force.

The Pflimlin government set about trying to make a compromise "peace" deal with the Algiers rebels.

At the same time, it got ready to stake its existence on passage by parliament this week of a hurriedly thrown-together constitutional reform bill, designed to give the government sweeping executive powers and to make it almost impossible to overthrow a government once it is voted into office.

ARMY LOYALTY

Pflimlin hoped this would knock the props from under De Gaulle's own demands for a "strong" regime and pave the way for an early settlement with Algiers.

At this moment of acute crisis everything now depends on whether the government can count on the loyalty of the remaining one-half of France's armed forces still in Europe—about 500,000 men—and on its second "army." This consists of the police, the Republican Security Guard and mobile guard forces totalling another 250,000 men, of whom 35,000 are massed in Paris alone.

The government has staked everything, including its own existence, on passage of the constitutional bill this week.

If Pflimlin is defeated nothing could save France from the ultimate showdown, with all its threat of bloodshed and civil war.

2 Suffocated as Fire Panics Nursing Home

TORONTO (CP)—Two persons died and at least 12 others were in critical condition today after fire filled a west-end nursing home with suffocating smoke.

At least 60 persons, ranging in age from 75 to 85, were carried from the nursing home by firemen, nurses and police.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Tillie Hewitt, 85, and William Cavalio, 79. They were dead on arrival at hospital.

Deputy Fire Chief William Mitchell said an arson investigation has been ordered. He said there were reports the fire had been started by an elderly patient who had been playing with matches a few hours earlier.

The fire broke out shortly before 5 a.m. First firemen at the scene sent back a call for all available ambulances and began administering oxygen to the rescued.

PATIENTS PANICKY

First report of the fire said 15 persons had died. The report came from a count of stretchers carried from the building. Later it was learned some of these were injured being taken to hospital.

Robert Hobbs, a police detective who was one of the first at the scene, said he ran into the building and found the second floor filled with smoke. He and others groped through the smoke to search rooms.

"We had to bring them out one at a time," he said. "They didn't want to come out. They were panicky."

FACTS BEHIND THE STRIKE CALLED BY THE S.I.U.

B.C.C.S. SITUATION

The BRITISH COLUMBIA COAST STEAMSHIP SERVICE NOW OPERATES AT A LOSS amounting in 1957 to $55,000.

The ships alone of the B.C.C.S. fleet cost $23,000,000.

S.I.U. DEMANDS

The original S.I.U. demands would have increased payroll costs by 78 per cent.

Applied to all personnel on ships this would have amounted to $2,026,000.

Just before the strike the S.I.U. suggested increases totalling 37 per cent.

Applied to all personnel on ships this would amount to (per year) $1,064,000.

CANADIAN PACIFIC'S OFFER

Increase in pay and fringe benefits (with adjustment for cost of living after one year) 10 per cent.

Applied to all personnel on ships this would amount to (per year) $320,000.

This would mean an operating loss of about (over the next 12 months) $400,000.

And still no earnings from the investment in ships.

Any increase in costs must entail INCREASED fares, REDUCED service, or BOTH.

TO RESTORE SERVICE

CANADIAN PACIFIC is ready to submit the dispute to binding arbitration.

Which girl has the TONI?

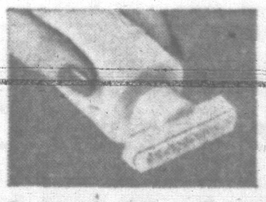
Long hair styles . . . short hair styles . . . all hair styles look better with a Toni. That's because Toni gives the basic permanent all hair needs for styling manageability. So whether your preference is for the modern souffle or your present hairdo, begin with a Toni – the world's most popular home permanent. Which girl has the Toni? Both have, and they can change their hairdo's as often as they change their minds.

Having a home permanent is no trick at all with TONI'S Double–Easy Applicator

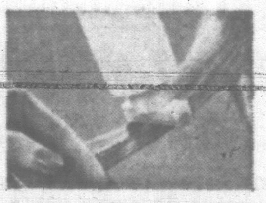
Why, you're an expert right from the start! That's because Toni's Double-Easy Applicator accurately measures waving lotion, then neutralizes where hands can't reach. Having a Toni is easier than you ever dreamed possible. And you're sure of soft, even adaptable waves every time.

New-Way Toni with applicator Super, Regular or Gentle $2.29

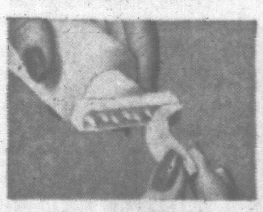
Without applicator, $2.00



Pretty pink plastic applicator has sponge top, just curl width. Spreads lotion smoothly. Won't splash or drip.



One easy stroke wets every tress clear through. No combing needed. Never too much lotion — never too little.



Sponge comes off. See those eight spray-tips? They spray neutralizer inside each curl — where hands can't reach.

Now, the spray-tips are inside the curl. Press! Neutralizer flows in and waving action stops. Most thorough neutralizing ever.

You can't tell the difference between a TONI home permanent and a $15 beauty shop wave!

The Cruel Choices

ALTHOUGH CANADIAN APpropriations for defence in the coming year are estimated at $1.686 billions and constitute the largest item of federal expenditure, that sum represents a reduction of $7 millions from last year.

The reduction may be welcomed by the taxpayers but it is not representative of the demands of the defence situation. For if this country is to provide adequate national security against attack with offensive weapons now in use by Russia, as well as prepare for inevitable future threats of greater magnitude, it must face defence expenditures of many billions of dollars.

In a thought-provoking series in the Financial Post, Michael Barkway reveals details of the dilemma faced by federal authorities.

At the present time, for instance, Canada has invested some $200 millions in developing the CF-105 jet fighter. These could now be produced at about $4 millions each, fully equipped. But Russian bombers already equal these aircraft in speed and altitude capabilities, making the fighters of limited use in case of mass attack.

And development of the intercontinental missile—now underway—will render them completely useless.

Eventually some defence may be devised against the missile. But at the moment, as Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan pointed out this week, there is no effective antidote.

On the ground, the situation is much the same. Canada and the United States, in a joint defensive effort, have put millions of dollars into radar stations extending across Canada in three parallel lines between the Arctic and the U.S. border.

At present the vital Canadian warning stations are dependent on human intervention to operate. Electronic equipment governs the detection of approaching aircraft and the navigation of the interceptors, but the connecting link is still human computation.

The device to overcome this, save all-important seconds and operate large masses of fighters instead of a handful, is SAGE—Semi-Automatic Ground Environment. Under this system, detection and retaliation are instantaneous and automatic, requiring only the pushing of a button by a human overseer to decide whether defence shall be by plane or guided missile.

The SAGE system also links groups of radar stations together, links these groups in turn with a central headquarters, and again in turn with the continental command.

Such an interlocking maze of equipment and communication lines would involve a tremendous expenditure. It would likely be reasonably effective against manned bombers, which are the current threat. But it would be useless against the intercontinental missile. For which danger shall we prepare?

As Mr. Barkway suggests, we may be faced some day with a choice of ruin through unpreparedness to meet attack, or through bankruptcy in spending for defence.

To establish only one SAGE sector of half a dozen detection stations would cost about $120 millions. Many of them would be needed, with further millions to link them, quite apart from providing planes or missiles to repel attack once it had been detected.

The Diefenbaker Government thus faces cruel choices. Perhaps it has not yet reached a basic decision and its reduction of defence expenditures can hardly be considered its last word.

Shadow on the Summit

THE SUMMIT SEEMS TO BE fading further into the distance like a mirage.

A few weeks ago it was clearly in sight and the free world was moving rapidly toward it, under the pressure of Mr. Khrushchev.

But for reasons known only to the Kremlin Mr. Khrushchev has lost enthusiasm for his latest rendezvous with destiny. He has placed every imaginable barrier in the way of basic negotiations. And the West, for its part, is in no hurry.

The experts in London and Washington are reading many things into the sudden change of Russian tactics.

It is said that Mr. Khrushchev no longer controls the Kremlin's policies, that he is locked in a new struggle with his enemies at home and also with his friends in China.

At any rate, he has been compelled to revise his friendly posture in the old, nagging problem of Yugoslavia, apparently because the Chinese Government is opposed to Marshal Tito's heresies. Stalinism, once repudiated by Mr. Khrushchev, has been revived in a futile attempt to coerce Yugoslavia and no doubt will be used to coerce such satellites as Poland.

But no one outside its walls really knows what goes on inside the Kremlin or inside the subtle mind of Mr. Khrushchev.

All the free world knows is that the Russians, who so earnestly demanded a settlement with the West not long ago have retreated hastily from the Summit, either because the die-hard Stalinists are getting the upper hand on Mr. Khrushchev or because he realizes that the Summit would probably pay him small dividends of propaganda.

Already Mr. Khrushchev has suffered grave propaganda reverses after a series of brilliant coups. His decision to veto a Canadian-American offer of aerial inspection in the Arctic certainly disillusioned the neutral nations and presented Russia as the real obstacle to any relaxation in the cold war.

If the Summit has been indefinitely postponed perhaps nothing of practical importance has been lost. The West has never believed that any magic could be accomplished by a ceremonial meeting which, like that of Geneva in 1955, would issue only some reassuring platitudes quickly repudiated by Russia.

If any agreements, even on the periphery of the power struggle, are possible they can be negotiated through the usual diplomatic channels. If no such agreements are desired by Russia a meeting at the Summit will not achieve them.

Moreover, the West is still far behind Russia in the race for new weapons and, at this stage, would negotiate, if it negotiated at all, from weakness—a perilous position.

That, of course, is why the American Government has always been dubious about a Summit conference under the existing unfavorable circumstances and was pushed toward it only by the pressure of public opinion, especially in Britain. Mr. Khrushchev's change of mind is reducing this pressure and placing the onus of the present stalemate clearly upon Russia. After the rejection of the Arctic inspection scheme, that is where the onus must rest.

THE INNER LOOK

Coping With the Complexes

ON a visit to New York some eighteen months ago I was taken by a friend to a small party. It was in the apartment of a psychology lecturer and his wife, a biology student, at the back of the third floor of an aged warehouse. The apartment itself was decorated in a most advanced style and its walls held numerous canvases of the host—who was also an artist—and his friends. The guests included a psychology student, two or three artists, and a wife or two. It was not long before the talk had developed into a contest between the artists and the psychologists as to which subject should provide the entertainment. Eventually they merged, as they might very logically do. But I think the psychologists won out in the end, for the discussion raged around the psychology of art rather than the art of psychology.

Tobin

Some of the points made were very interesting, but what struck me particularly was the lingo. Immersed in their subject some of these debaters had developed the language of their science to the exclusion of ordinary speech. When they were all shouting at once, the effect was quite overpowering.

If you didn't like something, it wasn't just that you didn't like it, you had a feeling of compulsive rejection. Speakers didn't speak, writers didn't write, painters didn't paint — they all communicated. People didn't have anything to do with each other, they "related" to others.

People themselves fell apart into ids, psyches and egos. Their actions were governed by Oedipus complexes, Freudian factors and other considerations which could, however, be resolved by sufficient free-association, knowledge of being wanted and other well-known remedies.

Away From It All

Apparently this sort of thing is still going on in the large centres. Of course a tiny backwoods community like Victoria knows nothing of the pressing personal problems which confront the metropolitan dweller. Life here is only on the fringe of human existence; you have to immerse yourself in the big cities, delve into the main pools of humanity, to experience real living.

It's only in the big streams of mankind that you catch the big ulcers.

There is no surprise, therefore, in noting that a recent New York Times Magazine carries an article on the current interest in psycho-analysis. It is a tongue-in-cheek article, but the writer, perhaps unknowingly, has tongued the other cheek as well.

In other words, he may laugh at the self-analysis addicts he sees around him in New York City, but the fact that he is laughing at them indicates not so much that they are laughable as that they are still engrossed in this introspective occupation.

It has become, says Jules Feiffer, the hobby of many of his fellow citizens to offer psychiatric advice to various members of their groups. The object of such friendly attention slides easily into the role, since he has been receiving much the same thing ever since he was born.

His mother, with the aid of paperback authorities, studied and analysed him day and night to make sure he had some psychological quirks and then make sure she cured them. Later his school counsellors took over the job, then his friends. Eventually he seeks professional help and still later takes over the job himself.

And presumably at that point, being the veteran of a thousand psychiatric battles, he will undertake to give the benefit of his experience to others coming along in his path.

It is a rugged path. Consider, with Mr. Feiffer, the predicament of the young man asking his boss for a raise. For the boss, "exuding paternal benevolence, explains that this is nothing short of a bid for attention from a father figure."

His girl friend turns down his proposal. "'It's not me you really want,' she says. 'What you really want is a mother'."

Double Dose

Eventually the poor fellow solves one of his problems. He has wondered why he always feels nervous when he passes a cop. Now he is able to explain to his friends that he has a need to feel guilty. It seems that when he was a kid all the other kids felt guilty but he didn't. So, to conform, he pretended to feel guilty.

"But I didn't FEEL guilty," he says. "I was a fraud. I began to feel guilty about not feeling guilty . . ."

He finds later that he and his fiancee are hesitating about plunging into marriage. This is due, their friends decide, "to a clear case of relationship-resistance due to anxiety needs, ego doubts and identity problems."

As a step towards solving this situation they get married.

One can easily see that there is much more to living in a big city than merely living. Not only must you live, but you must explain at length to yourself and your friends why you live, and occasionally even why you are not living.

I am glad, for the sake of the big city residents, that the subject is still receiving proper attention. I can imagine the discussions in apartments ringing with arguments and advice, the afflicted ones baring their souls to themselves and to their friends, and the blind confidently and vociferously leading the blind. Victorians don't know what they're missing.

Bus Stops

Issue No. 48, April 21, of "The Buzzer" issued by the B.C. Electric contains these words:

> "and when you queue parallel to the sidewalk you are not inconvenienced by passing pedestrians, or they by you"

This is the second admonition by the bus company and, in addition, there have been letters to the civic authorities concerning this nuisance, but nothing has been done about it.

The worst bus-stop in this respect is the one at Yates and Douglas where the Haultain bus loads.

Here may be seen a line of people strung clear across the side-walk all the way from the curb to the adjoining building completely blocking the sidewalk to pedestrian traffic.

Persons endeavouring to break this blockade often remonstrate with the offenders but in response are greeted with either blank stares or muttered remarks.

This is the only bus stop where this has assumed the proportions of being a public nuisance and the public is asking why the city does not enforce its bylaw governing this condition.

Since words, verbal and printed, have had no effect it is suggested that a few summonses under the bylaw regarding the obstruction would speedily rectify this nuisance.

About the Strike

Open Letter

Dear Strikers:

Do you realize you are cutting your own throats as well as those of all the rest of us?

The enormous expenditure put out for the Centennial celebration of our province will have to be made up by an exorbitant increase in taxes of all sorts, since you have cut off the influx of visitors.

Think it over. You and your families will suffer equally as those not connected with your union.

Should Not Have Happened

The present situation regarding the subject of transportation between Vancouver Island and the mainland should not really be occasioned.

Are we or are we not a part of Canada? When Confederation was formed I feel certain there would be no clause or condition that Vancouver Island would have to depend on the CPR or any other competitive steamship companies to connect with the mainland.

The Canadian federal highway across Canada ends at Vancouver and, according to Publicity Commissioner Mr. Warren, starts on the Island at the Causeway. One might ask who is responsible for the gap to hook up? Are we on Vancouver Island not entitled to freedom of travel, without having to be subject to the threat of the SIU agent that the Island might be isolated?

The time is ripe to ask the federal government to instal public ferries operated by government services and settle for all time this lack of travel service, depending as I said before, on the whims of companies or individuals. What have the elected members, both federal and provincial, to say regarding the rights and convenience of public transport?

The time seems ripe for the public to strike.

"CONCERNED."

Ships and Terms of Union

It was bound to come. Vancouver Island, a part of the Dominion of Canada, was and is, only connected by private enterprise, and by the State of Washington (foreign state ferry) to the mainland of Canada.

The pioneers of this country saw and realized the true situation as it was and as it would of course develop.

When we joined Canada, these sensible people made provision for such an eventuality, they entered into a treaty with Canada, called the Terms of Union. It was in writing and is today still printed in the Statutes of B.C. whenever there is a revision of the B.C. Statutes—it is in full force and effect and cannot be altered even with the consent of this province and Canada. It must have the Imperial consent.

It provided for a railroad to the Pacific (which meant the Pacific coast of Vancouver Island, as found by the commissioner, Lord Carnarvon), but it was never built. It also obligated the Dominion Government to have a steamship service for passengers and freight to America—to Olympia the capital of Washington State, and San Francisco in California—Ottawa never did either!

Let us have backbone enough to stand up for our legal and moral rights. Let Canada at once establish the ship routes, using the CNR ships now in eastern waters on the verge of being sold, and perhaps lost to a foreign country.

There never was a more opportune moment to have our agreement with Ottawa lived up to. It would strengthen the ties and understanding between Ottawa and this Island forever. I can see no value in throwing brickbats at the Prime Minister. We should simply call on him to fulfil our agreement and let us have those eastern ships immediately.

C. L. HARRISON.

How Long?

How much longer must the public be be-devilled by strikes and the threat of strikes in transportation and public utilities. Can any fair-minded person have any sympathy for the members of a union which has so little consideration for the welfare of others as to call a strike at a time when it disrupts the holiday weekend plans of hundreds of people; causes considerable losses to hotel and motel operators; jeopardizes businesses which have purchased large stocks of souvenir items for centennial year tourist trade.

Today it seems to be a case of every man for himself and the devil take the other fellow.

In as much as we seem to be abusing the privileges which we enjoy under our democratic system it would appear that some drastic legislation is in order. Strikes in transportation and public utilities should be made illegal, and for the good of the country the government should re-impose wage and price controls. However unpalatable this may be it seems the only alternative to economic suicide.

CONCERNED

Let's Have Facts

Victoria press on May 21 quoted Mr. Cunningham of the Seamen's Union as saying that "the CPR were subsidizing cheap fares to the public by paying abnormally low wages to its employees."

This statement is a challenge to both the public and the CPR and should be thoroughly checked by both.

Let's have the facts. Already people are talking of moving to the mainland to avoid the continual threat of strikes and high costs of living on V.I. and a feeling of isolation.

INNOCENT ABROAD

By ART STOTT

Along the English Countryside: Things as Old as Elizabeth I, New as Tomorrow

THE Talbot Hotel, if the impressions you are allowed to form without contradiction by the host are correct, is one of those lovely old inns frequented by coach travellers from London to the South Coast since Elizabethan days.

Here, in the village of Ripley, that traditional figure of the Navy, Lord Nelson, used to join Lady Hamilton either on his way to the capital from his ship, or on his way back to the vessel at its southern harbor.

Stott

Age has laid loving hands on the hostel, giving it a texture skilfully reproduced in its more recent, but still old, additions.

Curious modern visitors, with a will to be impressed and with little if any inclination to reticence, may persuade the keeper of the inn to let them inspect the rooms occupied by two of England's great romantics.

You reach the rooms by stairs of uneven risers, varying treads and two small landings. At the head of the stairs is Lord Nelson's chamber. Through the centre of it runs a strong oblique roof girder. The floor has dipped with age and you go uphill to reach the bed.

"It's used by a member of the staff 'ere," explained our guide. "We can't let guests sleep in it because of the floor's slope. If a gentleman 'ad 'ad a bit too much, he might stumble and give 'imself a bad knock on the timber."

Lady Hamilton's room is adjacent. The guide points to an intercommunicating door now fastened and says, a bit cryptically, it is not needed in these days.

The historic site added to the enjoyment of Canadians on TCA's publicity flight to London over the Hudson's Bay route. They had come to the inn for a timeless luncheon as guests of Vickers-Armstrong Aircraft works, who are busy now building the new Vanguard plane for delivery to TCA. Joint hosts were representatives of Rolls Royce, who power the aircraft with world-famous engines.

We wandered around the inn, having run behind schedule on our tour of the Vickers-Armstrong plant at nearby Weybridge. There the firm has taken over the whole of the old Brooklands automobile race track for one of its major establishments.

We were late, but too early for luncheon. So we walked through the coach yard, saw the old stables with their cobbles worn from an earlier traffic, and strolled to the gardens at the back.

Beds of wallflowers grew there, with climbing vines dressing ancient brick and stone to the tiled roof. A lark sang above a nearby field.

Luncheon was built leisurely around whole speckled brook trout, fresh caught, and roast half chicken, with appropriate wines. We asked for, and received, an occasional glass of water after the meal from staff members who tolerated the barbaric custom of drinking water, but who drew the line at ice.

If it was our hosts' desire to charm, they succeeded in every detail. The introduction to unhurried, lovely and traditional England was complete.

And this by Vickers-Armstrong and Rolls Royce, the design and production geniuses who need bow to none in their diversified fields of high specialization, nor in their driving energy.

Vickers and Rolls supplied us with their top public relations men for the occasion. And the top public relations men conveyed the regrets of board chairmen for their inability to be present. The board chairmen were at meetings, working, justifying the reputations their people have.

Assisting and making the trip informative were bright young men, serious at their jobs but decorated with a gay sense of humor that made friends.

To one Canadian West Coast newspaperman who can inspect machinery and equipment all day without knowing the difference between a cam shaft and an ignition switch, the experience was unique.

At Vickers-Armstrong they build plywood "mock-ups" of their planes. Into the mock-ups go the features of the finished aircraft. Wires are strung to check their positioning in the operating plane. Details on seats, cargo space, finishing, wing construction to hold larger fuel loads, and a thousand other items which the non-mechanical mind does not grasp, are determined in the mock-up.

It undergoes inspection and certain testing. Then the work starts on the metal job itself. You can buy a Vanguard for a million bucks, plus or minus a bit depending on finishing and accessories, and expect delivery in something under a year.

The experts talk about speeds of 450 miles an hour, of distribution of pay loads, of economy in operation, of peak performance and a hundred other things that experts understand.

Without understanding the details, you gathered that Vickers-Armstrong and Rolls Royce know what they are doing and are doing it in a way that claims world-wide recognition.

All this comes to you in a friendly, casual discourse from bright young men who never seem shocked by your ignorance. But all the men are not young. Several were noticeably veterans with the veterans' touch.

We moved from the plant and headquarters at Brooklands out through the countryside to Ripley. There we found tranquillity, a sense of leisure. No one seemed to be biting nails as the program slid further and further behind schedule. We were guests. Vickers-Armstrong and Rolls Royce left nothing undone to make the visit memorable.

You came away, well-dined, well-wined if you wished, and trailing some clouds of glory that ran back to the earlier Elizabethans, more recently to Nelson, and freshly to the men who put aloft aircraft that are great not only in size.

The very old and the very new walked side by side, as comfortably as a grandparent with a small child's hand in his.

(An article on London will appear in this space tomorrow.)

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Impression

AFTERWARDS, Enid never could explain how she felt about the little town. For her, it had a dreamlike quality. Nothing and nobody in it seemed quite real. And yet every detail of her two days there staked in her mind with a clarity that was startling.

Years later, and a thousand miles away, she could see it all exactly—the wooden sidewalk by the dusty street, the deserted building with the windows boarded up like dead, blind eyes. In her mind, she could see the dim, cramped hall of the one hotel, the flight of narrow stairs, the naked light bulb on the landing, the bedroom with the crimson bedspread and the tattered blind with broken, knotted cord.

Ruth

Above all, she remembered the Anglican Church, white, square-towered and set on a corner at the top of the hill.

She found it on the Saturday afternoon when she was exploring.

Because the door was open, she went inside and noted the corn broom leaning against the wall of the inner porch, the stove wood neatly stacked beside the broom, and even a few splinters of wood as if someone had just carried in a load and hadn't had time to sweep them up.

Sunday school was at 10 a.m. every Sunday, she read on the notice board, and Matins at 11.

She'd go to Matins, Enid thought, taking a monthly letter to the parishioners from the box beside the row of hymn books.

There was no one near the church, however, when she went up for Matins a little early.

It was strange, Enid thought. But she could wait. So she took a hymn book and a prayer book, and settled herself in one of the honey-colored pews.

* * *

"Such a pretty little church," she said to herself. "So pretty and peaceful with the September sun shining in like this, and that golden poplar just outside the window. Its leaves make such lovely shifting shadows."

Still no one came, so, to pass the time, Enid looked up the numbers of the hymns. They were all evening hymns, she discovered as the sense of dreaming grew apace.

For 20 minutes more, she waited patiently. Then, abandoning hope, she put the books back on the shelf, and, feeling quiet but foolish, left the church.

The last service had been two years ago, she learned a little later. It was part of the town growing smaller as people gradually drifted away.

"But it had been such a lived-in feeling," said Enid. "The corn broom, the stove wood, the splinters, the letter to the parishioners, even the numbers of the hymns.

"Those evening hymns. Were they for the last service? It must have been so sad."

Free Rides in Britain

LONDON—Kids have had a fine old time having free car rides all over London—thanks to the bus strike.

It's the latest craze with youngsters to stand on a street corner and wait for a car to come along which has a Free Lifts sticker on the windshield. When they flag down a motorist they ask: "Where are you going, mister?" Whatever he replies, the kid says: "That's where I want to go."

Hop in, says the driver, and the boy gets a pleasant spin across London, to pull the same gag at the end of the trip and get another drive to some other part of the city.

In these long summer evenings after school the kids are having widespread jaunts all over London, to compare notes at school next day as to who has covered the biggest territory and done most mileage.

Statistics Dept.: England has 70,000 pubs—one for every 700 people.

Hitch: German actor Curt Jurgens, doing the final filming here of The Inn of the Sixth Happiness with Ingrid Bergman, is slated in Hollywood to play the name part in a film biography of rocket scientist Wernher von Braun. But the script deals only with Von Braun's U.S. Sputnik achievements.

Says Jurgens: "I want the film to cover Von Braun's life in Nazi Germany and his work on the V2. It would be wrong to continue the picture to his life in America."

Having in mind distribution of the film in Britain, where V2s are not a popular topic, the producers are holding things up until Jurgens can be convinced that that aspect should be soft-pedalled.

Free Holidays: If you're prepared to do a bit of work out in the open you can have free transport and expenses to one of a list of numerous buildings in various parts of England that need to be demolished.

Ashamed of the fact that there are still many unsightly wartime army camps, derelict airfield control towers, abandoned gunsites, etc., to be seen all over the country, a group of people started a cheme whereby they are cleared by volunteer labor. Local borough councils pay the expenses and civil defence provides the picks and shovels.

Kay Kendall, after her big success in Les Girls, has snubbed many Hollywood offers, preferring to be in London while hubby Rex Harrison is occupied with My Fair Lady. But Gene Kelly, co-star with her in Les Girls, hopes to be reunited with her in his next movie, Four to Go. He'll make it in London if she'll take the part.

Beverley Nichols is in nostalgic mood in his new book, The Sweet and Twenties, which extolls the good old 1920s. Says he: "Unlike the 1950s, you could make money then and keep it. There was more gaiety, more color, more style, more room to expand and it was much easier to travel. The 1920s didn't clip the wings of personality."

Low Promises To Reveal Plans Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party, said today he expects to issue a statement shortly on his future plans.

"At the moment, I have nothing to say," he told a reporter.

A report last Wednesday from Raymond, Alta., said Mr. Low, defeated in the March 31 federal election in Peace River riding, would give up politics and return to Raymond to teach school. Officials said Mr. Low had been placed on staff for the term starting September 1.

Mr. Low, 58, has led the Social Credit party since 1944. He last taught school in 1935.

Victoria Artists Given Recognition

Local artists Mrs. Ina D. D. Uhthoff, Jan Zach, Herbert Siebner and William West have been awarded full membership in the British Columbia Society of Artists in recognition of their "exceptionally high" professional standards.

Mr. Siebner was one of four Canadians invited to exhibit paintings in an international print show now being held in Switzerland. As a result, he will be featured in a leading Paris art journal.

Divide Primulas Now or in Fall

It is unusual in gardening to be faced with a job which can be done as well later as now. Usually it is "now or never."

Hilda

With the various species of primula, division may take place either now or early in fall.

If a half-shady bed can be prepared now for their occupation during summer, the plants will have made new growth by the time we are ready to place them in fall.

On the other hand, if no suitable site is ready, allow them to remain where they have flowered, dividing them after the first fall rains.

The genus primula includes many of our garden favorites such as polyanthus primula, the primrose, auricula, the candelabra primula (which is still flowering and does not require the same treatment), and P. denticulata (the round-headed primula).

All enjoy soil richly humus, containing either leaf mould, rotted compost or old cow manure. This type of soil retains moisture during dry weather, yet remains well drained in winter.

Division is effected by lifting the plants and removing each crown with a few roots attached. They may be replanted about four inches apart each way if moving is to be done again in fall.

Some bone meal and blue whale added to heavier soils will improve them immensely.

It should be noted that Primula rosea, so popular three years ago, and the candelabra types, are practically bog plants, requiring more than half-shade and copious watering in our dry summers.

These facts probably account for their comparative rarity now.

Primula auricula, on the other hand, will tolerate fairly dry conditions after the plants are established and more sunshine than the other species.

RCAF Shows Sub-Hunter

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The RCAF showed its new Argus CL-28 anti-submarine reconnaissance airplane, largest aircraft ever built in Canada, to aviation writers at the naval air station here today.

The plane has radar in its nose for detection of submarines on the surface, and a magnetic detector installation in the tail for locating submerged submarines.

A 148,000-pound giant, the plane is 128 feet long and has a wing span of 142 feet. It has a crew of 15, including three pilots, three navigators, two flight engineers and seven communications and electronics operators.

The ship has a range of more than 4,000 miles and a top speed of more than 330 miles an hour.

Group Capt. John Roberts, senior air staff officer at the RCAF Maritime Command headquarters in Halifax, said the Argus fills a gap in Canadian defence of North America with its ability to remain on anti-submarine patrol for eight to 10 hours.

The four-engined plane, a modification of the basic design of Britain's Bristol Britannia, is being built by Canadair Limited of Montreal.

C of C Calls For Higher Exemptions

OTTAWA (CP) — Exemption from death duties on estates should be increased to $50,000, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said today in a brief submitted to Finance Minister Fleming.

Proposed legislation introduced at the last session of Parliament called for a $30,000 exemption. The chamber said the minimum should be $50,000 and that it should be $60,000 when the dead person is survived by a spouse. There also should be an additional $10,000 for each surviving child.

WINDSOR, Eng. (AP) — Prince Philip put in a sharp polo performance Sunday before some Russian visitors. Members of the Moscow Arts Theatre Company, now playing in London, watched him score four goals and help Windsor Park defeat Friar Park by 11 to 3½.

Labor Urges Unemployment Conference

A recent promise by Premier Bennett of a "golden age for B.C." seemed far from reality Friday when the provincial cabinet was told by a labor group the province can expect "abnormally high" unemployment this year. They learned it will be as bad as, if not worse than, the winter just passed.

A delegation from the B.C. Federation of Labor urged that a conference be called between the government, municipalities, labor and business to map out a campaign which would prevent another bout of the serious unemployment of recent months.

"No improvement will come before 1959," the federation statement noted, adding that there was "little to comfort us" in a sheaf of recommendations made by a legislative committee which investigated the situation last March.

One of the recommendations was that the work week should be reduced from 44 to 40 hours and that all present blanket overtime permits be cancelled. Also, that unemployment insurance beenfits be increased.

Pay Increases For Executives Slow to Crawl

NEW YORK (AP)—The upward trend in executive pay slowed to a crawl in 1957, a survey by Business Week magazine showed today.

"Raises for the top brass were not so substantial as in past years and there were fewer of them," the publication said. "Some executives took cuts."

Leading the corporate pay parade was Arthur B. Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, who earned $623,336 in salary and bonuses before taxes.

ARTHUR B. HOMER
. . . highest paid.

By contrast, the magazine noted, no fewer than three executives earned $700,000 or more in 1955 and one—Eugene Grace—earned $809,000 in 1956. Grace retired last year as Bethlehem Steel's board chairman.

Grace's pay last year—he became honorary board chairman following his retirement as chief executive officer—was cut to $619,036. This made him the second highest paid executive in the U.S.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corp. and third highest on the list, also took a hefty cut—from $695,100 in salary and bonus in 1956 to $558,975 last year.

33 OVER $300,000

All told, Business Week said, 33 executives earned $300,000 or more during 1957. Twenty-one of these work for two corporations—Bethlehem Steel and General Motors.

Biggest increase went to L. L. Tex Colbert, president of Chrysler Corporation. A $238,000 incentive bonus increased his 1957 pay to $488,900 and moved him up to fifth place among the year's top money earners. He got no bonus in 1956.

Fourth on the list were Stewart J. Cort, vice-president of Bethlehem Steel, with $497,082.

Other top earners included Samuel Bronfman of Montreal, president, Distillers Corporation-Seagram's Limited, $358,542, and Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor Company, $370,000.

'End Runs' Blocked On Radar Networks

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's eastern approaches now are protected by a flank radar network running from the Arctic Circle to Cape Race, southeastern tip of Newfoundland.

Informants have disclosed that Canada's three warning lines have been linked up on the east coast and that the "gap-filler" radar program undertaken in 1955 has been completed.

The "gap-filler" stations were built to plug holes in the Canadian warning network discovered by practice flights southward from the polar regions.

ALONG SEABOARD

New radar installations were built along the Atlantic seaboard mainly in Labrador and Newfoundland, and in Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia.

The installations were constructed and are manned by United States personnel. Their entire cost was borne by the United States.

Canada's three radar chains, in order of completion, are:

Pinetree, built in southern Canada at a cost of $450,000,000 with two-thirds of the amount paid by the U.S. This network controls jet interceptor operations as well as detecting aircraft and extends from the east coast to Winnipeg and from the Peace River area of Alberta to Vancouver Island.

COSTLY INSTALLATIONS

The Mid-Canada line along the 55th parallel extends from the Labrador coast to the Peace River area where it hooks up with western Pinetree. Canada paid the full cost of $200,000,008. It will cost $22,000,000 to operate this year.

The DEW line in the Canadian Arctic extends from Baffin Island west to Alaska and cost the United States some $500,000,000.

Defence planners were worried about "end runs" by enemy bombers around the lines. Consequently "gap-filler" stations were built along the entire Atlantic coast. Canada and the United States signed an agreement, June 13, 1955, for their construction.

Other "gap-filler" sites were erected in Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia to beef up the Pinetree line.

NONE ON PRAIRIES

There is no Pinetree across the southern Prairies because it was felt major potential targets were on both coasts of North America. However, this gap is filled by the Mid-Canada line farther north.

No radar chain has been thrown up on the West Coast because of the vast Pacific outcropping of Alaska, where there is a heavy defensive system of radar and fighter squadrons.

Eight of Canada's nine interceptor squadrons are concentrated in Ontario and Quebec and the ninth is stationed at Comox, B.C. A United States Air Force interceptor squadron is based at Goose Bay, Labrador, and there is another at Stephenville, Nfld.

DON'T DITHER CANADIAN BOSSES TOLD

LONDON, Ont. (UPI) — Gerald G. Fisch, a business consultant, told a service club today that he wished Canadian executives were not "so agreeable," and lacking in initiative.

"Why do they phone the head office so often to make up their minds?" he wanted to know.

Fisch also said that the tendency to show an interest in things only after the Americans or some other group have "okayed" them "is not worthy of a great industrial national like Canada and does not make for executive leadership."

Imperial Oil Announces Big Expansion

SARNIA, Ont. (BUP)—Imperial Oil Ltd. announced today it had undertaken a $5,360,000 expansion program at its Sarnia refinery, the largest in Canada.

Refinery manager G. R. McMillan said the new construction is necessary to meet increasing demands for gasoline and other oil products in Ontario. He said the company would spend a total of about 36 million dollars this year to enlarge manufacturing facilities and increase production in refineries across Canada.

Work on the project will be completed by the middle of 1959. It will mean a 20 per cent boost in the plant's crude refining capacity from 78,800 to 94,000 barrels a day.

The company also plans to begin a $28,500,000 petrochemical plant at the refinery site this fall.

C OF C BRIEF

Don't Cut Taxes Now, Ottawa Told

OTTAWA (UPI)—The executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said today that, under existing economic conditions, large tax cuts by the federal government "would not be prudent or responsible."

In a letter addressed to both Finance Minister Donald Fleming and Revenue Minister George Nowlan, the chamber said that large anti-unemployment spending by the government would probably produce a "sizeable" deficit in the current 1958-59 fiscal year. With this significant change in the fiscal background, it said it could not recommend that tax cuts be made.

At the same time, however, the council said it "strongly believed" that existing tax rates on both individual and corporate income were too high. It said that the government could in its next budget, expected in June, "reduce or eliminate certain excise tax anomalies and correct other hardships and inequities in the tax structure."

While the CCC's executive council rejected tax cuts under present conditions, it affirmed its belief in them as a general principle of fiscal policy.

"We are strongly of the belief . . . that our economic development over the years would be furthered by a consistent policy of reduction as and when conditions permit," the letter said. "Moreover, the executive council believes that tax reductions are in many respects the most desirable and effective anti-recession fiscal measures in that they will not confront the government year after year with high levels of expenditures on ordinary account."

RECESSION PLAN

To meet the present recession, the council put forth a three-point proposal. It asked for:

"Urgent" government attention to the maintenance of a large capital investment program. With private capital spending tapering off, the government should help meet the social need for capital through direct expenditures, financial assistance to other levels of government through loans or grants and through institutional investment.

A policy of "more active monetary ease" to lessen the pressure now on the Canadian dollar because of its high premium and increased attention to the question of money supply.

Some form of financial machinery for long-term credit facilities to Canadian exporters so that they can compete with foreign exporters now enjoying such facilities. This may entail a review of present conditions under which export credit insurance is availible.

The letter covering the general economic situation accompanied a brief on the specific question of estates tax presented to Fleming by the executive council.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Spark Boost at Toronto

Industrials led the Toronto market narrowly higher today. A 1958 index high was set as they gained a quarter point.

There were fractional changes among oils and golds, but uraniums were outstanding among mines, some gaining half a point.

Rails and steels moved an advance at New York today, where trading was fairly active.

AT TORONTO volume at 2 p.m. was 1,797,000 shares, down from Friday's 2,445,800 at the same hour.

Toronto-Dominion gained ½ point at 44½. Steels were off.

Golds moved higher on the strength of gains made by Kerr Addison, Bralorne and Preston East Dome, however their gains were small.

Uraniums were outstanding among mines. Gaining to a ½ point were Algom, Consolidated Denison and Gunnar. Other mines were led by Falconbridge, Hudson Bay, Noranda and Mining Corporation.

Changes among western oils were fractional and the index appeared off on the basis of a ¾-point dip by Home Oil B.

Calgary and Edmonton, Canadian Husky and Pacific Pete were higher.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 2,500,000 shares compared with 2,570,- Friday.

Youngstown Sheet made the best showing, rising about two points. Illinois Central, Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio rose about a point each.

At noon, the Associated Press index of 60 stocks was 10 cents higher at $169.70.

In the Canadian list, International Nickel gained ⅛, Hudson Bay Mining ⅝, McIntyre Porcupine ¼ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. Lower were Aluminum Ltd., off ⅝, and Walker-Gooderham, ⅛ lower.

Most Canadian shares moved to the upside in American stock exchange dealings. Preston East Dome was up 7/16, Shawinigan ⅛, and Jupiter Oils, Sapphire Petroleums and Scurry-Rainbow Oil were fractional gainers. Small losses were taken by Brazilian Traction and Fargo Oil.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate early afternoon trading today on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Papers and banks were firmer with Howard Smith at 29 and Bank of Commerce at 47, each up ½. Royal Bank slipped ⅛ to 60¼ and Abitibi went down ⅝ to 28.

Base metals and utilities were weaker with Aluminium easing ⅝ to 25⅞, while Brazilian Traction slipped ¼ to 6½.

Producing mines and western oils were mixed as Bailey Selburn slid 35 cents to 9.55 and Opemiska went down 15 cents to 8.15. Central Del Rio picked up 10 cents at 8.00 as Consolidated Dennison was at 16⅝, a gain of ⅝.

Speculative issues were down. Sullivan dropped eight cents to $1.75 but Rexspar was up 10 cents at 66.

Industrial volume was 61,300 shares, mines and oils 261,500.

AT LONDON the Stock Market and Metals Exchange, also the Liverpool Cotton Exchange and other financial institutions are closed today for the Whitsuntide holiday.

AT VANCOUVER a moderate market saw little change in prices during the forenoon.

Vantor sold 5,000 at $1.20. Craigmont traded 4,000 at $2.68. Skeena Copper moved 7,000 at 4. New Hamil traded 3,000 at 16.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Buying in all grains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today was prompted by disappointment in the light rainfall in western Canada grain regions during the weekend.

Flax responded to support from commission houses and international interests and offerings were relatively light.

Export business was quiet in all grains. Flax scored broad advances in active trading.

Lakehead prices for class two IWA and domestic wheat were all down ⅛ from Friday.

Canada Approves Inspection Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith said today in the Commons that Canada is "delighted" with the Russian proposal for a meeting of experts at Geneva to try to work out some inspection and control system in regard to atomic tests.

Paul Martin, former Liberal health minister, said Mr. Smith had erred in his statement and the United States, not Russia, had proposed the meeting.

Mr. Smith agreed that the idea was not originated by the Russians. He added that he had been referring to the May 9 letter of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to President Eisenhower apparently accepting a meeting of experts on nuclear tests.

Mr. Martin said the U.S. advanced the idea two years ago.

Mr. Smith, replying to the original question by Opposition Leader Pearson, said Canada has not been invited to the meeting—Mr. Eisenhower has suggested it be held within three weeks at Geneva—but would be prepared to contribute experts if asked.

Band conductor will be Robert M. Barr of Columbus, Ga., one of America's leading band directors. Assistant will be W. Cumming, high school music teacher from Powell River.

At the conclusion of the course, the band will give a public concert. Tuition fee is $20 and accommodation will be available at the university dormitories for $54.50. Private professional tuition will be available.

A $10 deposit and letter of recommendation from teacher or school administrator should accompany application to the extension department, UBC.

BIRTHDAY WISHES

'Let's End Our Feud' Khrushchev Asks Tito

BELGRADE (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sent "cordial congratulations" to President Tito on his 66th birthday Sunday and said he would like to patch up their feud.

The feud, recently revived by the Kremlin itself, is based on Tito's refusal to surrender Yugoslav independence in the formulation of Belgrade's ideological program, plus Yugoslav foreign policy, to the Moscow-Peiping axis.

Khrushchev's conciliatory tone caught Westerners here by surprise. Some credited it with considerable significance since it came at a time when leaders of the Red camp had just wound up a meeting at the Kremlin. Most certainly the Yugoslav question was discussed in these meetings.

The fact that Khrushchev used the occasion of Tito's birthday for the declaration was viewed here as an indication that the Kremlin may have decided not to go further in its anti-Yugoslav campaign but, for the time being, to keep it in cold storage.

Pacifists to Picket Warships

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A pacifist group here plans to picket visiting warships and hold peace marches and public burnings of "war toys."

Mrs. Mildred Fahrni, president of the 60-member Vancouver branch of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, outlined the plan at a public meeting Sunday.

Pacifist leaflets will be handed to crews of visiting warships—Canadian included—when the ships are open for inspection in Vancouver.

The burning of "war toys" will be held "when we get enough toys, but we haven't decided on the date yet."

Mrs. Fahrni said the fellowship wanted to draw attention to the "ill effects of war toys on the minds of children."

EPSTEIN STATUE

VANCOUVER—Sir Jacob Epstein, the controversial British sculptor, has offered the city of Vancouver first option to purchase one of his huge stone-carvings for $15,000.

The offer was brought back to Vancouver Sunday by architect Desmond Muirhead, who visited Sir Jacob last week while in London.

Mr. Muirhead, who also brought with him a photograph of the statue together with its author, described it as 12 feet high and of "massive appearance".

He said Sir Jacob had suggested the giant piece of sculpture would be appropriate to Canada's large spaces — "for a park or church".

KEEP TRANQUILLE OPEN

KAMLOOPS — A campaign protesting the announced closure of the Tranquille Sanitorium got rolling this weekend with the Kamloops board of trade promoting a telegram petition that will be sent to Premier Bennett.

Lance Kelton, secretary manager of the board, said it hopes to get at least 3,000 names by the middle of the week.

The petition urges the premier to take immediate steps to keep Tranquille in operation in a manner most beneficial to the citizens of the province. More than 100 businessmen will send individual telegrams this week.

All Irish Eyes On Second Slot

Victoria Shamrocks will be out to balance their Inter-City Lacrosse League ledger as well as gain a share of second place tonight when they play Jack Bionda and Jake Proctor's New Westminster Salmonbellies in Memorial Arena.

The checking of Bionda, last year's league scoring champion when playing with the Rocks, will be the special project of veteran Tom Druce.

Bionda picked up three more tallies Saturday, bringing his six-game output to 20, but Salmonbellies dropped a 12-5 decision to an ailing Nanaimo Timbermen team at Nanaimo.

JAY RETURNING

Victoria's forward lines will get an added boost with the return of Ronnie Jay, who has been sidelined the past week with an injured ankle.

New Westminster was soundly beaten in Saturday's game.

The T-Men led 4-1 after the opening frame and Nanaimo outscored the Salmonbellies 4-3 in the second before adding three unanswered tallies in the third.

Playing coach Don Ashbee set the winning pace with three goals, while Skip McKay, Don Sherry and Rick McVie all tallied twice.

Fred Fulla played an outstanding game in goal, stopping 25 of 30 shots fired at him, while Harry Preston and Stan Joseph combined for 32 saves.

Fulla blanked the Royal City team for a 31-minute stretch that started in the second period and lasted until the fourth.

Game time tonight is 8.30.

Phoenix Power Potent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Phoenix belted its way to first place in the Pacific Coast League Sunday night with a home run barrage that brought a 10-6 victory over Seattle in the nightcap after a 26-6 slaughter in the seven-inning opener.

Giants are now half a game ahead of Vancouver. The Mounties defeated Spokane, 8-1, Sunday to take the series, 5-2.

San Diego and Portland divided their Sabbath doubleheader as did Sacramento and Salt Lake City.

Portland drove two San Diego pitchers from the mound in winning the second 9-5 after losing the first, 5-1.

At Sacramento, Carlos Bernier hit safely in his 31st and 32nd consecutive games as his Bees won the opener 4-2 and lost the nightcap 4-5. Bernier got two hits in the afternoon game and duplicated the feat in the night contest. One of his hits in the first game was a home run.

The games at Phoenix were turned into batting practice sessions by the Giants, who have now won 13 of their latest 15 games. Phoenix had seven homers, two triples and eight doubles in the two games.

Have Bat, Will Hit

Bat raised in "ready position," San Francisco hurler Ruben Gomez (on left) awaits charge of Pittsburgh manager Danny Murtaugh as near free-for-all develops in National League affair at Pittsburgh Sunday. Gomez, who was key figure in brawl two seasons ago, managed a swing at Murtaugh, but missed. Pirate manager was later ejected by umpire Frank Dascoli but Gomez stayed on to hurl Giants to victory in opening game of twin bill.

Uplands Pairing Finds Proper Foursome Recipe

An Uplands Golf Club pairing who "didn't think they had a chance of winning," Sunday became the first winners of the Victoria and District golf committee's newest trophy.

Jim Carson, a restaurant supply house representative, and Harry Yeadon, a restaurant proprietor, topped a field of 204 golfers at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club to capture the inaugural Centennial Foursome Open and the impressive new rose bowl trophy.

Yeadon's sparkling putting and the short-iron approaches by Carson provided the winning recipe that cooked up a net total of 69½, one stroke better than the score recorded by the Gorge Vale club pairing of John Merriman and Ernie Fedoruk.

Yeadon, a 15 handicapper, and Carson, who consistently plays down to his 12 handicap, came in with a gross 42-41—83. The net result was based on half of their combined handicap.

GROSS CHAMPS

Victoria club's Dr. George Bigelow and Colwood's Bill McColl teamed up to tie Gorge Vale's Jim McColl, Jr., and Roy Chappell for low gross honors. The top prize, however, went to the former pairing on the strength of a better last-nine score.

Bigelow and McColl scored identical 38s on each nine for a fine, four-over-par 76. McColl and Chappell were out in 37 and in with 39 on a course that could never be laid out more difficult than it was Sunday.

Mrs. Nora Patterson, a member of the Victoria Golf Club for 50 years, presented prizes following introduction by committee president Harry Young. Mrs. Patterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Coombe, were both well-known and outstanding players in the early days of the sport in British Columbia. Mr. Coombe won the British Columbia amateur crown nine times to set a record that still stands.

Nine-hole net winners were Kerr and Bartkow, G. Christopher and J. Hall (Nanaimo), A. McCabe and Jack Galbraith (Victoria Club) and Vince Clarkson and Pete Holding (Colwood).

Additional prizes were won by Jack Rogers and Graham Chambers (Victoria Club), D. Miller and J. Shortreed (Cowichan), E. W. Mackenzie and F. Partington (Uplands), Claude Heggie and D. Anderson (Uplands), Harold Lineham and J. Evans (Colwood), Gord Pellow and Danny McLean (Uplands), H. Matthews and C. Margison (Colwood) and J. R. Rivers and W. Newbury (Nanaimo).

Surprising Giants Continue Hot Pace

Yankees Moving Out of Sight In Junior Loop

By United Press

San Francisco Giants used power at home to make their fast start and now they're using pitching on the road to convince National League rivals that their pennant threat is "the real thing."

The amazing Giants achieved their strongest position in more than a decade for this stage of a season Sunday when they clipped Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 and 6-1 and rebuilt their lead to 2½ games. Giants now have won nine of 13 games on their current eastern trip and have an overall 13-5 record on the road.

A crowd of 35,797 saw a near free-for-all develop in the fifth inning of the opener when Giant pitcher Ruben Gomez and Pittsburgh manager Danny Murtaugh took menacing positions. The trouble, which started in the fourth inning when Gomez hit Bill Mazeroski with a pitched ball, was quickly stopped.

DIDN'T BOTHER HIM

Gomez, none the worse for the incident, went all the way to win his fifth decision. Then Ramon Monzant, who won only three games all last season, also pitched a nine-hitter for his fourth victory.

Milwaukee Braves split a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals divided with Cincinnati Redlegs in other NL games. In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland Indians, 6-3 and 6-1; Detroit Tigers beat Washington Senators, 7-2 and 6-3; Chicago White Sox won, 4-3, after bowing to Boston Red Sox, 6-3, and Kansas City Athletics shut out Baltimore Orioles, 4-0.

Taylor Phillips pitched a six-hitter to give the Cubs a 1-0 victory in their opener but Bob Rush's eight-hitter enabled the Braves to win the second game, 5-2.

Light-hitting Roy McMillan knocked in three runs with a single and double to lead Harvey Haddix and the Redlegs to their 7-3 second-game victory after Jim Brosnan, acquired from the Cubs last week, won the opener, 4-2. Frank Barnes and Bill Wight finished up for the Cardinals after Brosnan was twice felled by line drives.

Whitey Ford pitched a six-hitter and Yogi Berra hit a three-run homer in the opener for the Yankees and then three-run homers by Elston Howard and Enos Slaughter helped Johnny Kucks to his third win. The sweep increased the Yankees' lead to nine games.

Cycling Sailor Makes Sure There's a Peden on Board

It would seem like something was missing if there wasn't a rider by the name of Peden in the Times Centennial Bicycle Race on June 7.

Torchy Peden, holder of the all-time world record for victories in professional six-day races, started his career in Victoria races. Over many years other Pedens captured cycling honors on Vancouver Island and Rusty and Doug followed Torchy into pro competition.

And now a cycling sailor who held the Alberta junior championship in 1950 and 1951 has assured the name will be on the entry list for the centennial grind.

Alexander "Sandy" Peden, a husky 24-year-old six-footer equipped with a centennial beard who is now stationed at HMCS Naden, has made it a four-man Victoria contingent in the 100-mile open event from Qualicum to Victoria.

Also entered from Victoria are three athletes who learned their bike racing in England.

Godfrey Knox, 19, cycled many miles before coming to Canada two years ago, and although he would have been eligible to compete in the June 7 novice race from Duncan, since he has never competed in a race, has decided to tackle the longer grind.

Bert Buchanan, 38, and Ken Paskin, 28, both acquired several years of top-flight racing experience before leaving England.

Late entries also added three Victorians to the starting line-up for the novice race from Duncan to Victoria.

Joining the fold for the tyro chase are 13-year-old Martin Spriggs, Gary McKay, 18, and Cecil White, 36.

The novice riders, starting at Duncan at 7.45 a.m., will be racing for 10 prizes, topped by a trip to the 1958 baseball world series.

Entrants in the open event, which starts near Qualicum at 6.30 a.m., will be chasing a first prize of a trip to the world amateur cycling championships in Rheims, France, and 11 other awards.

STILL CHAMPION of Pacific Coast Conference quarter-milers, Cumberland's Terry Tobacco retained the 440 title at Berkeley, Calif., Saturday, with the sparkling time of 47.1 seconds. Tobacco will be one of many top-notch track stars who will take part in the YMCA-Times-sponsored BEG zone trials, June 14.

Sharp Relief Chore Sparks Gorge Gang

Gorge Hotel spotted Arrow Furniture a three-run edge in Sunday's Senior "A" Men's Softball League game at Central Park, and then stormed back for a 6-3 win, their sixth in seven starts.

Frank Bell pitched two-thirds of the first inning against Arrows, giving up all three runs on two hits, a pair of walks and a wild pitch before Barry Jackson came in to put out the fire.

Jackson, brilliant in relief, held Arrows hitless until the eighth when tagged for a single by Norm Curran. Tim Walker and Archie Sluggett collected singles in the ninth off Jackson.

Gorge picked up eight safeties, including a ninth-inning triple by Charlie Boyd, who later scored on catcher Les Wilson's sharp single.

New Equipment Does Wonders

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ernie Vossler, 29-year-old pro from Midland, Tex., thanks his new putter and new spectacles for his first major golf tournament victory.

Ernie purchased the putter and the specs about six weeks ago. He's been making money since. A 19-under par 269 won first place for Vossler Sunday in the $22,500 Kansas City Open. The win was worth $2,800.

Vossler had a five-under-par 67 on the final round over the 6,668-yard Hillcrest Country Club course. In second spot was Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., with 272. Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., was third with 274.

Al Balding of Toronto finished out of the low finishers with 79-75-72-71—287.

TWIN 'HOT-FOOT' HAMPERS KEN ON LONG RIDE

Ken Paskin, taking a tune-up spin for the 100-mile Times centennial bicycle race on June 7 by making an assault on the Victoria-Nanaimo and return cycling record ran into a double "hot-foot" Saturday.

Hoping to make his feet comfortable, Ken had inserted foam rubber insoles into his shoes and by the time he had reached Chemainus on the return trip, his feet were warmer than the noonday sun.

After traveling at a slow pace for a couple of miles, Paskin stopped for six minutes to change socks and discard the insoles.

He easily beat the listed record for the run — eight hours and 25 minutes set by John Graham of Victoria in 1950 — as he finished in 7.40.44.

However, the delay was enough to make him miss his main target, a time of seven hours 39 minutes credited to Victoria's Mal Potts, who started his round trip at Nanaimo.

City Skin Divers Take Second Spot

The Victoria Skin Diving Club, represented by Bill Hook, Allan Hook and Dennie Kempton, captured second place in the third annual Olympic Peninsula Spear Fishing championships Sunday at Port Townsend.

VSD, only Canadian club competing, weighed in 63 pounds, 11½ ounces of assorted fish, including giant marble sculpins.

First place was taken by Puget Sound Mudsharks, of Seattle, who weighed in 67 pounds, 7 ounces, of fish.

Jokers to Jostle Tugmen Tuesday

Handed an easy victory Sunday, Jokers tackle a tougher Senior "B" Lacrosse League chore Tuesday night at Stevenson Park.

Victors by default when Nanaimo Juniors failed to appear for Sunday's scheduled league game, Jokers will meet Foul Bay Tugmen, holders of the provincial senior "B" crown.

Playing a team recruited from Foul Bay and the Junior Shamrocks in a practice tussle Sunday, Jokers dropped a 13-12 decision.

Emery's Offerings Knock Off Eagles

Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League's Eagles came thundering to ground Sunday at Royal Athletic Park, knocked out of first place after opening the season with two wins.

They fell in favor of Wakeman-Trimble and Dave Emery, who pitched his second victory of the season, striking out nine, walking one and effectively scattering nine hits. His first start of the season was a no-hit, no-run affair.

In the afternoon game, Naval Vets picked up their second decision, a 9-7 nod over Pearce Electric.

Vet playing-coach Gerry Parker swung the big bat, getting two of their four hits, including a double that was the only safety in a six-run, fourth-inning upswing against Brent Siddons and Bill Garner.

Art Worth blasted the big blow in the evening encounter, a home run in the fifth over the centre field fence.

Next game will be played Tuesday when Naval Vets face Wakeman-Trimble at 6.30 p.m.

Pakistani Batsmen Best Quebec Side

MONTREAL (CP) — Pakistan's test cricket team, on a North American tour, defeated Quebec all-stars by 99 runs Saturday.

Pakistan went all out for 204 runs. Quebec went all out for 105 runs. George Lowbridge got 52, the highest score yet made against Pakistan during its Canadian tour.

Both teams fielded well. Pakistan showed all-round superiority in batting.

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP) —Long-hitting Harry Weetman of England defeated Ireland's Harry Bradshaw by one stroke Sunday in an 18-hole playoff for first place in an $11,200 international golf tournament.

COOPER WINS

Crackups Dampen Race Meet

Chalk up another main event victory for Dave Cooper.

Cooper, 1957 point champion at Western Speedway, won his second straight stock car feature at the Langford oval in a mishap-scarred meet Saturday that saw seven cars knocked out of action.

Digger O'Dell, Al Smith, Bob Clarke, Dick Varley, Carmen Pascoe, Larry Van Hembeck and Dick Willoughby were all forced to sit out the main event after two pileups in front of the stands.

Varley was involved in the most spectacular crash of the night, a five-car first-heat mix-up that completely demolished his car. Varley escaped with minor cuts and shock.

In the next heat, Pascoe locked wheels with O'Dell and both cars spun into the retaining wall. Pascoe suffered facial abrasions, while O'Dell, rolling his car for the first time in nine years, emerged unscathed.

Complete results:

Trophy dash—1. Al Smith; 2. Lamont Brooks; 3. Dave Cooper.
First heat—1. Chuck Horne; 2. Dave Cooper; 3. Bill Temple.
Second heat—1. Al Smith; 2. Ray Pottinger; 3. Lamont Brooks.
Third heat—1. Lamont Brooks; 2. Bill Temple; 3. Phil Lambrick.
Jalopy race—1. Bill Jones; 2. Doug Rose; 3. Doug McFarland.

Reg Simons is probably wondering today what a pitcher has to do to win a baseball game.

Simons hurled a no-hit game, struck out 12 batters and his mates played errorless baseball, yet his Flyers dropped a 2-1 decision to Naden Corvettes in the Triangle Little League Sunday.

Reg's trouble was that Alan Eddy, Ron Maber and Don Petrie, who shared mound duties for Corvettes, also gave up nary a hit and also received errorless support.

Bases on balls made the difference. Simons gave up four, one in each of the third and fourth frames when Corvettes counted single runs, while the rival trio yielded only three Batters had a happier time of it in several other minor baseball games played Sunday.

Britannia had a ball in the Fairfield Little League, scoring 11 runs in the fifth inning on the way to a 22-8 triumph over ANAF Vets.

Victoria Tire didn't waste any time going on a spree in the Colt League, chasing 10 runners across the plate in the first inning and coasting to an 18-1 win over Pacific Sheet behind the two-hit twirling of Pete LeQuesne.

In the other Colt League game played Sunday, John Balloch edged Butch Rivers in a pitching duel as C & C Taxi nipped Dowells Cartage, 3-2.

Horn Takes Lead In Junior Chess Championship

Nanaimo Chess Club won the Gonnason challenge cup Saturday night by defeating Victoria City Chess Club, 6½ to 4½.

The win for Nanaimo came on its second challenge. Victoria had held the cup, which is open to challenge by all B.C. chess clubs, for more than 10 years.

Mike Horn moved a game up on D. Dawson last week in the Victoria and district junior chess championship.

Vancouver Grapplers Capture Three Titles

Three Vancouver wrestlers won titles at Vancouver Saturday in final bouts of the combined Canadian amateur championships and British Empire Games trials.

Two of the three—flyweight Fred Flannery and featherweight Ralph Casperson—were chosen for the BEG team; the third, Ossmu Tamura, was not selected since he is not yet a Canadian citizen.

Two HMCS Naden grapplers were ousted in preliminary rounds.

Welterweight Al Day pinned Kitchener's Carl Wuensche in his opening bout but was pinned by champion Kurt Boese of Kitchener in his second tussle. Ira Lefebvre lost his opening bantamweight bout to Winnipeg's Ed Boivin.

Canadian champions:

Flyweight—Fred Flannery, Vancouver.
Bantamweight—Osamu Tamura, Vancouver.
Featherweight—Ralph Casperson, Vancouver.
Lightweight—Matti Jutila, Sudbury, Ont.
Welterweight—Kurt Boese, Kitchener, Ont.
Middleweight—James Runzer, Moose Jaw, Sask.
Light - heavyweight—George Reinitz, Montreal.
Heavyweight—Jake Costello, Winnipeg.

Seaneen Forces Round Table To Settle for Mere $20,000

Seaneen, an Irish-bred four-year-old ridden by veteran Johnny Longden, astonished race fans at Hollywood Park, Saturday, by whipping Round Table, the overwhelming favorite, by 4¼ lengths in the $108,300 Californian.

Terrang, the pace-setter, was well back in third in a skimpy field of five.

The loss cost Round Table a chance to gain on Nashua and Citation, who top him in the money-winning statistics. The defeat, his first since November, left Round Table with total earnings of $1,030,764, third highest in racing history.

Seaneen picked up $60,300 for the victory and Round Table $20,000 for second.

Lincoln Road, ridden by Chris Rogers, of Hamilton, Ont., won the $59,100 Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park.

Talent Show was second and Li'l Fella third.

At Belmont Park, Big Effort was timed in 1:37 2-5 for the mile-long Acorn Stakes, worth $35,850. He defeated Polamby by six lengths.

BILL HAS A GOOD START ON BIKE-RACING TRAIL

If experienced coaching and thousands of miles of riding can turn the trick, Bill Casey should have a good chance of grabbing the first prize of a trip to the 1958 world series in the novice event of the Times Centennial Bicycle Race on June 7.

Bill, a 15-year-old Aldergrove cyclist who has pedalled an estimated 30,000 mies on a six-mile paper route and in training since he learned to ride 10 years ago, has been instructed by his father, A. V. Casey, former English amateur and professional star.

Casey won several amateur titles in England and after turning professional, rode with success on the European circuits in the 1920s.

The centennial novice event from Duncan to Victoria is open to B.C. residents who either have no previous racing experience or who will be under 16 on June 7.

SPARK ONE-RUN WIN

Ellis, Ackroyd Thwart Albions

Albions are still looking for their first win of the Victoria and District Cricket Association season, but they came within a whisker of upsetting Cowichan at Duncan Sunday.

Geoff Ellis and Ackroyd carried Cowichan to a thrilling one-man victory over Albions as the Duncan club moved back within striking distance of pace-setting Oak Bay.

Albions dismissed Cowichan for 52 runs and had batted up 51 before Ackroyd claimed their last wicket.

Ackroyd finished with four wickets for 20 runs and Ellis toppled six wickets while yielding only 25 runs. The pair also bulwarked Cowichan's batting defence, Ackroyd knocking up 16 runs and Ellis scoring 11.

OAK BAY WINS

For Albion, Hughes scored 15 runs and took four wickets for 14 runs and Peter Clarke batted for 12 runs.

Oak Bay chalked up its fourth successive triumph at Windsor Park, Saturday, defeating Alcos by 54 runs.

Derek Warren, with 40 runs, and Alan Wright, with three wickets for six runs, topped the Oak Bay figures.

Saanich Bantams Gain Boxla Split

Saanich broke even in a pair of Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association midget division games Saturday, downing Butler Bros., 7-2, and losing, 10-3, to Punjab United.

In a peewee division game at Stevenson Park, Bill Walton rapped in two goals to pace Saanich to a 6-4 win over Victoria.

This week's schedule:

MONDAY

3.30 p.m.—Midgets, Victoria vs. Saanich.
7.00 p.m.—Midgets, Punjab United vs. Combines.

TUESDAY

3.30 p.m.—Peewee, Victoria vs. Saanich.

WEDNESDAY

11.30 a.m. — Bantams, Oak Bay vs. Saanich.

Victorians Spark First Nanaimo Win

Nanaimo City, pushing home four goals in the second half Saturday at Nanaimo, stopped St. Andrew's, 6-3, for their first win of the Pacific Coast Soccer League season.

In Saturday's other game, Hungaria came from behind to clip winless Carlings, 2-1, at Vancouver.

Hungaria was sparked by goalie Bill Brinner, who choked off all Carling scoring attempts after Tony Crisp beat him at seven minutes of the first half. Pete Breitling and Ernie Schmidt scored for Hungaria.

At Nanaimo, with recently-signed Evo Katauch and Tom Miller showing the way, Nanaimo had control most of the way.

Big blows for the Island club were two-goal efforts by Antol Major and Bill Ackinclose, two Victoria players. Other Nanaimo scorers were George Dunn and George Paul.

St. Andrew's scorers were Brian Philley, with two, and John Halley.

Mirja Keeping Up With Susie

Victoria's Susan Butt appeared sound value for her No. 1 ranking Sunday as she stroked her way into the quarterfinal round of the women's open singles in the B.C. Public Parks tennis championships at Vancouver.

Defending the title she won last year, Susan entered the round of eight with an easy 6-1, 6-0 victory over Barbara Wood.

Another Victoria girl, Mirja Pedersen, joined Miss Butt in the third round by scoring two week-end triumphs.

MAUREEN LOSES

Maureen Bray, of Victoria, missed out in her bid for a quarter-final berth when she was downed, 6-4, 6-8, 6-0, in a marathon battle by Joan Robinson.

Others advancing in the women's open singles were Mary Green, Natalie Hatch, Claire Lovett, Bev Dandy and Marg McLean.

Victoria's Peter Bousfield, a member of the UBC tennis team, racked up two weekend wins to march into the fourth round of the men's "B" singles.

Thirty-two players are still in the running for the "B" singles title, but Eric Cardonall and Bob Stevenson, pre-tourney favorites, were both shunted to the sidelines.

UPSET WIN

John Fraser, promising Victoria junior, scored the biggest upset of the weekend—a 6-3, 6-2 win over Vancouver's Gordon Stroud that moved Fraser into the semi-final round of the junior men's singles.

Davis Cupper Paul Willey, of Vancouver, reached the round of 16 in the men's open singles, in which former United States national champion Art Larsen will make his first appearance tonight.

The tournament, largest in Canada with 560 entries, will continue all week.

ASK ANDY WINNER

Lapidary, commonly known as stone polishing, is the hobby of 12-year-old Norman Pite, 2570 Esplanade, latest prize winner in the Daily Times feature "Ask Andy." The Grade 6 Willows School student wanted to know "What is a galaxy" and his interest has won a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia. Norman is interested in marine biology, is a member of the Optimist Club's boys' soccer team, and plays golf, badminton and tennis besides.

ask Andy
HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Norman Pite, 12, Victoria, B.C., for his question:

What Is a Galaxy?

The Galaxy, spelled with a capital letter, is our own beautiful home in the heavens. It is a vast system of billions of stars also called the Milky Way, a spiral nebula and an island universe. It includes all the bright stars we see in the sky, the pale arch of the Milky Way and billions of stars which we cannot see. Yet our Galaxy, our island universe, is but one of many galaxies separated from each other by immense oceans of space. Our Galaxy is honored with a capital letter because it is our own and because, even for an island universe, it is a whopper.

Certain telescopes are designed to record only data concerning distant galaxies. Their photographic plates show that outer space is spattered with countless galaxies similar to our own. It seems that the vast star systems tend to be in groups. For they are plentiful in certain regions of space and in other regions they are few and far between.

A whole crowd of galaxies may appear on one photographic plate. They look like small hazy dots, some round, some oval, some flat lines. These galaxies are far, far across the oceans of space. But we have neighbor galaxies which can be photographed in more detail. One such neighbor has to be photographed in sections. The total picture shows that this galaxy, like our own, is a huge system of separate stars.

A penny may look round, oval or a straight line, depending upon the angle from which we view it. So it is with the galaxies. The telescope pictures show them from various angles. The actual shape of most galaxies is like a pinwheel. There is a bright glowing centre with two pale arms spiraling out from the hub.

This type of galaxy is called a spiral nebula. Other galaxies seem to be more hazy and less flattened. Our own Galaxy is of the spiral nebula type. Its dimensions are staggering, even when given in light years. Mere miles would be useless to measure the oceans of space. The light year measuring rod is the distance travelled by light in one year. At about 186,000 miles a second, this makes a light year equal to roughly six million million miles.

Our little solar system is far from the hub of the Galaxy. It is about two-thirds of the disance from the centre to the rim. When we see the Milky Way we are looking towards the hub and on across the Galaxy. That pale, milky blue is composed of billions of faraway stars.

Let's take our imaginary trip across the Galaxy. Our spaceship travels at 700 million miles an hour—the speed of light. From rim to rim, across the hub would take us one hundred thousand years. A trip through the thickness of the hub would take ten thousand years. So, our Galaxy is 100,000 light years in diameter and 10,000 light years thick at the centre.

The huge star system spins like a wheel. Our solar system is whirling around with the Galaxy at 70 miles a second. And out in the oceans of space, countless other galaxies are behaving in exactly the same way.

* * *

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Kenneth Severa, age 12, of Leigh, Neb., for his question:

Are pygmies really green?

The pygmy people are brown. Some are the color of cocoa and some are the color of dark, rich chocolate. None of them are green, for no human beings are green. And the pygmies are certainly human beings. You might say that these little brown fellows are the toy people of the human race.

Pygmies live in certain dense jungles of Africa and the Malay Peninsula. Large sized humans cannot follow them through the tangled thickets of their forest homes. But the little people are usually ready to welcome large visitors to their villages.

To them, these visitors must seem like giants. For a fully grown pygmy is about four feet tall. The trible consists of several families and together they might remind you of a school playground. For the little fellows are playful, full of fun and always ready to laugh. They are, in fact, like children in appearance and in character.

'STILL DEEPLY IN LOVE'

'Marry Peter or Nobody' Reported Margaret Stand

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret still is deeply in love with Group Capt. Peter Townsend, The Sunday Pictorial says.

"She would like to marry him —or nobody," writes the tabloid's palace correspondent, Audrey Whiting.

Whether they hope to marry or not Townsend appears to be the 27-year-old princess' favorite date. And the 43-year-old former courtier has given friends the impression of still being a suitor — despite Buckingham Palace insistence that the situation has not changed since Margaret's statement in 1955 that she would not marry him.

The princess and Townsend have adopted a seemingly don't-care attitude to what people may whisper about their recent dates and there is a strong feeling of sympathy among Britons about their predicament.

But there is an equally strong feeling that the princess would never embarrass the Royal Family by reneging on her 1955 pledge to stick by the church's teachings.

Within 24 hours of a Swiss newspaper report last week that their engagement was imminent, the palace issued a statement branding the report untrue. The Royal Family in the past has always ignored rumors concerning their private lives.

The Sunday Pictorial says the princess and the retired RAF pilot hope in time to get the public used to the idea so that their dates "will attract neither raised eyebrows nor front-page headlines."

Navy Pilot Killed In Backyard Crash

FONTHILL, Ont. (CP) — A horrified family of five stood helpless Sunday as an RCN Grumman Avenger aircraft crashed in flames in their back yard, killing the pilot.

The dead man was identified as Sub-Lieut. P. W. A. K. Chambers, whose father lives in Belfast, Northern Ireland. Chambers was a pilot in the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, which he joined after arriving here from Belfast about three years ago.

Lloyd Burton, a farmer on Highway 20, said he heard the plane, believed it was stunting and called his family and a neighbor to the back porch to watch.

He said the plane was heading straight at him at a low level, veered into a bank and crashed 15 feet away from where the group was watching. Wreckage crashed against the walls of the house, broke the windows and demolished a section of the porch, but the group escaped injury.

Son Sleeps at Wheel, 3 of Family Killed

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A father, mother and son were killed Sunday when another son fell asleep at the wheel of the family car and it slammed into a freight train. Three other members of the family were injured.

LEARNED SOCIETIES

Big 'Brains Trust' Meets at Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—About 1,200 Canadian scientists and intellectuals will be on the University of Alberta campus during the next three weeks at the annual Conference of Learned Societies.

Almost all scientific, professional and university groups will be represented. Among the delegates will be historians, chemists, mathematicians, geographers, geologists, psychologists, archaeologists, biologists, sociologists and others such as political economists, and university teachers and officials.

The conference will be opened Wednesday by a four-day meeting of the Canadian Association of Geographers, followed June 1-4 by the 485-member Royal Society of Canada. The Canadian Association of Slavists will end the conference June 16.

Topics include Commonwealth military ties, Canadian-American relations, recent Canadian temperature changes, fisheries research, proposals for a Canadian dictionary, bank policies and dozens of other subjects.

The geographers, meeting Wednesday to Sunday, and the Royal Society both have scheduled discussions on Canadian northwest development.

Up-Island Labor Backs Ship Strike

NANAIMO (CP)—The Nanaimo and District Labor Council Sunday gave full support to the striking members of the Seafarers' International Union.

Corresponding secretary Carl Anshelm moved support of the strike and offered every assistance possible from the council after hearing a report from SIU representative Wally French.

He said Vancouver Island chamber of commerce representatives "were biting the hand that feeds them" with regard to the recent move of Island businessmen to seek government intervention in the strike.

Mr. Anshelm said the "small businessmen" who make up the chambers of commerce are dependent upon the wage-earners.

"We wouldn't be galloping around the countryside every weekend buying fishing rods, camping equipment and bathing suits if the trade unions had not won the shorter work week for which they fought for so many years," he said.

Labor council president John F. Colwell advocated Nanaimo city council refuse any further grants to the Chamber of Commerce, calling it a group of "anti - union money - grabbing businessmen."

Shawnigan Lake Takes School Track Honors

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—Athletes of Shawnigan Lake School for Boys trounced their opponents here Saturday in the third annual district inter-high school track meet by amassing a total of 137 points.

Closest competitor was Ladysmith High School, in second place with 74 points. Others in order were Nanaimo High 71, Cowichan High 36, George Bonner High 31, Lake Cowichan High 30, and Chemainus High 17.

Senior boys' champion was Murray McAlpine of Shawnigan School, with 17 points. He also set new records for the 440-yard and 880-yard run. Wayne Allan of Nanaimo jumped 5.10½ feet to set a new record for the meet.

Dorothy Mackie of Nanaimo Senior High School, was senior girls' champion with a total of 20 points. She won every event for senior girls, and set records in them all.

Junior champions were Gerald Haddon of Shawnigan Lake, with 18 points, and Marianne Vanaert, of George Bonner School, with 10 points.

Times set by McAlpine and Haddon are among the fastest in B.C. to date, and Wayne Allan's high jump was the equal of any made in the province this year.

The meet was held at Shawnigan Lake School. Headmaster G. P. Kaye presented ribbons and trophies to the winners.

Campbell River Power Trials In Mid-June

Initial trials of the 42,000 hp capacity generating unit at Upper Campbell Dam are expected to be made about June 15, according to H. L. Briggs, general manager of the B.C. Power Commission.

When the unit is placed in service it will increase the power commission's hydro generating capacity on Vancouver Island to over 300,000 hp. The combined ultimate capacity of the three plants in the Campbell River system, John Hart, Ladore and Upper Campbell is 400,000 hp.

Mr. Briggs said that with the completion of the Upper Campbell dam and powerhouse the power commission will have a brief respite in the long battle against a power shortage on the Island.

TIMBER REMAINS

R. C. McMordie, chief engineer for the power commission, said that although the dam and powerhouse are virtually complete, work remains to be done before the entire multi-million dollar development is finished. Movement of logs cleared from the shoreline of Buttle Lake, disposal of debris from old logging operations in the vicinity and clearing around Upper Campbell Lake will continue until the end of this year, he said.

It is estimated that slightly more than half of the 110,000,000 board feet of timber yield from the clearing operations remains to be moved out and sold by auction.

West Coast Indians Stage 2-Day Whoopee

PORT ALBERNI—Rock and roll, a beauty contest, barbecued fish and rousing water sports were features of the first two-day rally of the West Coast Allied Tribes on the weekend.

Five girls took part in the queen contest, and winner was Erma Gallic, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gallic of the Sechahts tribe.

A tribal parade was held Saturday, with each group being led by its chief. Mrs. Louise McCarthy directed salmon barbecue operations on a hill overlooking the sports field.

Saturday morning program was given over to children's sports, and adult track and field sports took place Saturday afternoon. Water sports were held Sunday with such events as canoe racing, canoe titling, swimming and log rolling.

Hundreds of members of 11 tribes took part in the event. Visitors were welcomed by Chief Adam S. Ewish.

Grave Charge Laid Against Brannan Boys

NANAIMO (CP) — Two 17-year-old boys, escapees from Brannan Lake Industrial School, were charged in police court with robbery with violence Saturday and remanded until June 2 after an elderly couple in suburban Wellington were beaten and robbed.

Mrs. Jacques Rioux said two youths attacked her husband in their home and stole $29.50 and some household goods and clothing after binding Mr. and Mrs. Rioux.

Mr. Rioux, a First World War veteran and former Quebec police officer, suffered a broken nose, cuts and bruises in the attack.

RCMP said the youths had broken out from the school, six miles north of here, Friday afternoon.

One of the youths was reported to have fled from the Rioux home on a previously broken leg, using crutches stolen from the couple. They were arrested about two hours after the attack.

One youth is reported to have broken down a door to reach Mrs. Rioux after she locked herself in a room when her husband was attacked.

Miss Death by Inches as Explosion Blasts, Burns 22-Foot Cruiser

DUNCAN—Mayor Jack Dobson and a companion, Robert Barton, missed death by inches Sunday morning at Maple Bay when an explosion and fire wrecked Mayor Dobson's cruiser, "Sheila-Jo."

Loss was estimated at $3,000.

The mishap occurred at 11 a.m., when the engine backfired on starting. Mayor Dobson and Mr. Barton leaped to the water with hair and eyebrows badly singed, only seconds before the boat burst into flame.

MAYOR J. DOBSON
. . . narrow escape

They made their way to Mr. Barton's boat and took the blazing 22-foot cruiser in tow to the beach at Birds Eye Cove, a part of Maple Bay.

Maple Bay volunteer fire department attended, but was unable to save the inboard cruiser, which was termed a total loss.

Birds Eye Cove is a popular boat-building, mooring and boat repair centre at the southern extremity of Maple Bay.

Ambulance Service Committee Organized

Mine in Red Ink, Pay Boost Denied

VANCOUVER (CP) — A majority conciliation board report has recommended against any change in wage rates for miners employed by Cowichan Copper Mining Company at Lake Cowichan.

A third member of the board, William Stewart, will submit a minority report.

The report, signed by chairman E. D. Strongitharm and J. A. Pike, also recommended against changes in statutory holidays and free transportation of miners.

The union asked for an increase of 35 cents an hour, while the company asked for a 12-cent reduction.

The report said the company had shown it was not operating at a profit but at a substantial loss and "under the circumstances any increase in wages at this time would seem to herald the discontinuence of operations of the company."

Cowichan recently signed a $5,000,000 contract to ship copper concentrate to Japan. First shipment will be made in August.

Ratepayers Ask New Deal for Island

NANAIMO (CP)—Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association has decided to seek a "new deal" for the Island.

The group named G. W. Hamilton, of Shawinigan Lake, and H. Watson, of Victoria, Friday night, as a special committee to review "inequities and injustices" to Vancouver Island, including problems of communication with the British Columbia Mainland, freight rates and milk produce prices.

Mr. Hamilton said later: "Residents cannot buy land for a summer home or camp and they are 'caught in the middle' in such cases as the current seafarers' strike, which threatens to cut them off from the Mainland."

BURGLARS' BUNGLING

Licence issuing clerk Donna Gilbert, 2710 Estevan, sits amid a jumble of boxed licence plates knocked over by burglars who forced their way into Motor Vehicles Branch Sunday.

MONTE ROBERTS

Gather around, children, and this veteran reporter will give you a brief lesson in how not to report.

First, look on page 928 of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and discover that:

"The lignum vitae of commerce, so named on account of its high repute as a medicinal agent in past times, is procured from the guaiacum tree . . . on account of its hardness, density and durability it is much valued for the manufacture of ships' pulleys, rulers, skittle balls, mallets, etc."

Still with me, children? Now turn to page 90 of the Shorter Oxford English Dictionary, and learn that:

"Aqua-Vitae: a term of alchemy applied to unrectified alcohol; occasionally applied in commerce to ardent spirits of the first distillation; hence, any former of ardent spirits taken as a drink, as brandy, etc."

NOW turn to page 15 of last Friday's Times, and see the story this veteran reporter wrote about a job of work done here on the Italian freighter Achille:

"Repairs were effected," this veteran reporter wrote, "to the propeller shaft gland and aqua vitae bearing, without putting the ship in drydock."

Now, children, if you will continue to pay attention, I will let you know what happens when you report as above.

You get letters, that's what happens.

The mildest and most printable of which is this one, from A. L. C. Atkinson.

Mr. Atkinson is likely to know what he is talking about, he being the owner of a bachelor of science in naval architecture.

Writes Mr. Atkinson:

"I have often wondered what caused ships to 'limp into port'—as Ss Achille is reported to have done. Now I know. Friday's edition of the Times gives the information that her shaft gland had aqua vitae bearings.

"The slip 'twixt cup and lip is, of course, lignum vitae."

All right, children, run along and play now.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Traffic was delayed today for a short period on Douglas Street north of the Roundabout as a Heaney Ltd. truck moved a house from the 900 block, Johnson Street, to Langford. A second is due to be moved "Thursday or Friday."

The two houses at the rear of Gibson's Bowling Alleys are being moved to make room for a parking lot.

Burglar Pleads Guilty; Others Object of Hunt

Motor Vehicles Office Entered

One man pleaded guilty in city police court today and others are sought in connection with weekend burglaries at a downtown cafe and offices of provincial Motor Vehicles Branch.

William Pick, Albany Hotel, was arrested Sunday after breaking into Brand's Restaurant, 1009 Government, and taking $70 from a cash register overnight Saturday.

He was remanded for probation report and sentence to Friday.

Police said $30 was recovered.

Police said Pick got into the cafe by means of a skylight, then chopped a hole through a covered opening in a ceiling and lowered himself by a rope.

Fingerprints and bloodstains left at the scene after Pick cut himself getting in, led to his arrest.

NOTHING STOLEN

Persons who entered the Motor Vehicle Branch by way of a south side fire escape made a thorough search of main floor offices, opened filing cases, forced office doors and desk drawers, but apparently stole nothing.

Entry was discovered by a night watchman at about 12.35 a.m. today.

A window was smashed to unlock a door to the licence issuing office, where several money satchels were opened and found empty.

The driver testing office also was entered.

Express Firm Share Bought By R. Olson

Victoria car dealer and pioneer in western Canada motor transport, R. S. "Speed" Olson has bought an interest in Pacific Inland Express operating out of Vancouver, it was reported from Seattle today.

Mr. Olson and two Seattle trucking firms are named as purchasers in a $500,000 deal for the trucking firm.

Earlier this month, Mr. Olson sold his interests to his partner, Thomas B. Lumsden, in Olson Motors Ltd., on Yates at Cook. That deal was evaluated at "over $350,000."

According to The Seattle Times, Mr. Olson's partners in the Pacific Inland Express are Robert and Frank Whiting of Seattle of Fleetway Transport Inc., and Alvord and Walter Chandler of Seattle's Cement Distributors Inc.

'Powder Puff' Derby Winner Has No Nerves

By TONY DICKASON

When "Patricia" was a little girl she saved her allowance for airplane rides.

Today, in effect, she does the same thing.

Mrs. W. A. Russell, now an attractive 35, last year captured first place for private pilots in the All Women's Trans-Continental Air Race from coast to coast in the United States—commonly called the "Powder Puff Derby"—and at that time had her pilot's licence only two years!

She is visiting Victoria as sales education representative for a firm of beauty consultants.

CRAZY ABOUT IT

"I've always been crazy about flying. The interest was always there" said the housewife-pilot-executive of Grouse Point, Michigan.

Her husband has been a licenced pilot 11 years, "but in the last three years I've logged more hours than he has in the past 11"—more than 400.

This year she flies her third trans-continental race which starts July 4 from San Diego and ends in Charleston, South Carolina, a solid 2,500 miles away.

In last year's race she flew a Myers monoplane. "It has clipped wings, is built like a fighter, and is really hot. There were only 28 of this kind made."

Among her other high-flying activities, Mrs. Russell is chairman of the "99s"—a club for women pilots founded by the late great airwoman Amelia Earhart, lost on a Trans-Pacific flight in 1937.

When the club started there were only 100 women pilots in the U.S., and all were invited to New York. Of these, 99 showed up. Thus the club name, Mrs. Russell recalled.

Today there are more than 1,000 club members from all over the world.

After the last race, she got rid of the Myers and is flying Cessnas. She has also piloted a Thunderbird jet, which hits around 650 mph.

Ever nervous?

"I have no nerves."

Liquor Store Looters Get 2-Year Jail Term

Third Man Charged In Sidney Burglary

Two young Victoria men each were sentenced in Sidney RCMP court today to two years less a day in Oakalla jail when they pleaded guilty to theft of $1,750 worth of liquor from a government store Friday night.

They are Alyffe Adeyson Hulbert, 23, and Richard Verdier Rowlinson, 21, both of 327 Niagara.

A third man, John Thomas Pepler, 37, of 421 Kingston, was charged in city police court today with possession of the liquor and remanded without election or plea to Thursday.

Bail was set at $2,000.

CACHE DISCOVERED

Arrest of the men in Victoria at about noon Saturday followed a joint raid by city police uniform branch in plainclothes, city detectives and four members of the RCMP on Jack's Service Station at 2821 Douglas where the liquor was cached.

Besides 33 unopened cases of assorted liquor there were several single bottles found inside the garage.

All were stolen overnight Friday from the government liquor store at Sidney.

Police said a window was smashed to gain entrance to the building, on Second Street.

ENTERED THREE TIMES

The men entered the premises three times before completing their raid and carried the liquor away in a car.

Chief constable John Blackstock said an investigation was carried on through the night before the police raid was made Saturday forenoon.

He said an investigation on the case is continuing.

Victoria Nurse Wins Highest Jubilee Award

Janice C. Brinkworth of Victoria has won the most coveted award presented to a Royal Jubilee Hospital graduate nurse.

Miss Brinkworth, class valedictorian, received the Robert S. and Patience Day Memorial Scholarship for best all-round nurse, presented Sunday night by William Day at the School of Nursing graduation exercises in the Royal Theatre.

Two awards won by Betty Laurene Bratvold were for highest aggregate standing in examinations and pediatric nursing.

Ruby Lois Embree received an award for highest standing in RN examinations.

OTHER WINNERS

Other award winners are: Margaret Anne Philpot, proficiency in bedside nursing; Margery Edith Ellis, greatest promise of professional development; Paula Elsie Rothbauer, proficiency in clinical specialties; Norma Joan Dunn, surgical nursing; Beverly Alice Runa Erickson, obstetrical and gynaecological nursing; Patricia Jean Gillings, nursing diseases of the eye; Sheila Anne Marie Berg, otolaryngology nursing; Kyoko Ikuta, operating room technique.

Bursaries were won by Marion Cochrane, Royal Jubilee Hospital Alumnae Bursary; Eugenie Wong, Woman's Auxiliary Lena Mitchell Bursary, and Marilyn Chung, Junior Auxiliary Bursary.

In addition to bursaries, Miss Chung and Miss Wong, who are taking post-graduate work in obstetrics, each received a gift of $100 from Dr. C. Mellis Mair.

'NEAR-PERFECT RECORD'

Times Carrier Boy Wins 'Dream Trip' to Europe

Ken O'Coffey, 14-year-old Times carrier of 1333 Balmoral Street, has won a place in a "dream trip" to the United Kingdom this summer for outstanding newspaper boys.

Ken, a former student of Central Junior High School, will join 44 other carriers from coast to coast in a three-week tour of Britain, under the sponsorship of the Times and Weekend Magazine.

KEN O'COFFEY
. . . one among 400

Young O'Coffey was selected, according to circulation director Stewart Kidd of Victoria Press for "sustained good service and a near-perfect record" of deliveries over the past three years.

During this time he won a Grand Sales Champion Award, from a field of 400 newspaperboys. His polite manner has been highly praised by customers along his route and the business affairs of his work have been kept at top-line throughout.

The trip is made available, on an all-expenses-paid basis, through the co-operation of the Times, Weekend Magazine and Trans-Canada Airlines.

Chaperones for the trip will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Middleton of Hamilton, Ont. Mr. Middleton is circulation director of the Hamilton Spectator.

In addition, adult supervisors from other papers carrying the Weekend supplement will make the trip, which leaves Montreal by air July 5.

MAP GONE—NO PHONES

'Lost' Sailors Turned Up Safe

By DAVID COWLISHAW

"We got the wrong directions," Al Reynolds wailed today. "They told us to turn right, when they should have said left. We didn't get lost. We were misled."

And thereon hangs a tale, a rollicking sea yarn of two Victoria men in a boat at the mercy not of wind and wave but of a map that blew overboard—and the members of the U.S. Coast Guard at Friday Harbor. That's Reynolds' story, anyway, and he says he's sticking to it.

RESCUERS BUSY

The men "disappeared" Saturday, showed up Sunday. By that time several rescue agencies were in on the hunt, including the RCAF, the air-sea-rescue co-ordination centre in Vancouver, a U.S. Coast Guard patrol boat and two Coast Guard aircraft.

The whole sorry business began when Reynolds, 46, 736 Transit, and business associate 54-year-old Frank Mawdsley, 3697 Craigmiller, set out from Oak Bay boathouse at noon Saturday in Reynolds' 14-foot boat Orral C with 25-HP outboard motor bound for Orcas Island in Washington waters.

Their mission was to visit Mawdsley's aunt on the island who had recently suffered a heart attack.

They made it to Friday Harbor all right, but there, said Reynolds today, they got a "bum steer."

"We asked the U.S. Coast Guard which way to Orcas," he turn right and follow the channel. Well, we did just that but after an hour we found we were going the wrong way, so turned around and came back."

Back to Friday Harbor where they refueled.

Then on to Orcas.

CALL FOR HELP

But again they didn't make it. They lost their map and put in at nearby Lopez Island for help.

"A boat at Lopez gave us the right directions at last," Reynolds went on, "but when we got to Orcas we went up the wrong side of the island—East Sound instead of West Sound—and it was nearly midnight before we rounded the island and tied up."

Back in Oak Bay, Reynolds' 18-year-old son, Craig, came home at 1 a.m. Sunday, saw his father was not home and called Oak Bay police who set off the search that included RCAF and U.S. planes.

Meanwhile on Orcas, Mawdsley found the phones were out of order, "so we couldn't contact our families to tell them we were delayed and would be staying on the island overnight."

HUNT CALLED OFF

When no word was heard from the pair by late Sunday morning, their descriptions were broadcast on Victoria radio stations. At this time on Orcas the boatmen were preparing to leave for the voyage back to Oak Bay, where they arrived early Sunday afternoon and the hunt called off.

Reynolds, partner in the Victoria auto accessory wholesale firm of Reynolds, Colgate and Barbour Ltd., 1128 Vancouver, and Mawdsley, an employee of the company, were back at work this morning.

Said Reynolds, "Next time I'll take a supply of maps with me and a better compass than the $2.19 one we were using. Also, we won't even talk to the U.S. Coast Guard."

Old Car Cavalcade Draws Cheer From Big Crowd on Arrival Here

By PETE LOUDON

The capital city reception for the 20 surviving vintage cars of the centennial trans-provincial caravan threatened to shake some of them loose from their haywire Saturday night.

Despite a long wait while the old cars formed up for a triumphal entry, residents of Victoria tried to out-cheer the rest of the province.

Later, at a Dominion Hotel banquet, centennial, civic and provincial government representatives congratulated drivers and co-drivers. Completion of the 840-mile endurance run by 10 of the 13 cars which started at Fernie last Monday was hailed as a masterpiece of navigation and mechanical aptitude.

Most of the Island cars entered in the run arrived in as good shape as they left. Although a Vancouver 1904 Cadillac entered by Quinton McAdam finished in tow.

Two Victoria drivers, W. A. "Bud" and Betty Buchan, who piloted a 1926 Cadillac for N. R. Morrison, 2157 Lansdowne, gathered their buddies of the local "Betts and Her Buddies" songster group and staged a wind-up show for the drivers.

Residents of Fernie sent a yard-long telegram of congratulations to drivers of Fernie cars. A Fernie fir tree and a message from Fernie Mayor James White to Mayor Percy Scurrah were delivered. Victoria Kinsmen plan to plant the Fernie tree in Gorge Park this week.

Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Cedar, Crofton, Duncan and other Island way points, provided loud welcomes as the old cars rolled to Victoria. They met the drivers with flowers, refreshments and a snappy show by Duncan Majorettes.

Taking part in welcoming ceremonies here were Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor Percy Scurrah, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, B.C. Centennial chairman L. J. Wallace and Greater Victoria centennial chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

Sunday the old cars began to spread out again across B.C. on the homeward trek.

Certificates of merit and mounted commemorative crests will be forwarded to them.

Home-going expenses are being met by B.C. Centennial Committee.

"How can you sit there and accuse me of forgetting your birthday when all I did was simply ignore it?"

Like to Try Lime Flower Tea? . . . It's Available Here

By PENNY SAVER

Ever heard of lime flower tea? Neither had I until today when I stumbled over a clue that led me straight to the counter that sold the superb treat. Clue of course was a delicate aroma floating around the envelope containers. It was the scent of lime flowers.

I've tried this delectable beverage . . . why don't you? Place one tablespoon of lime flowers in a cup, scald quickly with desired amount of boiling water, and there you have a tasty cup of lime flower tea! Envelopes of the tea are 17 cents each.

Peppermint tea is another beverage delicacy on my list. Spiced with strong peppermint herbs and sugar, this envelope of special type tea is prepared in the same manner as China tea. The stronger you like it, the more peppermint leaves. It's priced at 25 cents a package.

* * *

Lovely for the afternoon tea hour is the rare camellia tea. This type is unsurpassed in its mild flavor and goes well with tiny tea-time dainties and cakes. The price tag on this envelope also reads 17 cents.

* * *

Salami sausage, roast beef, hard boiled eggs and ham are a few of the ingredients combined in the European meat salad, I've found. A scrumptious and interesting salad at 40 cents a pound. Why not add it to your warm-evening meals?

* * *

Who likes goat's milk? Don't turn up your nose and say, "Heavens no!" Goat's milk is terrifically nutritious and "good" for you! Especially fine too, when it's churned up into the goat's milk cheese I found today. It's selling at $1.35 a pound.

* * *

Do you like chestnuts in poultry dressing? I discovered a shop that has these large, dried chestnuts (they only need to be soaked overnight) selling now at 60 cents a pound.

Pick up the phone and ask for Penny. My number is 2-3131. I'll tell you where to shop!

Sudden death creates wedding problem:

Instead of having separate reception cards for my wedding, as I should have done, I had the printer put in the lower left-hand corner of the wedding invitation, "Dinner immediately following." My fiance's father died suddenly yesterday. We are going ahead with the wedding in a month as planned, but are calling off the dinner. Rather than scrap the invitations, is there any way I can state that the dinner will not take place? Could I draw a line through it?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis answers:

To those who may not know of the death, it might look very strange to see a line drawn through the phrase. It might be implied that you decided not to invite them to the dinner after all. If the inscription is very near the lower edge, try trimming off the strip. If the invitation seems to be balanced even fairly well, perhaps the printer can cut the rest of them for you. This would create a problem for the envelopes, for there would be a misfit. But it is worth experimenting. If that is not feasible, then on a small card or notepaper, write by hand, "Owing to the sudden death of Mr. Smith's father, invitations to the dinner are being cancelled."

Vows Spoken On Mainland

In a Friday evening ceremony in the Anglican Church of St. Mary the Virgin, New Westminster, Miss Elaine Gherasim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gherasim, of Lipton, Sask., became the bride of Robert James Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, of New Westminster, and formerly of Victoria.

Rev. John Bishop performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by Richard Patterson, in the absence of her father, the bride wore an afternoon-length dress in sheath style. The dotted Swiss organdy gown was posed over taffeta and featured a Sabrina neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. From a white taffeta cummerbund the bouffant skirt billowed to the hem and was caught up in an harem effect. Her short chapel-length veil was held by a close-fitting headdress covered with white dotted Swiss trimmed with sequins. She carried a white prayer book topped with a single orchid surrounded by lily of the valley.

Miss Myrtle Davies, of Mission City, B.C., was maid of honor in a sheath style gown of taffeta in apple green shade. It was topped with a silk organza in a softly-draped style. Her headband was in matching fabric and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Best man was Gordon Hendricks. Roy Stewart and Bill Lord ushered. Richard H. Smith proposed a toast at the reception held in the church hall following the service.

For a wedding trip to Montreal and New York, the bride wore a beige-toned cashmere suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The couple will live in New Westminster when they return.

B.C. House Reception

Mr. G. S. Gibson, deputy agent-general for British Columbia, held a reception in British Columbia House last week in honor of guests from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba who travelled to London on the pre-inaugural flight of Trans-Canada Air Lines, marking the establishment of their western Canada-London service.

Included amongst the guests at the reception to meet this party were Mr. Sydney D. Pierce, deputy high commissioner for Canada; Mr. W. L. Garven, district sales manager of Trans-Canada Air Lines, London; Mr. Harry Arkle, European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; Mr. J. C. Kenkel, European general manager of the Canadian National Railways; Mr. G. C. Edgett, U.K. representative of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association; Mr. Ross Hanbury, Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd., London; Mr. H. Leslie Brown, minister (commercial), Canada House; Mr. Jack Stepler, Southam Newspapers of Canada; Mr. A. D. Harper, manager, Bank of Montreal, London.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There Are Many 'Yous'— Highlight Attractive Ones

Every woman is many women. The range of personalities in one woman is amazing. Sometimes she is gay, sometimes sad, hectic, fascinating. Sometimes she takes nothing seriously while at others she seems to have the weight of the world on her shoulders. Every woman is commonplace with a pail of mop water in her hand or when in a dentist's chair. The mood, the setting and the background of the day, make the difference.

I am sure that you have often been surprised to see one whom you had thought of as dull suddenly bloom forth into another creature in the light of a personal interest or warm praise. We all respond to psychological as well as physical atmosphere.

Regardless of the variety of personalities latent in each person we all have our typical characteristics which make us stand out as individuals, which set us apart from the crowd. Every woman has an unforgettable self, that inner you which has been brought to the surface by some special mood or set of circumstances, that passing moment which created a facet in your personality that never will be forgotten by those who love you.

We would all do well to highlight our most attractive selves and hold the unattractive ones down with self-discipline. However, variety is one of the most magnetic things about a person. The feeling that there are unknown qualities to be discovered about another makes him or her eternally intriguing. A change of pace in personality is always refreshing.

Perhaps getting into a rut is the thing we women have to fight. We are responsible for so much daily routine that we are likely to allow our many selves to become buried in one outlook, and often it is a hectic outlook.

It is difficult to avoid triteness in personality and to keep the large, exciting view when we are involved in doing the same things day after day and in seeing the same people day after day. It takes real thought and effort if we are to succeed in highlighting our most attractive selves.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Grace and Charm" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 57. Address Josephine Loman in care of this newspaper.

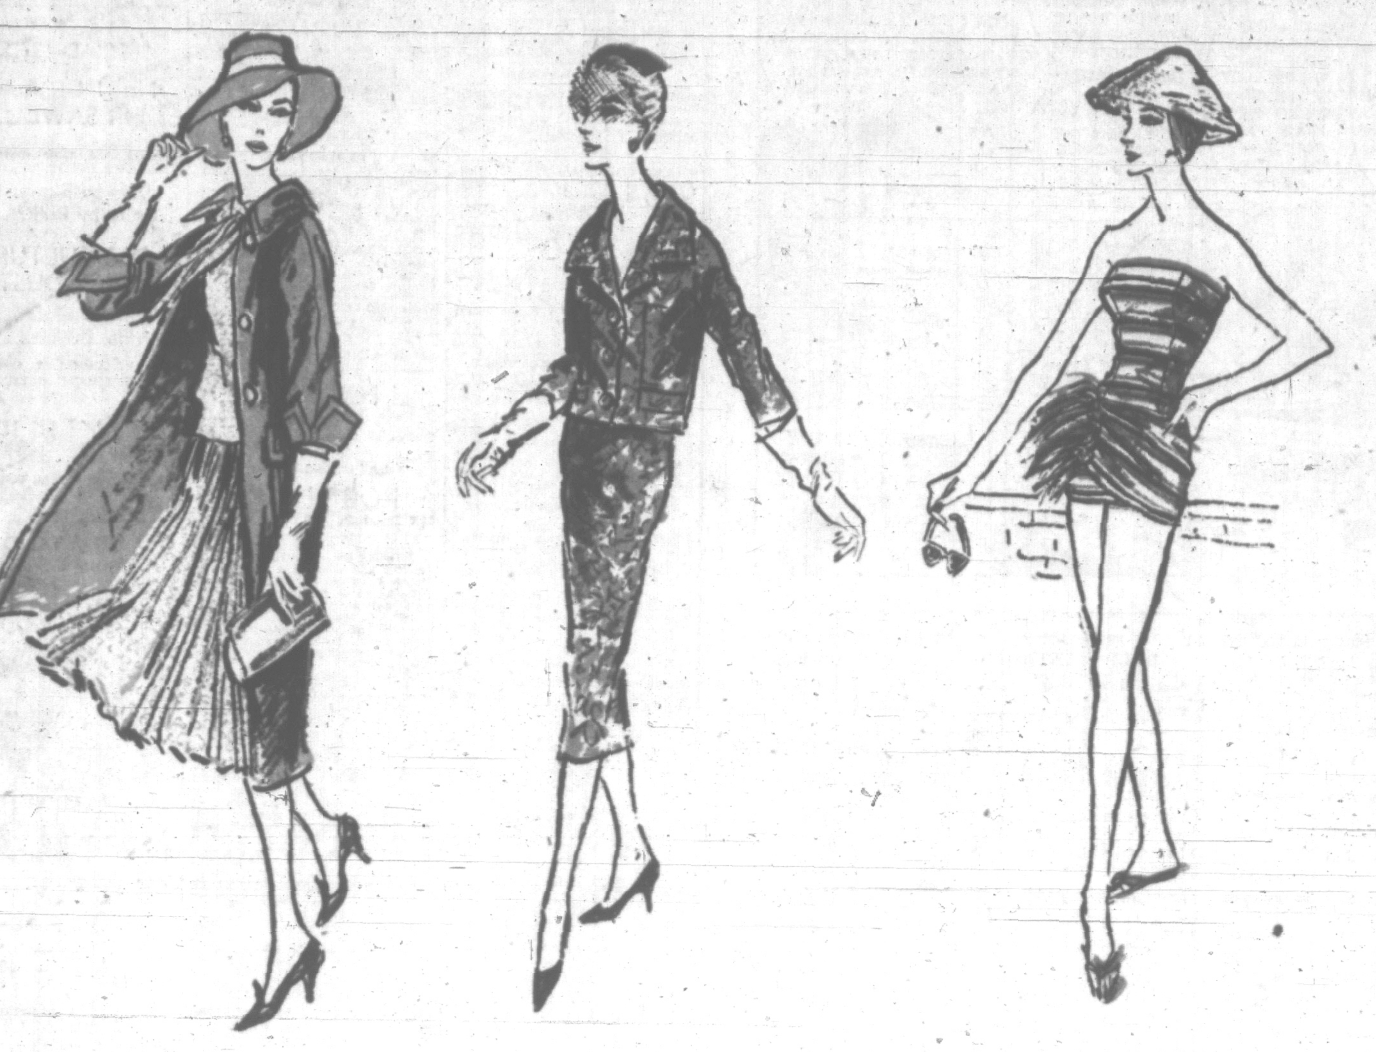
Honey of a Wardrobe for a Honeymooning Bride



A capsule wardrobe for the late spring or a June bride's honeymoon would ideally be in fine, light wool. Its resistance to creasing, liveliness after packing, adaptability to both cool and warm climates makes it a wonder fabric for travel. We show here three fashions, all by top designers, that any bride would love.

For a tailored travel coat, Vera Maxwell uses springy, waterproofed wool jersey in glowing amethyst. She cuts it with her own special trademarks: stitched collar and turn-back cuffs. Under the coat goes a featherweight overblouse dress of paisley-patterned wool jersey. It's the kind of dress that allows the most comfort in travel.

A flowering worsted suit with hip-length jacket has arrow-slim skirt. This is by Philippe Tournaye for Marquise. This is the kind of versatile "little suit" that can be worn from daytime into evening.

For a dip into surf or pool, Tina Leser does a swimsuit in amethyst striped wool jersey with matching fringe as trim. The knitted wool is draped and accented with tassels of matching yarn at one hip.

Victoria Home for Newlyweds

Living on Washington Avenue following their recent marriage are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis H. Newhook. The bride is the former Sandra Kay Holden, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Holden, of Nelson Street, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Newhook, of Hollywood, Calif.

The ceremony took place in the United Church Chapel, in HMCS Naden, Esquimalt, with Rev. W. L. Dalton officiating.

Cousins of the bride, Mrs. L. Readman and Alan Paterson, were soloists during signing of the register. Miss C. Chisholm played the organ.

A cocktail-length dress of nylon net over taffeta was worn by the bride. It featured a wide bouffant skirt and long lily-point sleeves. Her sequin and pearl headpiece held a chapel-length veil. Gift of the groom, Alaska black diamond necklace and earrings was jewelry worn, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Holden was given in marriage by Alan Paterson.

Gowns in blue and rose-toned nylon and net respectively, were worn by bridal attendants Miss Carole Holden and Miss Irene Beckly. They had white accessories and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Leslie Readman was best man and Robert Collins ushered.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the bridal table at a reception in Dulcie's Club. It was surrounded with red roses.

Carl Strable proposed a toast to the bride.

The couple left on a honeymoon to the Mainland.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

When the top players of the country get together for rubber bridge almost anything can and does happen. Every one is so anxious to fix his opponents that many bids are made that have no place in a proper bridge game. Sometimes they work and sometimes they don't.

Opening lead—♥ Q

Today's hand shows one that didn't.

North started the ball rolling with his irregular no-trump response. He didn't want his non-vulnerable opponents to get together on spades if they had that suit.

East stuck in a cream puff double and South promptly redoubled. West bid a conservative two spades, whereupon North and South worked their way into five diamonds.

West doubled and North redoubled and it was up to West to pick his opening lead. He studied very carefully and finally came up with the winner. He led the queen of hearts.

This lead effectively cooked South's goose. He ducked on general principles but had to win the second lead. A low diamond from dummy went to East's ace and East led another heart whereupon South had no way to shut out West's jack of trumps and the hand went down.

T.V. with Lee

Barbara Rush in Suspicion's Voice in the Night' at 10 on 4

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

STERLING SERLING—Playwright Rod Serling, who burst into the hall of public acclaim about three years ago with his brilliant Kraft Theatre play about big business, "Patterns," must be considered to be TV's outstanding writer. For in this day of fast productions, so necessary to the survival of the medium, he bulks large by the fact that he rarely, if ever, misses.

In addition to "Patterns" he has written "The Rack," "Requiem for a Heavyweight," "The Comedian" and other, lighter things, such as "The Man Who Caught the Ball at Hogan's Bluff." He was awarded TV's highest accolade, an Emmy, for three of them, "Patterns," "Requiem" and, this year, "The Comedian."

Last Thursday Serling again proved his versatility and strength of plot in Playhouse 90's Second World War drama, "Bomber's Moon." If the play had been anything else but excellent it would have been blessed with mediocrity. As it was it emerged a thriller in spite of some uneven acting by the principal actor, Robert Cummings.

TV TEE-HEES

"We lost the picture — can he go through it all again?"

It was an old story, of course, the story about an American boy, a hero in college football but a coward when it comes to risking his life in war instead of a loss of 10 yards on the gridiron. He is easy bait for hard-boiled Col. Cummings until Cummings falls in love and realizes why he hates the boy so much—because he represents the fear and softness that he has managed to bottle up within himself during the war.

* * *

UNFORTUNATELY Cumming's hardness was a petulant, "talky" hardness, not the grim, hard-rock hardness of the disciplinarian. This was especially noticeable in the opening phases of the play when he spoke so quickly and glibly that one started looking around for Schultzy and a flock of models to come rushing into the pub from the "Bob Cummings Show."

Somewhere about the middle to the start of the final quarter, however, Cummings began to find himself, as though he had at last caught up on reading the script. And from there on until the end he was as good as the best and with Serling's lines in his teeth gave one of the finest performances of his career.

Marty Balsam, as the wise guy pilot and the colonel's best friend, was excellent, as was the actor with the unbelievable name, Rip Torn, as the young flying officer, the coward who eventually redeems himself at the cost of his life and the lives of his crew.

But it was the writing and the direction of John Frankenheimer which made "Bomber's Moon" the exciting show it was. Neither the writer nor the director were afraid of the small scenes, such as when the colonel took about 15 seconds to return a salute, Balsam admiring himself before a mirror—all "stuff" designed to underscore character and add meaning to the plot. And when it came to the big scenes, the bombers' attack over Germany, the fatal crash of Balsam's plane, Cummings attack upon Torn, the writer and director again were there with the goods.

To recapitulate, Rod Serling is the most reliable TV playwright in the business today.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—It would be wise in early a.m. to contact that wise sage who can give you pointers how to get your job done more efficiently and with relative ease. Then pitch right in and put ideas to work. Also re personal matters.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Make up your mind to be gay and rise above any personal or money troubles you may have. It will then be easy to contact those persons who can help to brighten your life and show you how to have a real abundance, and quickly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Morning is fraught indeed with frustration owing to lack of co-operation from partner and home ties, also. After lunch, situation is ameliorated and a new uptrend is imminent. Tonight, spend a pleasant evening at home.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Whether you should go after information you need or attend to regular tasks has you in a quandry early. Divide your time wisely, or make decisions quickly and stick to plans formulated. P.M. is excellent for research work.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Financial worries could today keep you from contacting important persons, so forget them and set up your schedule wisely. It will then be possible to take in many business appointments as well as have an enjoyable social evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—If you have not given thought of late to impressing upon family ties that you are the true friend in need, this is the morning to do so. Then attend to personal affairs, matters of health and hygiene, and attend meetings, etc.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—If you do not rise above present conditions, you may easily start feeling sorry for yourself today. Do some fancy maneuvring instead and use worry as a stepping stone to success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Be careful not to permit yourself to get into the mental doldrums today. Concentrating on something comical will soon lift your spirits. Then day is fine for laboring happily with co-workers, friends and accomplish much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Any attempt to be heard by superiors today is just so much wasted energy in the morning. Wait intelligently until late afternoon to express yourself constructively, when they will have the time and the patience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—A private worry now causes you to lose out on some fine opportunity where persons are willing to support your cause. Get away from regular meeting places and raise your consciousness. You will then get ahead faster.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A good pal may not realize it, but his or her conversation may tend to lower your spirits today. Make encounter as brief as possible, and concentrate on business affairs, especially where money is vitally concerned now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Steer clear of that official or executive with a chip on his or her shoulder. You might be the one to suffer. Be with fellow worker, associate instead and labor constructively through the day. P.M. go to bed early.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY

The interesting child born today is the kind who must work against the tide in earliest infancy. Drill the fundamental lessons of life into your youngster as soon as possible, for they then will be learned forever. Then the chart is excellent for difficult professions where solutions to knotty problems are to be found. There is fine logic and stick-to-activeness in this makeup—a fine asset.

OAK BAY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUNGALOW
"DEPRESSION PRICE"
ONLY $7100

OIL-O-MATIC

A cultured and refined elderly lady (age 80) and her educated, successful daughter SACRIFICING their home for quick sale. Must sell—leaving Victoria on the 15th June. Their home is situated on a beautifully landscaped lot with extra good fencing, concrete walks, paved street, very handy to BUS services, very handy to shopping centre and is among high class homes. Oak Bay taxes of only $107.86 (less government grant). These beautiful grounds are the result of many years of patient, intelligent landscaping. Roses, carnations, honeysuckle, dogwood, evergreens, and there is plenty of room for vegetables, too. This landscaped lot, the location and surroundings are better than many houses selling for twice the price of this home.

Please note carefully: This bungalow has a very bright, clean, cheerful, full-sized concrete basement with lots of headroom. There is a genuine Williams OIL-O-MATIC (de luxe) low pressure forced air thermostatic-controlled modern heating system. This basement has an extra "bedroom" usable but not quite finished. From the basement outside entrance you may go directly out into the lovely developed backyard (and there is an inside basement stairway, too). This is indeed an unusual opportunity at the unusually low price of only seventy-one hundred. The LIVING ROOM has oak floors and a very attractive fireplace with built-in cupboards on each side. TWO BEDROOMS. The BATHROOM has a Pembroke tub. The KITCHEN is compact with built-in cupboards and sink. WIRED (220) for electric stove. A better quality hot water heater (Elco). Permanent type DUROID ROOF. STUCCO, painted a soft grey. The overall condition of this property averages very good; however, please don't think it is a ten thousand dollar value or even nine thousand, but it is OUTSTANDING VALUE at only seventy-one hundred. Clear title. First time advertised. These ladies need twenty-five hundred dollars down balance will be less than rent, only $65. This value is being featured and sold exclusively by MACK W. LYLE, salesman for HEATH REALTY. The owner is eighty years of age. This bungalow must be sold by appointment only. MACK W. LYLE, with his thirty years of real estate selling experience, believes this bungalow will be sold quickly. WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Phone MACK W. LYLE now! Please phone Mack W. Lyle at his residence anytime 2-1094, or at the office of Mr. Heath, phone 2-3403 and ask for MACK W. LYLE.

A RARITY

The type of property often sought, but seldom found. Secluded without isolation, a country home, 15 mins. from city with every convenience, modern with first class appointments. 20x15 living rm., oak floors, etc., kitchen, 2 lge bedrms plus finished and heated basement bedrm and toilet, oil heat and many other features of a well-designed home. Set in its own acre, the surrounding garden is planned to minimize the work entailed in a property of this size and yet the whole garden is designed to give maximum pleasures at all seasons. There are even possibilities of future development in a lovely small stream crossing the property. To see it is to want it but, unfortunately, to buy it, even though the price is low, $12,550, it requires at least one half in cash and a mortgage is to be obtained for the balance or all cash. To view, call Mr. Cleary, 3-7174. Eves. 4-2505. F. N. CABELDU LTD.

'ONE OF YEAR'S GREAT EVENTS'

Pioneers Get Scrolls

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The calendar grew misty and the hands of the clock turned back 70, 80 and 90 years Saturday afternoon as Victoria's pioneer men and women talked over things that happened long before most of us were born.

"Remember when they started the trams . . ."

"Aye, and the first motors—when a man walked in front with a red flag."

"And old Mayor Todd with his horse carriages . . ."

The years rolled aside as the oldtimers exchanged memories at Holyrood House on the occasion of a two-hour ceremony at which more than 250 pioneers of Greater Victoria were presented with scrolls by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

The scrolls commemorate their long service to the city, the province and the country that embraces them.

In the words of Public Works Minister W. H. Chant:

"The future is before us, yet it is from you, the pioneers, that we have learned so many lessons."

KENT OLDEST

Oldest pioneer in the crowded room was 96-year-old Herbert Kent, still very spry and observant and quick to spot old friends.

There was a spontaneous burst of applause when the Lieutenant-Governor approached him at the rear of the hall. Mr. Kent rose and exchanged a firm handshake.

"You never change," Mr. Ross said. "You still have that youthful look."

Mr. Kent's lively brown eyes and trim-cut beard affirmed the statement. Yet he came here in 1864!

Always afraid of boring younger people, Mr. Kent only talks of the past when he is asked to. Then he recalls selling the first Edison phonographs at his music store on Fort Street . . . the Victoria Orchestra in which he played various instruments . . . the Point Ellice bridge disaster.

The lieutenant-governor did not spare himself. He trudged around the hot crowded room for more than two hours presenting scrolls to the pioneers and chatting with each in turn.

MEETS PENDRAY

He renewed a lifelong friendship with Carl Pendray, a former mayor of Victoria and pioneer of a well-known city paint company.

He joked with three vivacious women members of the Alexander family, whose forbears came here during the slave years in the United States.

Mrs. Ada Alexander, still attractive at 94 with her snow-white hair and flashing teeth, recalled how her father, a carpenter named Jim Barnswell, worked for Judge Begbie and other historic B.C. figures.

Two younger sisters, Flora and Mary Alexander, also received scrolls and kept up a merry exchange of banter with the lieutenant-governor.

Sister Mary pretended to be huffed because The Times photographer took Ada's picture and not hers.

"I'm gonna sit right here till that man comes back," she said in what sounded like the lyric of a blues song.

The three sisters were as lively as crickets.

Mr. Ross also had a lively greeting for Mrs. John Wallace, 75-year-old mother of L. J. Wallace, chairman of the B.C. Centennial Committee.

Her grandfather came out to Metchosin in 1853—five years before British Columbia was born—and from him she heard many tales of the pioneer days.

With Mrs. Wallace were her brother, 78-year-old Herbert Parker, and her sister, 72-year-old Mrs. Ada Godtel.

Mrs. Mary Lumley, 94, said her father used to cook for Sir James Douglas, and her daughter, Mrs. Alice Sparrow, 72, told how they were descended from a Hawaiian family which settled in Victoria in the 1880s.

Frank Merryfield, 84-year-old Victoria magician, produced a white mouse from somebody's pocket and looked as if he would like to let it loose. But he didn't.

Another honored guest was Mrs. Francis Hood, whose father, Hon. E. G. Prior, was both permier of the province and lieutenant-governor during his long career in Victoria.

STORE IN 1862

Fred Waller, who was born in 1864, recalled that his father started a confectionery business on Fort Street in 1862.

"Those were the days when everyone knew everyone else," he said, "and most of their business, too."

The Lieutenant-Governor in his address paid tribute to R. H. Hiscocks, chairman of Centennial Pioneer Week, for his excellent organization. He told the pioneers:

"You have seen Greater Victoria grow from very small beginnings and you have all had a hand in its progress. . . This gathering is one of the great events of Centennial Year."

Public Works Minister Chant, representing Premier Bennett, said:

"You are to be commented on the vision, foresight and tenacity you showed in coming to this country and helping to build its foundations.

"You built soundly, you built worthily and you built well. Your character and integrity have been sustained in the growth and development of this great province."

Fourteen of the commemoratilve scrolls went to pioneers who were born in B.C. or came to the province before 1871.

The others went to more than 230 who came here prior to July 4, 1886, when Canada's first transcontinental train reached the Pacific Coast.

Mrs. Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, was unable to attend because of the recent death of her father.

Let's talk REAL ESTATE

By Don Whyte

When you list your house for sale you are hiring a firm to do a job for you. You are the person who pays the commission to sell the house and whether you get the job done satisfactorily and are happy with the results, depends upon proper business practice and merchandising principles employed.

Your home is basically a piece of merchandise and is being offered in the market place in competition with many others. You have only one home to sell. In today's market the buyer has many to choose from, and he is going to try and obtain the best he can for his dollar. Our job is to get the seller the most dollars we can for his property.

A very interesting picture has arisen from a recent analysis of our sales figures. The pattern shows that 82% of our total sales are either exclusive or multiple listings. Of these contracted listings we are selling four out of five and obtaining for our client an average of over 95% of the listed prices.

This success is not by chance. Our policy has been that we will not accept unrealistically priced properties. If we do not think the price is fair we explain to the seller that we have many properly priced homes on which we are prepared to spend our advertising money and our salesmen's time. Furthermore we explain that to do a proper and efficient job we should have a listing contract. An open listing cannot be actively worked on properly by anyone. This point has been proved time and time again by Realty firms across Canada.

The first step in selling your home is proper pricing and presentation. We are very proud of the results we have achieved. Can we help you?

Only "Steradent's" "OXYGEN ACTION" really cleans False Teeth

Ordinary toothpastes and powders simply can't clean false teeth thoroughly — they're not designed to. While the harsh abrasives in many makeshift cleansers often do more harm than good. That's why so many dentists recommend Steradent — the special cleaner for all dentures.

Steradent soaks into cracks and crevices no brush can reach. Its Oxygen Action goes to work at once to remove stain, mucin film, clinging food particles and bacteria. Steradent deodorizes your dentures — keeping teeth bright, breath fresh.

You can prove Steradent's superiority without risking a penny. For free sample, fill out and mail to: Reckitt & Colman (Canada) Limited, Dept. A, 1000 Amherst St., Montreal, P.Q.

Prisoners Learn 'Better Living'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Unique education ceremonies took place in British Columbia penitentiary recently.

Twenty-six men sentenced as burglars, habitual criminals, armed robbers or rapists, or serving terms for manslaughter, each became a valedictorian of class No. 7, a course in effective speaking, human relations and leadership.

The penitentiary provides the course as part of the training for rehabilitation for life outside prison walls.

Thirty guests, including eight women, attended the convocation inside the all-male prison. Mr Justice Harold McInnis, of the British Columbia Supreme Court, spoke briefly to the graduates.

One valedictorian is due to leave the prison after serving five years for armed robbery.

"This course has helped me straighten my deviate way," he said.

MOURNING SON KILLED

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—A minister's son was killed Sunday in an elevator accident at a funeral home after helping select a coffin for his father. Alvin Franklin Barfield, 52, apparently tripped as he stepped into a crowded freight elevator on the second floor. The elevator started down and Barfield's head was caught between the elevator and the floor.

'Vital Program' Needed by West

EDMONTON (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Sunday night leaders of the free world must have a "positive and vital" program in the race for men's minds, instead of employing a "negative and defensive" policy designed to answer Soviet propaganda.

He said the time has come for a major offensive for the minds of men. A more positive and vital philosophy is needed to meet the challenge of communism.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke to 1,500 delegates and visitors at the opening of the national convention of the Canadian Legion.

MUST BE STRONG

He said that in defence, the West must maintain its deterrent strength; in the economic sphere, it must formulate a policy of development for backward areas.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev "can no more resist the power of world opinion than can the democratic leaders, although favorable action will take longer."

He said it was good news to learn, a few days ago, that the Soviet Union had indicated it might be willing to participate in technical studies to examine how a suspension of nuclear tests might be supervised and policed.

Mr. Diefenbaker warned that while the West must have "a rigid regard for the goal of world peace," it must also be flexible in seeking that goal.

"But we cannot afford to remain muscle-bound in any one strategic posture or set in any one diplomatic attitude."

Mr. Diefenbaker flew here Sunday afternoon and left for Ottawa immediately after the opening. He flew to Saskatoon from Ottawa Saturday to visit his mother, 84-year-old Mrs. William T. Diefenbaker.

The prime minister was accompanied by Mrs. Diefenbaker and Veterans' Affairs Minister Brooks, who will speak to the convention today.

Mr. Diefenbaker's address followed an impressive memorial service on the platform of the Jubilee Auditorium, where a replica of the National War Memorial at Ottawa had been erected. A wreath was placed at the memorial by Mrs. C. H. Gerow of Edmonton, whose son was killed while serving with the RCAF in the Second World War.

PERMANENT VETERANS' COMMITTEE

EDMONTON (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Sunday a standing committee for veterans affairs will be set up at this session of Parliament.

He made the announcement to 1,500 delegates at the opening of the national convention of the Canadian Legion.

The prime minister said he was proud of the legion's leadership, which had never attempted to "lobby" Parliament in seeking more benefits for veterans.

The standing committee would have a membership of 40, he said.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Seventy-two members of the 88th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force, who served overseas in the First World War honored their absent comrades when they held their annual reunion banquet at the Pacific Club Friday.

The battalion was formed from the old 88th Regiment, Victoria Fusiliers, as a local militia regiment, and recruited to battalion strength in 1915, mainly from southern Vancouver Island residents.

Movies were shown by A. E. Murrant. Senior battalion officers present were Ben Harrison and A. D. Crease. The battalion crest was laid on the Cenotaph earlier in the day.

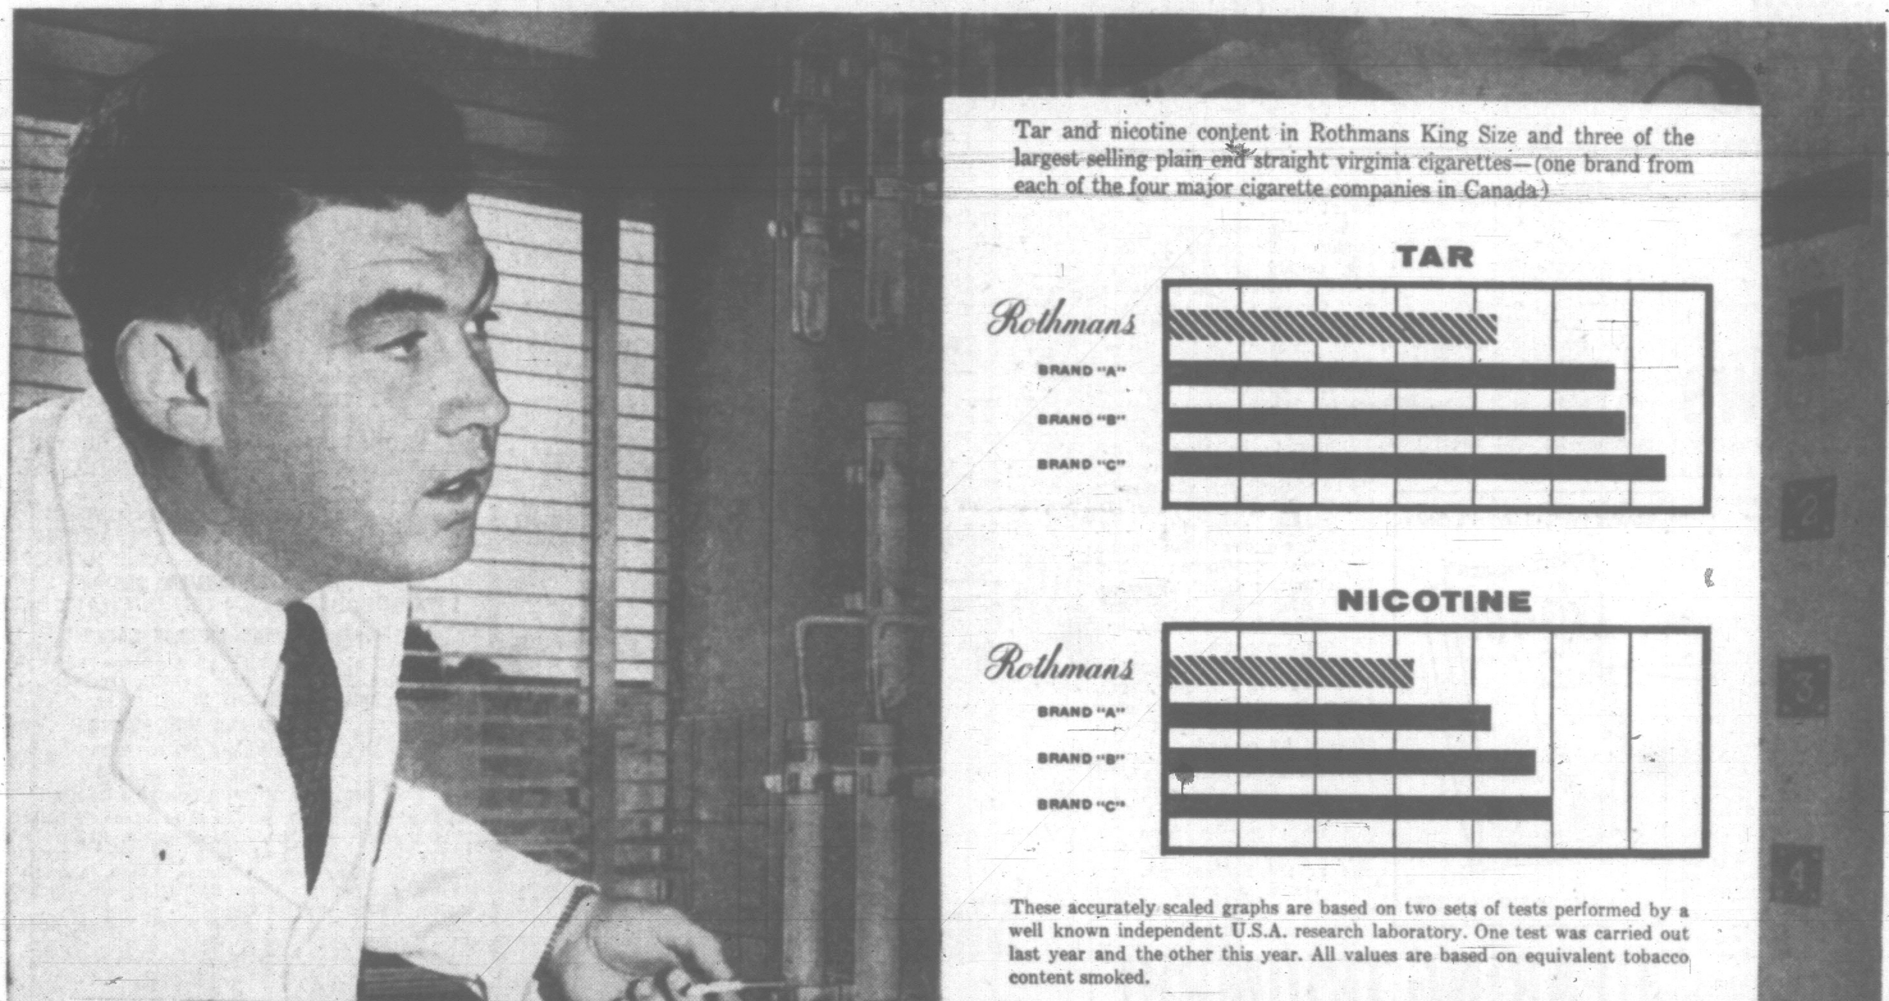
Out of Rothmans research, a new idea in cigarette tobaccos:

NATURALLY LESS TARS AND NICOTINE



Tar and nicotine content in Rothmans King Size and three of the largest selling plain end straight virginia cigarettes—(one brand from each of the four major cigarette companies in Canada)

These accurately scaled graphs are based on two sets of tests performed by a well known independent U.S.A. research laboratory. One test was carried out last year and the other this year. All values are based on equivalent tobacco content smoked.

Mr. George Fulop, a leading tobacco farmer of Tillsonburg, Ontario, says: "I smoke Rothmans King Size because I see Rothmans buy the best tobacco grown by Canadian farmers."

George Fulop

Rothmans research has discovered that certain types of tobaccos, when smoked, produce less tars and nicotine than others. Constant vigilance by Rothmans research laboratories ensures that only costlier, milder, lighter virginia is selected for Rothmans cigarettes. As distinct from the old trial and error approach to making cigarettes, Rothmans leadership in research is your guarantee of purity and consistent quality.

The cigarette paper used by Rothmans is the purest in the world—no waterproofing chemicals or synthetics—guaranteed 100% vegetable origin.

Top Safety Award To Plywood Plant

The Victoria plywood division of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. was rated the province's most safety-conscious plant in award ceremonies at the plant Saturday.

The plant won six awards, presented to T. E. Burgess, company vice-president. Most notable was a National Safety Council certificate for a safety record in 1957 that was surpassed by only two other plywood plants of similar size in North America.

Other presentations from the Workmen's Compensation Board, the B.C. Safety Council and the Plywood Manufacturers' Association of B.C., honored the plywood plant's record of almost 1,150,000 man hours of accident-free operation.

CIVIL SERVICE VENUE MOVES TO NANAIMO

Future annual meetings of the Vancouver Island section of the B.C. Government Employees' Association will be held in Nanaimo, instead of Victoria.

The decision was reached wen only 40 out of 200 expected arrived Saturday for a meeting here in the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, hall.

Nanaimo president Dave Block said Comox and Alberni members would have come if the meet had been in Nanaimo. Surplus refreshments were donated to the Protestant Orphanage.

DOCTOR HOLDS OUT HOPE

Within 20 Years Cripples Will Work

Within 20 years the major jority of the world's cripples will be actively employed—and their employment will be "universally accepted," an orthopedic surgeon from South Africa said here on the weekend.

Meanwhile there is only a "ray of hope" for breadwinners struck down by a crippling disease, said Dr. Colin E. L. Allen.

A professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Capetown, the doctor is visiting Victoria on the last lap of a two-month tour of orthopedic centres in Canada, the United States, Scandinavian countries and England.

His trip is sposored by the National Council for the Care of Cripples of South Africa.

"I am trying to get as close as I can to organizations working with cripples to study their techniques," Dr. Allen said. He met orthopedic surgeons here over the weekend.

The doctor believes that industrialists are "slowly becoming more and more aware of the importance of rehabilitating the disabled"—if only to offset the shortage of manpower in many countries.

"The loss of manpower in the world through crippling diseases is fantastic," he said.

Dr. Allen left today to attend a convention of the International Society for the Welfare of Cripples in Brussels, before returning to Capetown June 21.

While in the United States he attended the Congress of the American College of Surgeons in New York and another for English-speaking orthopedic surgeons in Washington, D.C.

Dead Baby Kept In Trunk 11 Years

NEW BOSTON, Tex. (AP)—A former United States Army nurse was held for murder today in the death of a baby whose body police said was kept in a trunk for 11 years.

Sheriff W. J. Watlington laid a murder charge late Sunday against auburn-haired Mrs. Rose Powers, 46.

The sheriff quoted her as telling police she bore the child illegitimately 11 years ago. She said her only explanation for keeping the body was "I just couldn't bear to get rid of it."

Watlington said her husband, Elburn Powers, 42, called police after discovering the body in his wife's steel foot locker Saturday night.

He said the partly decomposed body, packed amid clothing with a preservative powder, was surprisingly well preserved.

Cree Indian Starts Evangelistic Drive

A 23-year-old Cree Indian from Norway House, Man., today launched a United Church evangelistic mission that will reach more than 1,300 Indians on Vancouver Island.

Dulas Robertson will be preaching the gospel for the first time. He graduated a few days ago from a three-year theological course at Cooke's Christian Training School, Phoenix, Ariz.

He will be accompanied on the three-week mission by song leader Peter Challoner, 25, who last week was accepted by Victoria presbytery as a candidate for the United Church ministry.

Mr. Robertson was converted to Christianity by Rev. A. I. Avery, now of St. Aidan's United Church here. He preached in Mr. Avery's church Sunday morning and, in his honor the choir sang two anthems in Cree.

The mission was to open today at Cape Mudge and continue southward. At its close, Mr. Robertson will take charge of a full-time Indian pastorate in northern Manitoba.

354-Day Strike Ended

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Six workers were scheduled to return to jobs at Canada Vitrified Products, Limited, today, marking the end of a 354-day strike.

Mayor J. M. Stirling announced the settlement between the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and the company. The strike began when 42 employees walked out June 6, 1957.

The rest of the employees are to be taken back as soon as full production is reached under terms of a new one-year agreement.

The strike was one of the longest and most bitter in this city's history. There were at least three major outbreaks of violence, at least eight men injured in rock-throwing incidents, burned fields, slashed truck tires, constant picketing, a restraining court injunction and a $25,000 fire at the main plant.

Union officials said the agreement assures wage increases of 75 to 30 cents an hour, reinstatement of strikers and assurance that all pending damage suits will be dropped by the company.

NURSING HOME FIRE CLAIMS FOUR VICTIMS

TORONTO (CP)—Two elderly men died in hospital today raising the death toll in a pre-dawn nursing home fire to four. Frank Cooper, 71, and John Black, 75, died of smoke poisoning six hours after they were rescued from the west-end Craig Nursing Home. (See earlier story, page 3.)

De Gaulle Headed for Talks With Pflimlin on New Crisis

VICTORIA'S CONEY ISLAND

Sunday early proved itself to be a day of sun, and people started flocking to wide expanses of Willows Beach in mid-morning. By 3.30 p.m. sands were crowded. Temperatures reached mid-70s, tempered by light sea breeze. Visitors covered not only shore of arc of beach, but filled grassy area by Oak Bay Kiwanis Club concession. Volunteer concession workers said beach was busiest seen so far this year.—

Kootenay Bus Depot Bombed

Doukhobors Blamed for Violence; Nelson Mayor Asks Gov't Action

NELSON (CP)—The Sabbath stillness was shattered here Sunday as for the third time in the last six months parts of the West Kootenay area rocked to terrorist bombings.

Windows and doors were smashed and inside walls torn when an explosion ripped through the Greyhound bus terminal about 3.30 a.m. A number of power poles in widely separated areas were blasted.

No one was injured.

This district, about 250 miles due east of Vancouver, is the home of a large number of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, who have been blamed for similar incidents in the past.

A portion of a natural gas pipeline was blown up in December. About the same time power poles near Trail were blasted.

In mid-January a section of CPR track was destroyed. A week before bombs were discovered in three movie theatres in the area and buried beneath giant 200-foot power poles.

Police said all Sunday's explosions were set off by time bombs.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse of Nelson was en route to Victoria today to urge Attorney-General Robert Bonner to take action.

At the bus terminal a steel baggage locker, in which the bomb was planted, was ripped apart. Large holes were torn in the wall of an adjoining cafe and dishes and utensils were smashed.

The power poles were bombed at Tarrys, 18 miles southwest of here, at nearby Crescent Valley, and 15 miles west of Rossland.

The West Kootenay Power Company's feeder line to the public utilities commission plant at Whatshan Lake was cut for several hours following the blast at 1.25 a.m.

Provincial secretary W. E. Black, acting attorney-general while Mr. Bonner is in Europe, will meet Nelson mayor Shorthouse on the matter of the bombings.

"I will be glad to meet with him too," said Premier Bennett.

"If necessary we'll ask the federal government to accept some responsibility. The federal government originated the situation," the premier stated.

Bonus Cheques To Pay Sommers Eversfield Says

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accountant Charles Eversfield continued today to recount how money was allegedly passed to former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers who now is involved in a 38-count indictment of bribery and conspiracy.

Testifying before an assize court jury of nine men and three women, Eversfield mentioned sums of $4,666 and two sums of $1,875 apiece. He said the $4,666 represented two-thirds of $7,000 and had been requisitioned from the C. D. Schultz Company Limited by Pacific Coast Services Limited where he was formerly bookkeeper.

He said that in August, 1954, H. W. Gray, his former boss and now one of the accused, had said he wanted to get money to Sommers and suggested that Eversfield draw a bonus cheque under his own name. The accountant said he refused to do this and that Gray finally informed him that two bonus cheques of $1,875 each were to be drawn over the names of John Gray and another company official, S. W. Armitage.

Eversfield testified that Gray told him that this money was to go to Sommers.

Under the examination of assistant prosecutor Stewart McMorran, Eversfield twice took documents to the jury and explained them directly. At one point Schultz' counsel, Alfred Bull, objected to this procedure but was rather sharply overruled by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

PART FOREST CLOSURE RULED BY GOVERNMENT

A restricted industrial forest closure, brought on by unseasonably warm weather of the past two weeks, was ordered today by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston for the whole of the Vancouver Forest District, to be effective at midnight.

Under provisions of the closure, no industrial operation such as logging, sawmilling, mining, construction or road clearing can be conducted within one-half mile of a forest or woodland except between the hours of midnight and 1 p.m.

It will mean the hated "early shift" for all loggers.

Deputy forests minister Dr. C. D. Orchard, speaking on behalf of the minister, said "this closure action is imperative because of the consistently high forest fire hazard in the Vancouver district, and the meteorological forecasts indicating that no real relief can be expected in the immediate future."

The forests are still open for recreational purposes, but Dr. Orchard cautioned that everyone entering the woods should exercise extreme care with fire.

New Bid to Avert Black Ball Strike

New talks will be held Tuesday at Vancouver in an attempt to head off a strike threat against Black Ball Ferries Ltd.

Richard Greaves, secretary of the National Association of Marine Engineers, said today negotiating committees of three unions will meet with the company to try and reach a settlement of pay disputes.

The engineers, Seafarers' International Union and Canadian Merchants Service Guild of licenced officers, have voted to strike against Black Ball but none has set a deadline for the walkouts.

Mr. Greaves said his association also will meet with the CPR Tuesday to re-open negotiations after weekend balloting among 97 members resulted in an 87 per cent vote to strike against the company.

The 10-ship Princess fleet already has been tied up 10 days by an SIU strike of 350 seamen.

The idled CPR engineers seek wage increases of 19 per cent spread over two years plus a $26 monthly cost of living bonus.

Similar demands have been made for some 40 engineers employed by Black Ball. Current pay ranges between $370 and $485.

An SIU meeting tonight will decide whether the seamen will accept an appeal by Victoria city council to agree to arbitration of their strike for reduced wage increases averaging 25 per cent.

However, Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent in Vancouver, said he doubted that the Union membership would agree to arbitration.

CPR vice-president J. N. Fraine said his company would be willing to accept arbitration if conducted by a Supreme Court judge. He added that the arbitration would have to apply for all three groups involved in the pay dispute.

Mayor Percy Scurrah today finally received a reply from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to his continuous appeals for government action.

ROUND-ROBIN TRAGEDY AT TEXAS BEACH

Six Rescuers Lured to Death By Child's Drowning Struggle

ROCKPORT, Tex. (AP)—Struggles of a drowning child drew 10 rescuers off a sunny beach late Sunday and seven persons perished, including the little girl the others tried to save.

Drowned were the little girl, a United States Air Force chaplain, the little girl's mother and four other children.

The tragic sequence started after Janice Bailey, nine, stepped into a deep hole off the small public beach opposite this Texas port on the Gulf of Mexico.

Chaplain Leonard Berry, 40, dived in.

The father of another child, who also drowned, and Janice's mother, Mrs. Mary Bailey, 26, followed. Efforts to help were made by seven other children, including the four who went down.

Wayne Bailey, an airman from Foster Air Force Base at neighboring Victoria, Tex., was in the crowd of more than 3,000 persons who saw the bodies of his wife and daughter pulled from the water.

Rockport Fire Chief Dick Fox identified these other dead:

David Curby, 7; Margarita Torres, 11, and Aurelia Tomas, 10.

Joining in the vain rescue attempt was Concepcion Tomas, who saw a little girl thrashing in the water and dashed from his parked car. He arrived too late to reach Janice or his own daughter.

Resuscitation efforts were fruitless.

Fox said 30 emergency corpsmen, swimming or in boats, joined in the rescue attempts. Twenty others aided on the beach with a respirator.

French Premier's Power Waning; Reds Call Strike

(From UPI and AP Dispatches)

PARIS—Gen. Charles de Gaulle left his rural home tonight apparently for Paris and possible talks with Premier Pierre Pflimlin over the French Republic's steadily worsening crisis.

All France waited for de Gaulle to keep a date with destiny.

De Gaulle drove swiftly away from his hideaway at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 150 miles southeast of Paris. Several hours earlier it had been learned de Gaulle offered through an intermediary Sunday night to consult with Pflimlin over means to save the republic.

Pflimlin's answer was not yet known.

Pflimlin's power appeared to be slipping, however.

After his National Assembly call for unity today he was applauded by only the centre half of the deputies.

The reticence of the rightists and the Communists to endorse Pflimlin's view of a well-planned plot against the republic was significant.

Leaders of the powerful Conservative party said they will ask President Rene Coty to call a meeting of all non-Communist party leaders to consider the formation of a de Gaulle government.

Conservatives said the meeting would be held "if possible with Gen. de Gaulle."

"The passion for national unity and the existence of General de Gaulle" were the only chances left to France, Gaullist Senator Michael Debre said.

Meanwhile, the Communist-controlled General Confederation of Labor ordered its members out on strike Tuesday to protest the possible return of de Gaulle to power. The announcement did not say how long the strike would continue.

TUNIS: Demonstrators Demand French Ouster

TUNIS, Tunisia—Tunisian demonstrators streamed into sun-baked street today demanding anew that French forces get out of this North African country.

Their protests were sparked by renewed weekend fighting between French and Tunisian troops in Remada, in the southern Tunisian desert. The fighting there had stopped today.

Demonstrations in Tunis carried over from Sunday. There were more reported in Bizerte and the olive-growing sections of Tozeur and Deggache in south central Tunisia. The demonstrations were vociferous but orderly.

President Habib Bourguiba was scheduled to make another radio broadcast to his people later in the day. He declared a state of emergency for all Tunisia Sunday after fighting at Remada swelled. French planes bombed and strafed Tunisian positions 25 miles north of Remada.

Five French soldiers were killed and 14 wounded as the French military command at Remada tried to break through Tunisian roadblocks.

Fighting at Gafsa in central Tunisia also was reported to have ceased after Tunisian troops fired on planes landing on a French airstrip.

ALGIERS: Warships Leave NATO Exercise

ALGIERS—Seventeen French warships have cut short their participation in the current NATO Mediterranean naval exercise to sail for the ports of mutinous Algeria on "routine" visits, French fleet sources said today.

The sources said the vessels would skip the closing review of the exercise in Malta Tuesday. Instead, they will head back to the southern France naval base of Toulon—calling on the way at the Algerian ports of Bone, Philippeville and Bougie. They are not planning a call at Algiers, centre of the civilian-military insurgent moves.

Although the fleet headquarters sources here termed the visits as a "routine movement," no such calls had been announced previously.

The sources clearly meant, however, that the move should not be construed as an indication the ships were coming to Algeria to bolster the cause of the dissident generals and civilians.

The disclosure of the new visits came amid reports that the huge French aircraft carrier Lafayette and three destroyers already had arrived at Bone from Malta.

By coincidence, the imminent arrival of the fleet units in the Algerian ports came at the same time as a visit of Gaullist Jacques Soustelle and top generals of the all-Algeria committee of public safety to Bone and Constantine in eastern Algeria.

Meanwhile, insurgent authorities in Algeria accused the Paris government of plotting to create incidents between the French and Tunisian forces in Tunisia to discredit the committee of public safety in Algeria.

An official spokesman of the committee said the government of Pierre Pflimlin is trying to exploit the situation and obtain international sanctions against the Algiers authorities.

He added that the 22,000 French troops in Tunisia commanded by Gen. Fernand Gambiez were "working in very close contact with us for operational reasons."

CORSICA: Insurgents Solidly in Control

AJACCIO, Corsica — Thousands of Corsicans today marched through the flag-decked streets of this insurgent capital to hail emissaries from the rebellious Algeria junta.

This French island, which Saturday night staged a bloodless coup d'etat, was solidly under control of public committees supported by the tommy-guns of French paratroopers.

Special riot police, ordered here from metropolitan France to deal with the insurgents, basked idly under the hot Mediterranean sun or joined the anti-Paris demonstrations.

Residents of the capital city of Ajaccio—birthplace of Napoleon Bonaparte—massed in front of the two-storey prefecture and loudly cheered representatives of the Algerian movement who flew here in French air force planes to consolidate the takeover on Corsica.

There was no sign of dissension anywhere. The island has been virtually cut off from the outside world on which it depends heavily for food and other supplies. A warning was published against any hoarding or black marketing but there was no sign that either has begun. Restaurants had full menus and shops were well stocked.

Canadian Killed In Israeli Clash

JERUSALEM (CP)—Lieut.-Col. George Flint, Canadian chairman of the UN mixed armistice commission, and two Israeli policemen were reported killed today after a clash between Israeli and Jordan forces in the Mount Scopus area.

Flint, from Outremont, Que., was the highest UN official killed in the Israeli-Arab conflicts since the assassination of Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte in September, 1948.

Military sources here said Flint was hit when attempting to arrange for a cease-fire and removal of the wounded following a flareup between Israel and Jordan forces, and bled to death from his wounds. He was lying in the open, under fire from Jordanian snipers.

An Israeli army spokesman said two other Israeli police were wounded in the clash. He said it began when Jordanians fired on Israeli police.

The spokesman said his information was based on reports from the Mount Scopus area, separated from the Jerusalem sector of Israel by a stretch of Jordanian territory.

The bodies were being taken away under UN supervision, he said.

The Israeli spokesman said the Jordanian troops violated a cease-fire arrangement negotiated by UN truce supervisors by continuing to shoot after the deadline set for 3.30 p.m.

DEAN OFFERS LABOR STRIFE PEACE PRAYER

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral offered a "prayer for the easement of labor strife" in his church on Sunday.

The Dean read the following supplication:

"O God who hast ordained that men live and work together as brethern, we humbly beseech Thee to put away all strife between those who are engaged in the labors of industry and those who employ their labor. Grant that all, seeking only that which is just and equitable, may ever continue in unity and concord, to Thy glory, their own well-being, and the prosperity of this Dominion; through Jesus Christ Our Lord, Amen."

W. German President To Speak in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Theodor Heuss, 74-year-old president of the West German Federal Republic, flies to Quebec City this week on the first visit to Canada by a German head of state. He will address members of both Houses of Parliament in the Commons on June 2.

Heavy Vote in Italy

ROME (AP) — Election officials began counting more than 30,000,000 ballots today immediately after the end of 1½ days of heavy voting for Italy's third postwar parliament. Final results of the balloting, which was orderly throughout, are expected Tuesday.

Beirut Bomb Kills 6

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Anti-goverment terrorists set off a time bomb in a packed Beirut streetcar today. Six to eight persons were killed and 12 to 15 injured, according to early estimates.

Four Workers Killed In 7,200-Volt Flash

WARREN, Ont. (CP)—Four workers of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission died today five hours after they received electrical shocks in an accident at the hydro substation at Warren, 40 miles east of Sudbury.

The dead were identified as Louis Villa, 36, of Sudbury; Aubrey Staples, 36, of Garson; Maurice Paradis, 28 of Chelmsford, and Aurele Fournier, 30, also of Chelmsford.

The six-man crew from Sudbury was working on replacement of a transformer and was slipping steel pipe scaffolding into position when the accident occurred. Armstrong said the scaffolding touched the blade of a live switch. The line was carrying 7,200 volts.

They were held fast to the scaffolding until a transformer fuse blew, breaking the circuit. Armstrong said the feeder line on which they were working was dead.

. . . DE GAULLE

branches of industry belong to the confederation.

The Socialist Force Ouvriere and the non-Communist General Confederation of Labor, which broke away from the main body several years ago, summoned their joint executive committee into special session. A spokesman said the committee also was in touch with the Christian Trade Union Federation, another non-Communist group.

The joint committee called on members to "oppose subversion . . . . and aid legitimate authorities to the maximum."

This raised the possibility the workers would try to seize arms if rightist mobs took to the streets in support of de Gaulle.

Pflimlin told the Assembly there had been "no justification and no excuse" for the military-led seizure of power in Corsica.

He said the government has already increased its security measures to prevent spread of the pro-Gaullist insurgency to the French mainland.

"The government will use with inflexible vigor all the means it has against any who rise from any side against the law," he declared. "But security forces are not enough to save our threatened freedoms. The nation as a whole must do its duty."

Pflimlin said civil war threatens and called on all Frenchmen to defend their basic liberties.

"The danger threatening us is that of civil war," he told the deputies.

"Our liberties are at stake."

OUT OF SUPPLIES

Striving to stem the tide of revolt, the government:

1. Cut off communications and supplies to the insurrectionists who consolidated their control of Corsica with Algeria-type public safety committees. Rebel leaders in Algiers said they would funnel supplies to the Mediterranean island's 140,008 people.

2. Extended censorship to all news distributed in France — whether from French territories or from abroad.

3. Announced government officials and military personnel who took part in the Corsica uprising would be fined and jailed.

4. Asked the Assembly to order expulsion from Parliament of any deputy who works against the unity of the republic. The bill was aimed at Corsican deputy Pascal Arrighi, who helped direct paratroopers and civilians in seizing power on the island. It could also be used against Jacques Soustelle, leading Gaullist deputy who fled to take a top role in the Algiers revolt.

Tenement Fire Kills 6

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Fire crackled through a three-story tenement today and six Negro tenants were burned to death. Twenty-five others fled to safety. Police arrested another tenant who lived on the top floor after they said he admitted smoking in bed. He was held on a charge of investigation of arson.

Convicts Die After Poison Booze Party

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two prisoners have died and two are in hospital following a party early Sunday at a prison work camp in nearby Chilliwack during which poisonous spirits were consumed.

The two dead were identified by prison officials as Archie Morin, 28, and Joseph Bastarache, 48, who were serving their seventh and eighth sentences respectively in Oakalla prison in suburban Burnaby and had been sent from there to the Chilliwack camp.

It is believed the men drank anti-freeze fluid or some type of spirit fuel taken from a mechanic's shed.

A letter from the prime minister noted that the federal labor department was watching the strike situation closely and "you may be sure that the government of Canada is anxious to assist in reducing the unfortunate effects which you state will arise from the present strike."

Mayor Scurrah refused comment on the letter and two similiar ones from the department of labor and the office of Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, VC.

"They speak for themselves," he said.

HOTELS LOSE OUT

With attempts to end the CPR strike stalemated, tourist businesses such as hotels and motels continued suffering losses.

Managers expected to be hit hard this weekend, Memorial Day holiday in the United States which normally brings a great many visitors here, if the strike was not settled immediately.

Mayor Scurrah attended an emergency meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce today in the Crystal Garden where reports on the CPR strike situation were made.

The SIU should accept the offer of the CPR to submit the union's wage dispute to binding arbitration by a Supreme Court judge, Arnold Webb, secretary-manager of the Victoria chamber said.

"GENUINE OFFER"

Mr. Webb dscribed the offer as a "crack in the curtain."

"It appears to be a genuine offer and there seems to be no reason why the union should not be prepared to submit its case in the same manner," he said.

Commenting on a CPR statement that it was operating its ships at a loss and any increase in costs "would entail increased fares, reduced service, or both," Mr .Webb said the chamber was opposed to any reduction in service between Victoria and the mainland.

Labor Minister Michael Starr told the Commons that the CPR and SIU are still "far apart" in their dispute. He said a federal labor department attempt to arrange new talks over the weekend failed.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Otto Honicke, 2422 Cedar Hill, $35 and $5 costs and licence suspension, for careless driving.

Donald L. Trahan, 866 Craigflower, $35 for careless driving.

In Sidney RCMP court today:

Arthur Saunders, Sidney, $50 and $3 costs for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $35 and $5 costs for careless driving.

REACTOR KNOCKED OUT IN ATOM DUST MISHAP

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's powerful NRU atomic reactor at the Chalk River, Ont., atomic establishment was knocked out of action Saturday night following a rare accident which contaminated the building housing it with radioactive dust.

Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Crown company that operates the huge atomic project, said no one was injured in the accident. However, the $57,000,000 reactor, which goes by the code name NRU, likely will shut down for three or four weeks.

French Police Seize U.S., London Papers

PARIS (AP) — French police seized today's issue of The London Daily Mail and the European edition of The New York Herald Tribune.

The information ministry said the seizure of The Herald Tribune was ordered because the paper printed remarks by the French naval commander in the Mediterranean, Admiral Philippe Auboyneau, that the navy supported the rebel group in Algeria.

The Daily Mail was seized when it arrived in Paris. No reason was given. Other London papers were distributed without interference.

The seizures were part of the government's campaign to keep from the public certain information pertaining to the spread of the Algerian revolt against Paris control. The government Sunday extended censorship to all news distributed in France, although there still is no censorship on outgoing news.

Tear Gas Attack On H-Bomb March

OXFORD, Eng. (AP) — A cloud of tear gas was discharged among 200 demonstrators setting out from here Sunday on an H-bomb protest march to a nearby U.S. Air Force base. The march went ahead, with a police escort. The tear gas thrower escaped.

GIRL FRIEND CUT UP, TOO

He Kissed His Car Goodbye

VANCOUVER — A kiss cost a young motorist his convertible Sunday. It also resulted in injuries to his girl companion.

Police said the youth admitted he was kissing his 16-year-old companion when the car skidded and plunged over a 25-foot embankment into Burarrd Inlet.

The girl was hurled from the auto as it shot over the bank. She was treated at hospital for shock and bruises. The driver, who stayed with the car, escaped injury but police said the vehicle was demolished.

A charge of driving while his licence was suspended will be laid against the youth, police said, and other charges are being considered.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

Impression

AFTERWARDS, Enid never could explain how she felt about the little town. For her, it had a dreamlike quality. Nothing and nobody in it seemed quite real. And yet every detail of her two days there staked in her mind with a clarity that was startling.

Years later, and a thousand miles away, she could see it all exactly—the wooden sidewalk by the dusty street, the deserted building with the windows boarded up like dead, blind eyes. In her mind, she could see the dim, cramped hall of the one hotel, the flight of narrow stairs, the naked light bulb on the landing, the bedroom with the crimson bedspread and the tattered blind with broken, knotted cord.

Ruth

Above all, she remembered the Anglican Church, white, square-towered and set on a corner at the top of the hill.

She found it on the Saturday afternoon when she was exploring.

Because the door was open, she went inside and noted the corn broom leaning against the wall of the inner porch, the stove wood neatly stacked beside the broom, and even a few splinters of wood as if someone had just carried in a load and hadn't had time to sweep them up.

Sunday school was at 10 a.m. every Sunday, she read on the notice board, and Matins at 11.

She'd go to Matins, Enid thought, taking a monthly letter to the parishioners from the box beside the row of hymn books.

There was no one near the church, however, when she went up for Matins a little early.

It was strange, Enid thought. But she could wait. So she took a hymn book and a prayer book, and settled herself in one of the honey-colored pews.

* * *

"Such a pretty little church," she said to herself. "So pretty and peaceful with the September sun shining in like this, and that golden poplar just outside the window. Its leaves make such lovely shifting shadows."

Still no one came, so, to pass the time, Enid looked up the numbers of the hymns. They were all evening hymns, she discovered as the sense of dreaming grew apace.

For 20 minutes more, she waited patiently. Then, abandoning hope, she put the books back on the shelf, and, feeling quiet but foolish, left the church.

The last service had been two years ago, she learned a little later. It was part of the town growing smaller as people gradually drifted away.

"But it had been such a lived-in feeling," said Enid. "The corn broom, the stove wood, the splinters, the letter to the parishioners, even the numbers of the hymns.

"Those evening hymns. Were they for the last service? It must have been so sad."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Free Rides in Britain

LONDON—Kids have had a fine old time having free car rides all over London—thanks to the bus strike.

It's the latest craze with youngsters to stand on a street corner and wait for a car to come along which has a Free Lifts sticker on the windshield. When they flag down a motorist they ask: "Where are you going, mister?" Whatever he replies, the kid says: "That's where I want to go."

Hop in, says the driver, and the boy gets a pleasant spin across London, to pull the same gag at the end of the trip and get another drive to some other part of the city.

* * *

Reyburn

In these long summer evenings after school the kids are having widespread jaunts all over London, to compare notes at school next day as to who has covered the biggest territory and done most mileage.

Statistics Dept.: England has 70,000 pubs—one for every 700 people.

Hitch: German actor Curt Jurgens, doing the final filming here of The Inn of the Sixth Happiness with Ingrid Bergman, is slated in Hollywood to play the name part in a film biography of rocket scientist Wernher von Braun. But the script deals only with Von Braun's U.S. Sputnik achievements.

Says Jurgens: "I want the film to cover Von Braun's life in Nazi Germany and his work on the V2. It would be wrong to continue the picture to his life in America."

Having in mind distribution of the film in Britain, where V2s are not a popular topic, the producers are holding things up until Jurgens can be convinced that that aspect should be soft-pedalled.

* * *

Free Holidays: If you're prepared to do a bit of work out in the open you can have free transport and expenses to one of a list of numerous buildings in various parts of England that need to be demolished.

Ashamed of the fact that there are still many unsightly wartime army camps, derelict airfield control towers, abandoned gun-sites, etc., to be seen all over the country, a group of people started a cheme whereby they are cleared by volunteer labor. Local borough councils pay the expenses and civil defence provides the picks and shovels.

Kay Kendall, after her big success in Les Girls, has snubbed many Hollywood offers, preferring to be in London while hubby Rex Harrison is occupied with My Fair Lady. But Gene Kelly, co-star with her in Les Girls, hopes to be reunited with her in his next movie, Four to Go. He'll make it in London if she'll take the part.

Beverley Nichols is in nostalgic mood in his new book, The Sweet and Twenties, which extolls the good old 1920s. Says he: "Unlike the 1950s, you could make money then and keep it. There was more gaiety, more color, more style, more room to expand and it was much easier to travel. The 1920s didn't clip the wings of personality."

Low Promises To Reveal Plans Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party, said today he expects to issue a statement shortly on his future plans.

"At the moment, I have nothing to say," he told a reporter.

A report last Wednesday from Raymond, Alta., said Mr. Low, defeated in the March 31 federal election in Peace River riding, would give up politics and return to Raymond to teach school. Officials said Mr. Low had been placed on staff for the term starting September 1.

Mr. Low, 58, has led the Social Credit party since 1944. He last taught school in 1935.

Victoria Artists Given Recognition

Local artists Mrs. Ina D. D. Uhthoff, Jan Zach, Herbert Siebner and William West have been awarded full membership in the British Columbia Society of Artists in recognition of their "exceptionally high" professional standards.

Mr. Siebner was one of four Canadians invited to exhibit paintings in an international print show now being held in Switzerland. As a result, he will be featured in a leading Paris art journal.

Divide Primulas Now or in Fall

It is unusual in gardening to be faced with a job which can be done as well later as now. Usually it is "now or never."

Hilda

With the various species of primula, division may take place either now or early in fall.

If a half-shady bed can be prepared now for their occupation during summer, the plants will have made new growth by the time we are ready to place them in fall.

On the other hand, if no suitable site is ready, allow them to remain where they have flowered, dividing them after the first fall rains.

The genus primula includes many of our garden favorites such as polyanthus primula, the primrose, auricula, the candelabra primula (which is still flowering and does not require the same treatment), and P. denticulata (the round-headed primula).

All enjoy soil richly humus, containing either leaf mould, rotted compost or old cow manure. This type of soil retains moisture during dry weather, yet remains well drained in winter.

Division is effected by lifting the plants and removing each crown with a few roots attached. They may be replanted about four inches apart each way if moving is to be done again in fall.

Some bone meal and blue whale added to heavier soils will improve them immensely.

It should be noted that Primula rosea, so popular three years ago, and the candelabra types, are practically bog plants, requiring more than half-shade and copious watering in our dry summers.

These facts probably account for their comparative rarity now.

Primula auricula, on the other hand, will tolerate fairly dry conditions after the plants are established and more sunshine than the other species.

CANADA'S BIGGEST

RCAF Shows Sub-Hunter

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The RCAF showed its new Argus CL-28 anti-submarine reconnaissance airplane, largest aircraft ever built in Canada, to aviation writers at the naval air station here today.

The plane has radar in its nose for detection of submarines on the surface, and a magnetic detector installation in the tail for locating submerged submarines.

A 148,000-pound giant, the plane is 128 feet long and has a wing span of 142 feet. It has a crew of 15, including three pilots, three navigators, two flight engineers and seven communications and electronics operators.

The ship has a range of more than 4,000 miles and a top speed of more than 330 miles an hour.

Group Capt. John Roberts, senior air staff officer at the RCAF Maritime Command headquarters in Halifax, said the Argus fills a gap in Canadian defence of North America with its ability to remain on anti-submarine patrol for eight to 10 hours.

The four-engined plane, a modification of the basic design of Britain's Bristol Britannia, is being built by Canadair Limited of Montreal.

C of C Calls For Higher Exemptions

OTTAWA (CP) — Exemption from death duties on estates should be increased to $50,000, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said today in a brief submitted to Finance Minister Fleming.

Proposed legislation introduced at the last session of Parliament called for a $30,000 exemption. The chamber said the minimum should be $50,000 and that it should be $60,000 when the dead person is survived by a spouse. There also should be an additional $10,000 for each surviving child.

Philip Shows Russ His Skill at Polo

WINDSOR, Eng. (AP) — Prince Philip put in a sharp polo performance Sunday before some Russian visitors. Members of the Moscow Arts Theatre Company, now playing in London, watched him score four goals and help Windsor Park defeat Friar Park by 11 to 5½.

Of all the cars made in North America, only two very high-priced cars and Rambler offer you the strength and safety of all-welded construction. Not little nuts and bolts holding frame, body and chassis together, but a solid, all-welded unit of steel — that's Rambler. The result? Greater strength, greater safety, no body squeaks and rattles, higher trade-in value—because of longer body life. Rambler also offers you the Best of Both — big-car room and comfort with small-car economy and handling ease. Either V-8 or 6, sedan or wagon, make it a Rambler. Just take a Rambler ride and see.

DON'T DITHER CANADIAN BOSSES TOLD

LONDON, Ont. (UPI) — Gerald G. Fisch, a business consultant, told a service club today that he wished Canadian executives were not "so agreeable," and lacking in initiative.

"Why do they phone the head office so often to make up their minds?" he wanted to know.

Fisch also said that the tendency to show an interest in things only after the Americans or some other group have "okayed" them "is not worthy of a great industrial national like Canada and does not make for executive leadership."

Final '56-57 Barley Payments Announced

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prairie barley producers May 28 will receive an average final payment of 6.28 cents per bushel from the Canadian Wheat Board on their 1956-57 crop, Trade Minister Gordon Churchill announced today.

In a statement to the House of Commons, Churchill said that the surplus for distribution in the barley pool when it closed May 9 was $7,570,416.35. Total delivery to the pool was 120,600,000 bushels, he added.

Mine Firms Settle With Claims Deal

VANCOUVER (CP) — Silbak Premier Mines, Ltd., has purchased 11 Premier Border Gold Mining Co. claims, Arthur E. Bryant, of London, England, Silbak president, announced Friday.

The claims purchased adjoin Silbak's previous 81 claims, 16 miles north of Stewart, at the head of the Portland Canal. Silbak Premier now has reserves of 149,396 tons.

Silbak had previously worked the Premier Border claims under various agreements. The purchase for $45,000, "cancels the existing agreement and settles all outstanding matters between the two companies," Mr Bryant said.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Spark Boost at Toronto

Industrials led the Toronto market narrowly higher today. A 1958 index high was set as they gained a quarter point.

There were fractional changes among oils and golds, but uraniums were outstanding among mines, some gaining half a point.

Rails and steels moved an advance at New York today, where trading was fairly active.

AT TORONTO volume at 2 p.m. was 1,797,000 shares, down from Friday's 2,445,800 at the same hour.

Toronto-Dominion gained ½ point at 44½. Steels were off.

Golds moved higher on the strength of gains made by Kerr Addison, Bralorne and Preston East Dome, however their gains were small.

Uraniums were outstanding among mines. Gaining to a ½ point were Algom, Consolidated Denison and Gunnar. Other mines were led by Falconbridge, Hudson Bay, Noranda and Mining Corporation.

Changes among western oils were fractional and the index appeared off on the basis of a ¾-point dip by Home Oil B.

Calgary and Edmonton, Canadian Husky and Pacific Pete were higher.

AT NEW YORK volume for the day was estimated at 2,500,000 shares compared with 2,570,- Friday.

Youngstown Sheet made the best showing, rising about two points. Illinois Central, Southern Railway and Baltimore & Ohio rose about a point each.

At noon, the Associated Press index of 60 stocks was 10 cents higher at $169.70.

In the Canadian list, International Nickel gained ⅛, Hudson Bay Mining ⅝, McIntyre Porcupine ¼ and Canadian Pacific ⅛. Lower were Aluminum Ltd., off ⅝, and Walker-Gooderham, ⅛ lower.

Most Canadian shares moved to the upside in American stock exchange dealings. Preston East Dome was up 7/16, Shawinigan ⅛, and Jupiter Oils, Sapphire Petroleums and Scurry-Rainbow Oil were fractional gainers. Small losses were taken by Brazilian Traction and Fargo Oil.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed in moderate early afternoon trading today on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Papers and banks were firmer with Howard Smith at 29 and Bank of Commerce at 47, each up ½. Royal Bank slipped ¼ to 60¼ and Abitibi went down ⅜ to 28.

Base metals and utilities were weaker with Aluminium easing ⅝ to 25⅝, while Brazilian Traction slipped ¼ to 6½.

Producing mines and western oils were mixed as Bailey Selburn slid 35 cents to 9.55 and Opemiska went down 15 cents to 8.15. Central Del Rio picked up 10 cents at 8.00 as Consolidated Dennison was at 16⅝, a gain of ⅜.

Speculative issues were down. Sullivan dropped eight cents to $1.75 but Rexspar was up 10 cents at 66.

Industrial volume was 61,300 shares, mines and oils 261,500.

AT LONDON the Stock Market and Metals Exchange, also the Liverpool Cotton Exchange and other financial institutions are closed today for the Whitsuntide holiday.

AT VANCOUVER a moderate market saw little change in prices during the forenoon.

Vantor sold 5,000 at $1.20. Craigmont traded 4,000 at $2.68. Skeena Copper moved 7,000 at 4. New Hamil traded 3,000 at 16.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Buying in all grains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today was prompted by disappointment in the light rainfall in western Canada grain regions during the weekend.

Flax responded to support from commission houses and international interests and offerings were relatively light.

Export business was quiet in all grains. Flax scored broad advances in active trading.

Lakehead prices for class two IWA and domestic wheat were all down ⅛ from Friday.

BURGLARS' BUNGLING

Licence issuing clerk Donna Gilbert, 2710 Estevan, sits amid a jumble of boxed licence plates knocked over by burglars who forced their way into Motor Vehicles Branch Sunday.

MONTE ROBERTS

Gather around, children, and this veteran reporter will give you a brief lesson in how not to report.

First, look on page 928 of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and discover that:

"The lignum vitae of commerce, so named on account of its high repute as a medicinal agent in past times, is procured from the guaiacum tree . . . on account of its hardness, density and durability it is much valued for the manufacture of ships' pulleys, rulers, skittle balls, mallets, etc."

Still with me, children? Now turn to page 90 of the Shorter Oxford English Dictionary, and learn that:

"Aqua-Vitae: a term of alchemy applied to unrectified alcohol; occasionally applied in commerce to ardent spirits of the first distillation; hence, any former of ardent spirits taken as a drink, as brandy, etc."

NOW turn to page 15 of last Friday's Times, and see the story this veteran reporter wrote about a job of work done here on the Italian freighter Achille:

"Repairs were effected," this veteran reporter wrote, "to the propeller shaft gland and aqua vitae bearing, without putting the ship in drydock."

Now, children, if you will continue to pay attention, I will let you know what happens when you report as above.

You get letters, that's what happens.

The mildest and most printable of which is this one, from A. L. C. Atkinson.

Mr. Atkinson is likely to know what he is talking about, he being the owner of a bachelor of science in naval architecture.

Writes Mr. Atkinson:

"I have often wondered what caused ships to 'limp into port'—as Ss Achille is reported to have done. Now I know. Friday's edition of the Times gives the information that her shaft gland had aqua vitae bearings.

"The slip 'twixt cup and lip is, of course, lignum vitae."

All right, children, run along and play now.

Burglar Pleads Guilty; Others Object of Hunt

Motor Vehicles Office Entered

One man pleaded guilty in city police court today and others are sought in connection with weekend burglaries at a downtown cafe and offices of provincial Motor Vehicles Branch.

William Pick, Albany Hotel, was arrested Sunday after breaking into Brand's Restaurant, 1009 Government, and taking $70 from a cash register overnight Saturday.

He was remanded for probation report and sentence to Friday.

Police said $30 was recovered.

Police said Pick got into the cafe by means of a skylight, then chopped a hole through a covered opening in a ceiling and lowered himself by a rope.

Fingerprints and bloodstains left at the scene after Pick cut himself getting in, led to his arrest.

NOTHING STOLEN

Persons who entered the Motor Vehicles Branch by way of a south side fire escape made a thorough search of main floor offices, opened filing cases, forced office doors and desk drawers, but apparently stole nothing.

Entry was discovered by a night watchman at about 12.35 a.m. today.

A window was smashed to unlock a door to the licence issuing office, where several money satchels were opened and found empty.

The driver testing office also was entered.

Express Firm Share Bought By R. Olson

Victoria car dealer and pioneer in western Canada motor transport, R. S. "Speed" Olson has bought an interest in Pacific Inland Express operating out of Vancouver, it was reported from Seattle today.

Mr. Olson and two Seattle trucking firms are named as purchasers in a $500,000 deal for the trucking firm.

Earlier this month, Mr. Olson sold his interests to his partner, Thomas B. Lumsden, in Olson Motors Ltd., on Yates at Cook. That deal was evaluated at "over $350,000."

According to The Seattle Times, Mr. Olson's partners in the Pacific Inland Express are Robert and Frank Whiting of Seattle of Fleetway Transport Inc., and Alvord and Walter Chandler of Seattle's Cement Distributors Inc.

'Powder Puff' Derby Winner Has No Nerves

By TONY DICKASON

When "Patricia" was a little girl she saved her allowance for airplane rides.

Today, in effect, she does the same thing.

Mrs. W. A. Russell, now an attractive 35, last year captured first place for private pilots in the All Women's Trans-Continental Air Race from coast to coast in the United States—commonly called the "Powder Puff Derby"—and at that time had her pilot's licence only two years!

She is visiting Victoria as sales education representative for a firm of beauty consultants.

CRAZY ABOUT IT

"I've always been crazy about flying. The interest was always there" said the housewife-pilot-executive of Grouse Point, Michigan.

Her husband has been a licenced pilot 11 years, "but in the last three years I've logged more hours than he has in the past 11"—more than 400.

This year she flies her third trans-continental race which starts July 4 from San Diego and ends in Charleston, South Carolina, a solid 2,500 miles away.

In last year's race she flew a Myers monoplane. "It has clipped wings, is built like a fighter, and is really hot. There were only 28 of this kind made."

Among her other high-flying activities, Mrs. Russell is chairman of the "99s"—a club for women pilots founded by the late great airwoman Amelia Earhart, lost on a Trans-Pacific flight in 1937.

When the club started there were only 100 women pilots in the U.S., and all were invited to New York. Of these, 99 showed up. Thus the club name, Mrs. Russell recalled.

Today there are more than 1,000 club members from all over the world.

After the last race, she got rid of the Myers and is flying Cessnas. She has also piloted a Thunderbird jet, which hits around 650 mph.

Ever nervous?

"I have no nerves."

Liquor Store Looters Get 2-Year Jail Term

Third Man Charged In Sidney Burglary

Two young Victoria men each were sentenced in Sidney RCMP court today to two years less a day in Oakalla jail when they pleaded guilty to theft of $1,750 worth of liquor from a government store Friday night.

They are Alyffe Adeyson Hulbert, 23, and Richard Verdier Rowlinson, 21, both of 327 Niagara.

A third man, John Thomas Pepler, 37, of 421 Kingston, was charged in city police court today with possession of the liquor and remanded without election or plea to Thursday.

Bail was set at $2,000.

CACHE DISCOVERED

Arrest of the men in Victoria at about noon Saturday followed a joint raid by city police uniform branch in plainclothes, city detectives and four members of the RCMP on Jack's Service Station at 2821 Douglas where the liquor was cached.

Besides 33 unopened cases of assorted liquor there were several single bottles found inside the garage.

All were stolen overnight Friday from the government liquor store at Sidney.

Police said a window was smashed to gain entrance to the building, on Second Street.

ENTERED THREE TIMES

The men entered the premises three times before completing their raid and carried the liquor away in a car.

Chief constable John Blackstock said an investigation was carried on through the night before the police raid was made Saturday forenoon.

He said an investigation on the case is continuing.

MAP GONE—NO PHONES

'Lost' Sailors Turned Up Safe

By DAVID COWLISHAW

"We got the wrong directions," Al Reynolds wailed today. "They told us to turn right, when they should have said left. We didn't get lost. We were misled."

And thereon hangs a tale, a rollicking sea yarn of two Victoria men in a boat at the mercy not of wind and wave but of a map that blew overboard—and the members of the U.S. Coast Guard at Friday Harbor. That's Reynolds' story, anyway, and he says he's sticking to it.

RESCUERS BUSY

The men "disappeared" Saturday, showed up Sunday. By that time several rescue agencies were in on the hunt, including the RCAF, the air-sea-rescue co-ordination centre in Vancouver, a U.S. Coast Guard patrol boat and two Coast Guard aircraft.

The whole sorry business began when Reynolds, 46, 736 Transit, and business associate 54-year-old Frank Mawdsley, 3697 Craigmillar, set out from Oak Bay boathouse at noon Saturday in Reynolds' 14-foot boat Orral C with 25-HP outboard motor bound for Orcas Island in Washington waters.

Their mission was to visit Mawdsley's aunt on the island who had recently suffered a heart attack.

They made it to Friday Harbor all right, but there, said Reynolds today, they got a "bum steer."

"We asked the U.S. Coast Guard the way to Orcas. They said turn right and follow the channel. Well, we did just that but after an hour we found we were going the wrong way, so turned around and came back."

Back to Friday Harbor where they refueled.

Then on to Orcas.

CALL FOR HELP

But again they didn't make it. They lost their map and put in at nearby Lopez Island for help.

"A boat at Lopez gave us the right directions at last," Reynolds went on, "but when we got to Orcas we went up the wrong side of the island—East Sound instead of West Sound—and it was nearly midnight before we rounded the island and tied up."

Back in Oak Bay, Reynolds' 18-year-old son, Craig, came home at 1 a.m. Sunday, saw his father was not home and called Oak Bay police who set off the search that included RCAF and U.S. planes.

Meanwhile on Orcas, Mawdsley found the phones were out of order, "so we couldn't contact our families to tell them we were delayed and would be staying on the island overnight."

HUNT CALLED OFF

When no word was heard from the pair by late Sunday morning, their descriptions were broadcast on Victoria radio stations. At this time on Orcas the boatmen were preparing to leave for the voyage back to Oak Bay, where they arrived early Sunday afternoon and the hunt called off.

Reynolds, partner in the Victoria auto accessory wholesale firm of Reynolds, Colgate and Barbour Ltd., 1128 Vancouver, and Mawdsley, an employee of the company, were back at work this morning.

Said Reynolds, "Next time I'll take a supply of maps with me and a better compass than the $2.19 one we were using. Also, we won't even talk to the U.S. Coast Guard."

Premier to Leave For Prince George

Premier W. A. C. Bennett leaves Victoria tonight for Prince George where he will open a new government building Wednesday. He will return Thursday, travelling both ways by PGE.

'NEAR-PERFECT RECORD'

Times Carrier Boy Wins 'Dream Trip' to Britain

Ken O'Coffey, 14-year-old Times carrier of 1333 Balmoral Street, has won a place in a "dream trip" to the United Kingdom this summer for outstanding newspaper boys.

Ken, a student of Central Junior High School, will join 44 other carriers from coast to coast in a three-week tour of Britain, under the sponsorship of the Times and Weekend Magazine.

KEN O'COFFEY
. . . one among 400

Young O'Coffey was selected, according to circulation director Stewart Kidd of Victoria Press for "sustained good service and a near-perfect record" of deliveries over the past three years.

During this time he won a Grand Sales Champion Award, from a field of 400 newspaperboys. His polite manner has been highly praised by customers along his route and the business affairs of his work have been kept at top-line throughout.

The trip is made available, on an all-expenses-paid basis, through the co-operation of the Times, Weekend Magazine and Trans-Canada Airlines.

Chaperones for the trip will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Middleton of Hamilton, Ont. Mr. Middleton is circulation director of the Hamilton Spectator.

In addition, adult supervisors from other papers carrying the Weekend supplement will make the trip, which leaves Montreal by air July 5.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Traffic was delayed today for a short period on Douglas Street north of the Roundabout as a Heaney Ltd. truck moved a house from the 900 block, Johnson Street, to Langford. A second is due to be moved "Thursday or Friday."

The two houses at the rear of Gibson's Bowling Alleys are being moved to make room for a parking lot.

Old Car Cavalcade Draws Cheer From Big Crowd on Arrival Here

Still rarin' to go after province tour, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Foster's 1912 Ford was "star" of caravan.

By PETE LOUDON

The capital city reception for the 20 surviving vintage cars of the centennial trans-provincial caravan threatened to shake some of them loose from their haywire Saturday night.

Despite a long wait while the old cars formed up for a triumphal entry, residents of Victoria tried to out-cheer the rest of the province.

Later, at a Dominion Hotel banquet, centennial, civic and provincial government representatives congratulated drivers and co-drivers. Completion of the 840-mile endurance run by 10 of the 13 cars which started at Fernie last Monday was hailed as a masterpiece of navigation and mechanical aptitude.

Most of the Island cars entered in the run arrived in as good shape as they left. Although a Vancouver 1904 Cadillac entered by Quinton McAdam finished in tow.

Two Victoria drivers, W. A. "Bud" and Betty Buchan, who piloted a 1926 Cadillac for N. R. Morrison, 2157 Lansdowne, gathered their buddies of the local "Betts and Her Buddies" songster group and staged a wind-up show for the drivers.

Residents of Fernie sent a yard-long telegram of congratulations to drivers of Fernie cars. A Fernie fir tree and a message from Fernie Mayor James White to Mayor Percy Scurrah were delivered. Victoria Kinsmen plan to plant the Fernie tree in Gorge Park this week.

Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Cedar, Crofton, Duncan and other Island way points, provided loud welcomes as the old cars rolled to Victoria. They met the drivers with flowers, refreshments and a snappy show by Duncan Majorettes.

Taking part in welcoming ceremonies here were Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mayor Percy Scurrah, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt, B.C. Centennial chairman L. J. Wallace and Greater Victoria centennial chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

Sunday the old cars began to spread out again across B.C. on the homeward trek.

Certificates of merit and mounted commemorative crests will be forwarded to them.

Home-going expenses are being met by B.C. Centennial Committee.

Like to Try Lime Flower Tea? . . . It's Available Here

By PENNY SAVER

Ever heard of lime flower tea? Neither had I until today when I stumbled over a clue that led me straight to the counter that sold the superb treat. Clue of course was a delicate aroma floating around the envelope containers. It was the scent of lime flowers.

• I've tried this delectable beverage . . . why don't you? Place one tablespoon of lime flowers in a cup, scald quickly with desired amount of boiling water, and there you have a tasty cup of lime flower tea! Envelopes of the tea are 17 cents each.

Peppermint tea is another beverage delicacy on my list. Spiced with strong peppermint herbs and sugar, this envelope of special type tea is prepared in the same manner as China tea. The stronger you like it, the more peppermint leaves. It's priced at 25 cents a package.

★ ★ ★

Lovely for the afternoon tea hour is the rare camellia tea. This type is unsurpassed in its mild flavor and goes well with tiny tea-time dainties and cakes. The price tag on this envelope also reads 17 cents.

★ ★ ★

Salami sausage, roast beef, hard boiled eggs and ham are a few of the ingredients combined in the European meat salad, I've found. A scrumptious and interesting salad at 40 cents a pound. Why not add it to your warm-evening meals?

★ ★ ★

Who likes goat's milk? Don't turn up your nose and say, "Heavens no!" Goat's milk is terrifically nutritious and "good" for you! Especially fine too, when it's churned up into the goat's milk cheese I found today. It's selling at $1.35 a pound.

★ ★ ★

Do you like chestnuts in poultry dressing? I discovered a shop that has these large, dried chestnuts (they only need to be soaked overnight) selling now at 60 cents a pound.

Pick up the phone and ask for Penny. My number is 2-3131. I'll tell you where to shop!

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Sudden death creates wedding problem:

Instead of having separate reception cards for my wedding, as I should have done, I had the printer put in the lower left-hand corner of the wedding invitation, "Dinner immediately following." My fiance's father died suddenly yesterday. We are going ahead with the wedding in a month as planned, but are calling off the dinner. Rather than scrap the invitations, is there any way I can state that the dinner will not take place? Could I draw a line through it?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis answers:

To those who may not know of the death, it might look very strange to see a line drawn through the phrase. It might be implied that you decided not to invite them to the dinner after all. If the inscription is very near the lower edge, try trimming off the strip. If the invitation seems to be balanced even fairly well, perhaps the printer can cut the rest of them for you. This would create a problem for the envelopes, for there would be a misfit. But it is worth experimenting. If that is not feasible, then on a small card or notepaper, write by hand, "Owing to the sudden death of Mr. Smith's father, invitations to the dinner are being cancelled."

Vows Spoken On Mainland

In a Friday evening ceremony in the Anglican Church of St. Mary the Virgin, New Westminster, Miss Elaine Gherasim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gherasim, of Lipton, Sask., became the bride of Robert James Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, of New Westminster, and formerly of Victoria.

Rev. John Bishop performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by Richard Patterson, in the absence of her father, the bride wore an afternoon-length dress in sheath style. The dotted Swiss organdy gown was posed over taffeta and featured a Sabrina neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. From a white taffeta cummerbund the bouffant skirt billowed to the hem and was caught up in an harem effect. Her short chapel-length veil was held by a close-fitting headdress covered with white dotted Swiss trimmed with sequins. She carried a white prayer book topped with a single orchid surrounded by lily of the valley.

Miss Myrtle Davies, of Mission City, B.C., was maid of honor in a sheath style gown of taffeta in apple green shade. It was topped with a silk organza in a softly-draped style. Her headband was in matching fabric and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

Best man was Gordon Hendricks. Roy Stewart and Bill Lord ushered. Richard H. Smith proposed a toast at the reception held in the church hall following the service.

For a wedding trip to Montreal and New York, the bride wore a beige-toned cashmere suit with matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. The couple will live in New Westminster when they return.

B.C. House Reception

Mr. G. S. Gibson, deputy agent-general for British Columbia, held a reception in British Columbia House last week in honor of guests from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba who travelled to London on the pre-inaugural flight of Trans-Canada Air Lines, marking the establishment of their western Canada-London service.

Included amongst the guests at the reception to meet this party were Mr. Sydney D. Pierce, deputy high commissioner for Canada; Mr. W. L. Garven, district sales manager of Trans-Canada Air Lines, London; Mr. Harry Arkle, European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; Mr. J. C. Kenkel, European general manager of the Canadian National Railways; Mr. G. C. Edgett, U.K. representative of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association; Mr. Ross Hanbury, Wood, Gundy & Co., Ltd., London; Mr. H. Leslie Brown, minister (commercial), Canada House; Mr. Jack Stepler, Southam Newspapers of Canada; Mr. A. D. Harper, manager, Bank of Montreal, London.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There Are Many 'Yous'— Highlight Attractive Ones

Every woman is many women. The range of personalities in one woman is amazing. Sometimes she is gay, sometimes sad, hectic, fascinating. Sometimes she takes nothing seriously while at others she seems to have the weight of the world on her shoulders. Every woman is commonplace with a pail of mop water in her hand or when in a dentist's chair. The mood, the setting and the background of the day, make the difference.

I am sure that you have often been surprised to see one whom you had thought of as dull suddenly bloom forth into another creature in the light of a personal interest or warm praise. We all respond to psychological as well as physical atmosphere.

Regardless of the variety of personalities latent in each person we all have our typical characteristics which make us stand out as individuals, which set us apart from the crowd. Every woman has an unforgettable self, that inner you which has been brought to the surface by some special mood or set of circumstances, that passing moment which created a facet in your personality that never will be forgotten by those who love you.

We would all do well to highlight our most attractive selves and hold the unattractive ones down with self-discipline. However, variety is one of the most magnetic things about a person. The feeling that there are unknown qualities to be discovered about another makes him or her eternally intriguing. A change of pace in personality is always refreshing.

Perhaps getting into a rut is the thing we women have to fight. We are responsible for so much daily routine that we are likely to allow our many selves to become buried in one outlook, and often it is a hectic outlook.

It is difficult to avoid triteness in personality and to keep the large, exciting view when we are involved in doing the same things day after day and in seeing the same people day after day. It takes real thought and effort if we are to succeed in highlighting our most attractive selves.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Grace and Charm" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 57. Address Josephine Loman in care of this newspaper.

Clubwomen's News

Reports—At a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, No. 31, the president, Mrs. L. Harling, gave a report on the recent convention at Trail, and Mrs. M. Trace reported on the district council meeting at Sooke. Mrs. Grace Longworth was initiated into membership and plans were completed for a Rose Tea in the clubrooms, 625 Courtney Street, on June 6 at 2 p.m. Mrs. A. Ball is convener and there will be a door prize and home cooking stall. Tentative plans were also made for a fall bazaar in November.

Coffee Party — Plans were completed at a meeting of the auxiliary to Victorian Order of Nurses for a coffee party at the home of Mrs. H. A. Smith, 2770 Thorpe Place, on June 7 at 11 a.m. Mrs. Marg Baylis and Mrs. K. Cupples were welcomed as new members and Mrs. J. C. Cox reported on the annual provincial meeting of the VON in Vancouver. The meeting was held at the Sonria Place home of Mrs. W. Graham.

Officers Named — Mrs. E. L. Nixon was named president of the Diocesan Mother's Union of the Anglican Church at a recent meeting. Also elected to office were Mrs. P. Oliver, vice-president; Mrs. P. Clewes, secretary; Mrs. K. Guyatt, treasurer; Mrs. M. Hawkins, publicity; Mrs. P. Kimmerley, literary secretary; Mrs. E. Harmston, Link secretary; Mrs. G. McGregor, GMPC secretary and Mrs. A. Doncaster, organizing secretary. Also named were Mrs. S. H. Brake, honorary president and Mrs. D. Blyth, honorary vice-president.

Literacy — Miss Isabel Brandon, speaking at meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society, James Bay United Church, on the study book "Japan," told her audience that 98 per cent of the Japanese people are literate, the result of compulsory education. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ernest MacGinnis.

Do You Love Him Enough?

If you do, you can accept your husband for what he is. Whatever his faults and failures, your marriage can remain secure. But how can a wife respect . . . and still love . . . an immature man?

In June Chatelaine, Dr. Marion Hilliard, the famous Canadian obstetrician, shows you how it can be done. You can't expect your husband to love you just because you're a good wife. Life is not like that. If you can learn to adjust your own ideas, you'll find a truer, deeper love. Be sure you read her frank advice in June Chatelaine. On sale at all newsstands, only 20c. Top Safety Award To Plywood Plant

The Victoria plywood division of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. was rated the province's most safety-conscious plant in award ceremonies at the plant Saturday.

The plant won six awards, presented to T. E. Burgess, company vice-president. Most notable was a National Safety Council certificate for a safety record in 1957 that was surpassed by only two other plywood plants of similar size in North America.

Other presentations from the Workmen's Compensation Board, the B.C. Safety Council and the Plywood Manufacturers' Association of B.C., honored the plywood plant's record of almost 1,150,000 man hours of accident-free operation.

DR. COLIN ALLEN
. . . helps disabled

DOCTOR HOLDS OUT HOPE

Within 20 Years Cripples Will Work

Within 20 years the majority of the world's cripples will be actively employed—and their employment will be "universally accepted," an orthopedic surgeon from South Africa said here on the weekend.

Meanwhile there is only a "ray of hope" for breadwinners struck down by a crippling disease, said Dr. Colin E. L. Allen.

A professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Capetown, the doctor is visiting Victoria on the last lap of a two-month tour of orthopedic centres in Canada, the United States, Scandinavian countries and England.

His trip is sposored by the National Council for the Care of Cripples of South Africa.

"I am trying to get as close as I can to organizations working with cripples to study their techniques," Dr. Allen said. He met orthopedic surgeons here over the weekend.

The doctor believes that industrialists are "slowly becoming more and more aware of the importance of rehabilitating the disabled"—if only to offset the shortage of manpower in many countries.

"The loss of manpower in the world through crippling diseases is fantastic," he said.

Dr. Allen left today to attend a convention of the International Society for the Welfare of Cripples in Brussels, before returning to Capetown June 21.

While in the United States he attended the Congress of the American College of Surgeons in New York and another for English-speaking orthopedic surgeons in Washington, D.C.

Dead Baby Kept In Trunk 11 Years

NEW BOSTON, Tex. (AP)—A former United States Army nurse was held for murder today in the death of a baby whose body police said was kept in a trunk for 11 years.

Sheriff W. J. Watlington laid a murder charge late Sunday against auburn-haired Mrs. Rose Powers, 46.

The sheriff quoted her as telling police she bore the child illegitimately 11 years ago. She said her only explanation for keeping the body was "I just couldn't bear to get rid of it."

Watlington said her husband, Elburn Powers, 42, called police after discovering the body in his wife's steel foot locker Saturday night.

He said the partly decomposed body, packed amid clothing with a preservative powder, was surprisingly well preserved.

CIVIL SERVICE VENUE MOVES TO NANAIMO

Future annual meetings of the Vancouver Island section of the B.C. Government Employees' Association will be held in Nanaimo, instead of Victoria.

The decision was reached wen only 40 out of 200 expected arrived Saturday for a meeting here in the Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, hall.

Nanaimo president Dave Block said Comox and Alberni members would have come if the meet had been in Nanaimo. Surplus refreshments were donated to the Protestant Orphanage.

Cree Indian Starts Evangelistic Drive

A 23-year-old Cree Indian from Norway House, Man., today launched a United Church evangelistic mission that will reach more than 1,300 Indians on Vancouver Island.

Dulas Robertson will be preaching the gospel for the first time. He graduated a few days ago from a three-year theological course at Cooke's Christian Training School, Phoenix, Ariz.

He will be accompanied on the three-week mission by song leader Peter Challoner, 25, who last week was accepted by Victoria presbytery as a candidate for the United Church ministry.

Mr. Robertson was converted to Christianity by Rev. A. I. Avery, now of St. Aidan's United Church here. He preached in Mr. Avery's church Sunday morning and, in his honor, the choir sang two anthems in Cree.

The mission was to open today at Cape Mudge and continue southward. At its close, Mr. Robertson will take charge of a full-time Indian pastorate in northern Manitoba.

354-Day Strike Ended

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Six workers were scheduled to return to jobs at Canada Vitrified Products, Limited, today, marking the end of a 354-day strike.

Mayor J. M. Stirling announced the settlement between the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and the company. The strike began when 42 employees walked out June 6, 1957.

The rest of the employees are to be taken back as soon as full production is reached under terms of a new one-year agreement.

The strike was one of the longest and most bitter in this city's history. There were at least three major outbreaks of violence, at least eight men injured in rock-throwing incidents, burned fields, slashed truck tires, constant picketing, a restraining court injunction and a $25,000 fine at the main plant.

Union officials said the agreement assures wage increases of 5 to 30 cents an hour, reinstatement of strikers and assurance that all pending damage suits will be dropped by the company.

Top Canadian Officer Killed In Israel Clash

JERUSALEM (CP)—Lieut.-Col. George Flint, Canadian chairman of the UN mixed armistice commission, and two Israeli policemen were reported killed today after a clash between Israeli and Jordan forces in the Mount Scopus area.

Flint, from Outremont, Que., was the highest UN official killed in the Israeli-Arab conflicts since the assassination of Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte in September, 1948.

Military sources here said Flint was hit when attempting to arrange for a cease-fire and removal of the wounded following a flareup between Israel and Jordan forces, and bled to death from his wounds. He was lying in the open, under fire from Jordanian snipers.

FIRED ON POLICE

An Israeli army spokesman said two other Israeli police were wounded in the clash. He said it began when Jordanians fired on Israeli police.

The spokesman said his information was based on reports from the Mount Scopus area, separated from the Jerusalem sector of Israel by a stretch of Jordanian territory.

TRUCE VIOLATED

The bodies were being taken away under UN supervision, he said.

The Israeli spokesman said the Jordanian troops violated a cease-fire arrangement negotiated by UN truce supervisors by continuing to shoot after the deadline set for 3.30 p.m.

VANDVOORT, Netherlands (AP) — Britain's Stirling Moss, crown prince of auto racing, today led all the way to win the Dutch Grand Prix in a Vanwall. He won the race by almost a lap over American Harry Schell.

$10,000 Bail Set

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bail was set at $10,000 today for a man charged with the possession of 100 capsules of heroin for the purpose of drug trafficking.

The prosecution alleges Aaron Posner, 45, masterminded a drug marketing operation with Eugene Goodrich, with whom he is jointly charged.

Boyd Tries Escape

KINGSTON, Ont. (UPI)—Extra security precautions were imposed today on Edwin Alonzo Boyd, Canada's most notorious bank bandit, after he was reported to have attempted a break from Kingston Penitentiary.

It was reliably learned that Boyd had started to hack at the bars of his cell window.

Dag Cancels Trip

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold cancelled a trip to Minneapolis today because of the critical situation in North Africa and the Middle East.

Hammarskjold had planned to address the 10th anniversary meeting of the World Health Organization tonight.

Arabs Meeting

CAIRO, Egypt (Reuters)—The nine-nation Arab League held an emergency session today for an eleventh-hour attempt to settle the dispute between two of its members—Lebanon and the United Arab Republic — which underlies the present political crisis in Lebanon.

DEAN OFFERS LABOR STRIFE PEACE PRAYER

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral offered a "prayer for the easement of labor strife" in his church on Sunday.

The Dean read the following supplication:

"O God who hast ordained that men live and work together as brethern, we humbly beseech Thee to put away all strife between those who are engaged in the labors of industry and those who employ their labor. Grant that all, seeking only that which is just and equitable, may ever continue in unity and concord, to Thy glory, their own well-being, and the prosperity of this Dominion; through Jesus Christ Our Lord, Amen."

Bonus Cheques To Pay Sommers Eversfield Says

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accountant Charles Eversfield continued today to recount how money was allegedly passed to former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers who now is involved in a 38-count indictment of bribery and conspiracy.

Testifying before an assize court jury of nine men and three women, Eversfield mentioned sums of $4,666 and two sums of $1,875 apiece. He said the $4,666 represented two-thirds of $7,000 and had been requisitioned from the C. D. Schultz Company Limited by Pacific Coast Services Limited where he was formerly bookkeeper.

He said that in August, 1954, H. W. Gray, his former boss and now one of the accused, had said he wanted to get money to Sommers and suggested that Eversfield draw a bonus cheque under his own name. The accountant said he refused to do this and that Gray finally informed him that two bonus cheques of $1,875 each were to be drawn over the names of John Gray and another company official, S. W. Armitage.

Eversfield testified that Gray told him that this money was to go to Sommers.

Under the examination of assistant prosecutor Stewart McMorran, Eversfield twice took documents to the jury and explained them directly. At one point Schultz' counsel, Alfred Bull, objected to this procedure but was rather sharply overruled by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

NURSING HOME FIRE CLAIMS FOUR VICTIMS

TORONTO (CP)—Two elderly men died in hospital today raising the death toll in a pre-dawn nursing home fire to four. Frank Cooper, 71, and John Black, 75, died of smoke poisoning six hours after they were rescued from the west-end Craig Nursing Home. (See earlier story, page 3.)

VICTORIA'S CONEY ISLAND

Sunday early proved itself to be a day of sun, and people started flocking to wide expanses of Willows Beach in mid-morning. By 3.30 p.m. sands were crowded. Temperatures reached mid-70s, tempered by light sea breeze. Visitors covered not only shore of arc of beach, but filled grassy area by Oak Bay Kiwanis Club concession. Volunteer concession workers said beach was busiest seen so far this year.

Kootenay Bus Depot Bombed

NELSON (CP)—The Sabbath stillness was shattered here Sunday as for the third time in the last six months parts of the West Kootenay area rocked to terrorist bombings.

Windows and doors were smashed and inside walls torn when an explosion ripped through the Greyhound bus terminal about 3.30 a.m. A number of power poles in widely separated areas were blasted.

No one was injured.

This district, about 250 miles due east of Vancouver, is the home of a large number of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, who have been blamed for similar incidents in the past.

A portion of a natural gas pipeline was blown up in December. About the same time power poles near Trail were blasted.

In mid-January a section of CPR track was destroyed. A week before bombs were discovered in three movie theatres in the area and buried beneath giant 200-foot power poles.

Police said all Sunday's explosions were set off by time bombs.

Mayor T. S. Shorthouse of Nelson was en route to Victoria today to urge Attorney-General Robert Bonner to take action.

At the bus terminal a steel baggage locker, in which the bomb was planted, was ripped apart. Large holes were torn in the wall of an adjoining cafe and dishes and utensils were smashed.

The power poles were bombed at Tarrys, 18 miles southwest of here, at nearby Crescent Valley, and 15 miles west of Rossland.

The West Kootenay Power Company's feeder line to the public utilities commission plant at Whatshan Lake was cut for several hours following the blast at 1.25 a.m.

Provincial secretary W. E. Black, acting attorney-general while Mr. Bonner is in Europe, will meet Nelson mayor Shorthouse on the matter of the bombings.

"I will be glad to meet with him too," said Premier Bennett. "If necessary we'll ask the federal government to accept some responsibility. The federal government originated the situation," the premier stated.

PART FOREST CLOSURE RULED BY GOVERNMENT

A restricted industrial forest closure, brought on by unseasonably warm weather of the past two weeks, was ordered today by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston for the whole of the Vancouver Forest District, to be effective at midnight.

Under provisions of the closure, no industrial operation such as logging, sawmilling, mining, construction or road clearing can be conducted within one-half mile of a forest or woodland except between the hours of midnight and 1 p.m.

It will mean the hated "early shift" for all loggers.

Deputy forests minister Dr. C. D. Orchard, speaking on behalf of the minister, said "this closure action is imperative because of the consistently high forest fire hazard in the Vancouver district, and the meteorological forecasts indicating that no real relief can be expected in the immediate future."

The forests are still open for recreational purposes, but Dr. Orchard cautioned that everyone entering the woods should exercise extreme care with fire.

New Bid to Avert Black Ball Strike

New talks will be held Tuesday at Vancouver in an attempt to head off a strike threat against Black Ball Ferries Ltd.

Richard Greaves, secretary of the National Association of Marine Engineers, said today negotiating committees of three unions will meet with the company to try and reach a settlement of pay disputes.

The engineers, Seafarers' International Union and Canadian Merchants Service Guild of licenced officers, have voted to strike against Black Ball but none has set a deadline for the walkouts.

Mr. Greaves said his association also will meet with the CPR Tuesday to re-open negotiations after weekend balloting among 97 members resulted in an 87 per cent vote to strike against the company.

The 10-ship Princess fleet already has been tied up 10 days by an SIU strike of 350 seamen.

The idled CPR engineers seek wage increases of 19 per cent spread over two years plus a $26 monthly cost of living bonus.

Similar demands have been made for some 40 engineers employed by Black Ball. Current pay ranges between $370 and $485.

An SIU meeting tonight will decide whether the seamen will accept an appeal by Victoria city council to agree to arbitration of their strike for reduced wage increases averaging 25 per cent.

However, Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent in Vancouver, said he doubted that the Union membership would agree to arbitration.

CPR vice-president J. N. Fraine said his company would be willing to accept arbitration if conducted by a Supreme Court judge. He added that the arbitration would have to apply for all three groups involved in the pay dispute.

Mayor Percy Scurrah today finally received a reply from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker to his continuous appeals for government action.

Six Rescuers Lured to Death As Tot Drowned

ROCKPORT, Tex. (AP) — Struggles of a drowning child drew 10 rescuers off a sunny beach late Sunday and seven persons perished, including the little girl the others tried to save.

Drowned were the little girl, a United States Air Force chaplain, the little girl's mother and four other children.

The tragic sequence started after Janice Bailey, nine, stepped into a deep hole off the small public beach opposite this Texas port on the Gulf of Mexico.

Chaplain Leonard Berry, 40, dived in.

The father of another child, who also drowned, and Janice's mother, Mrs. Mary Bailey, 26, followed. Efforts to help were made by seven other children, including the four who went down.

Wayne Bailey, an airman from Foster Air Force Base at neighboring Victoria, Tex., was in the crowd of more than 3,000 persons who saw the bodies of his wife and daughter pulled from the water.

Rockport Fire Chief Dick Fox identified these other dead:

David Curby, 7; Margarita Torres, 11, and Aurelia Tomas, 10.

Joining in the vain rescue attempt was Concepcion Tomas, who saw a little girl thrashing in the water and dashed from his parked car. He arrived too late to reach Janice or his own daughter.

Resuscitation efforts were fruitless.

Fox said 30 emergency corpsmen, swimming or in boats, joined in the rescue attempts. Twenty others aided on the beach with a respirator.

Regime on Rocks; Reds Call Strike

PARIS (Reuters)—Radical Deputy Charles Hernu told the National Assembly Monday night that he understands President Rene Coty, Premier Pierre Pflimlin and General de Gaulle "are in conference at the present moment."

De Gaulle drove swiftly away from his hideaway at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises, 150 miles southeast of Paris. Several hours earlier it had been learned de Gaulle offered through an intermediary Sunday night to consult with Pflimlin over means to save the republic.

Pflimlin's answer was not yet known.

Pflimlin's power appeared to be slipping, however.

After his National Assembly call for unity today he was applauded by only the centre half of the deputies.

The reticence of the rightists and the Communists to endorse Pflimlin's view of a well-planned plot against the republic was significant.

Leaders of the powerful Conservative party said they will ask President Rene Coty to call a meeting of all non-Communist party leaders to consider the formation of a de Gaulle government.

Conservatives said the meeting would be held "if possible with Gen. de Gaulle."

"The passion for national unity and the existence of General de Gaulle" were the only chances left to France, Gaullist Senator Michael Debre said.

Meanwhile, the Communist-controlled General Confederation of Labor ordered its members out on strike Tuesday to protest the possible return of de Gaulle to power. The announcement did not say how long the strike would continue.

TUNIS: Demonstrators Demand French Ouster

TUNIS, Tunisia—Tunisian demonstrators streamed into sun-baked street today demanding anew that French forces get out of this North African country.

Their protests were sparked by renewed weekend fighting between French and Tunisian troops in Remada, in the southern Tunisian desert. The fighting there had stopped today.

Demonstrations in Tunis carried over from Sunday. There were more reported in Bizerte and the olive-growing sections of Tozeur and Deggache in south central Tunisia. The demonstrations were vociferous but orderly.

President Habib Bourguiba was scheduled to make another radio broadcast to his people later in the day. He declared a state of emergency for all Tunisia Sunday after fighting at Remada swelled. French planes bombed and strafed Tunisian positions 25 miles north of Remada.

Five French soldiers were killed and 14 wounded as the French military command at Remada tried to break through Tunisian roadblocks.

Fighting at Gafsa in central Tunisia also was reported to have ceased after Tunisian troops fired on planes landing on a French airstrip.

ALGIERS: Warships Leave NATO Exercise

ALGIERS—Seventeen French warships have cut short their participation in the current NATO Mediterranean naval exercise to sail for the ports of mutinous Algeria on "routine" visits, French fleet sources said today.

The sources said the vessels would skip the closing review of the exercise in Malta Tuesday. Instead, they will head back to the southern France naval base of Toulon—calling on the way at the Algerian ports of Bone, Philippeville and Bougie. They are not planning a call at Algiers, centre of the civilian-military insurgent moves.

Although the fleet headquarters sources here termed the visits as a "routine movement," no such calls had been announced previously.

The sources clearly meant, however, that the move should not be construed as an indication the ships were coming to Algeria to bolster the cause of the dissident generals and civilians.

CORSICA: Insurgents Solidly in Control

AJACCIO, Corsica — Thousands of Corsicans today marched through the flag-decked streets of this insurgent capital to hail emissaries from the rebellious Algeria junta.

This French island, which Saturday night staged a bloodless coup d'etat, was solidly under control of public committees supported by the tommy-guns of French paratroopers.

Special riot police, ordered here from metropolitan France to deal with the insurgents, basked idly under the hot Mediterranean sun or joined the anti-Paris demonstrations.

Residents of the capital city of Ajaccio—birthplace of Napoleon Bonaparte—massed in front of the two-storey prefecture and loudly cheered representatives of the Algerian movement who flew here in French air force planes to consolidate the takeover on Corsica.

There was no sign of dissension anywhere. The island has been virtually cut off from the outside world on which it depends heavily for food and other supplies. A warning was published against any hoarding or black marketing but there was no sign that either has begun. Restaurants had full menus and shops were well stocked.

branches of industry belong to the confederation.

The Socialist Force Ouvriere and the non-Communist General Confederation of Labor, which broke away from the main body several years ago, summoned their joint executive committee into special session. A spokesman said the committee also was in touch with the Christian Trade Union Federation, another non-Communist group.

The joint committee called on members to "oppose subversion . . . and aid legitimate authorities to the maximum."

This raised the possibility the workers would try to seize arms if rightist mobs took to the streets in support of de Gaulle.

Pflimlin told the Assembly there had been "no justification and no excuse" for the military-led seizure of power in Corsica.

He said the government has already increased its security measures to prevent spread of the pro-Gaullist insurgency to the French mainland.

"The government will use with inflexible vigor all the means it has against any who rise from any side against the law," he declared. "But security forces are not enough to save our threatened freedoms. The nation as a whole must do its duty."

Pflimlin said civil war threatens and called on all Frenchmen to defend their basic liberties.

"The danger threatening us is that of civil war," he told the deputies.

"Our liberties are at stake."

OUT OF SUPPLIES

Striving to stem the tide of revolt, the government:

1. Cut off communications and supplies to the insurrectionists who consolidated their control of Corsica with Algeria-type public safety committees. Rebel leaders in Algiers said they would funnel supplies to the Mediterranean island's 140,008 people.

2. Extended censorship to all news distributed in France — whether from French territories or from abroad.

3. Announced government officials and military personnel who took part in the Corsica uprising would be fined and jailed.

4. Asked the Assembly to order expulsion from Parliament of any deputy who works against the unity of the republic. The bill was aimed at Corsican deputy Pascal Arrighi, who helped direct paratroopers and civilians in seizing power on the island. It could also be used against Jacques Soustelle, leading Gaullist deputy who fled to take a top role in the Algiers revolt.

Tenement Fire Kills 6

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Fire crackled through a three-story tenement today and six Negro tenants were burned to death. Twenty-five others fled to safety. Police arrested another tenant who lived on the top floor after they said he admitted smoking in bed. He was held on a charge of investigation of arson.

Convicts Die After Poison Booze Party

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two prisoners have died and two are in hospital following a party early Sunday at a prison work camp in nearby Chilliwack during which poisonous spirits were consumed.

The two dead were identified by prison officials as Archie Morin, 28, and Joseph Bastarache, 48, who were serving their seventh and eighth sentences respectively in Oakalla prison in suburban Burnaby and had been sent from there to the Chilliwack camp.

It is believed the men drank anti-freeze fluid or some type of spirit fuel taken from a mechanic's shed.

A letter from the prime minister noted that the federal labor department was watching the strike situation closely and "you may be sure that the government of Canada is anxious to assist in reducing the unfortunate effects which you state will arise from the present strike."

Mayor Scurrah refused comment on the letter and two similiar ones from the department of labor and the office of Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, VC.

"They speak for themselves," he said.

HOTELS LOSE OUT

With attempts to end the CPR strike stalemated, tourist businesses such as hotels and motels continued suffering losses.

Managers expected to be hit hard this weekend, Memorial Day holiday in the United States which normally brings a great many visitors here, if the strike was not settled immediately.

Mayor Scurrah attended an emergency meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce today in the Crystal Garden where reports on the CPR strike situation were made.

The SIU should accept the offer of the CPR to submit the union's wage dispute to binding arbitration by a Supreme Court judge, Arnold Webb, secretary-manager of the Victoria chamber said.

"GENUINE OFFER"

Mr. Webb described the offer as a "crack in the curtain."

"It appears to be a genuine offer and there seems to be no reason why the union should not be prepared to submit its case in the same manner," he said.

Commenting on a CPR statement that it was operating its ships at a loss and any increase in costs "would entail increased fares, reduced service, or both," Mr. Webb said the chamber was opposed to any reduction in service between Victoria and the mainland.

Labor Minister Michael Starr told the Commons that the CPR and SIU are still "far apart" in their dispute. He said a federal labor department attempt to arrange new talks over the weekend failed.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Otto Honicke, 2422 Cedar Hill, $35 and $5 costs and licence suspension, for careless driving.

Donald L. Trahan, 866 Craigflower, $35 for careless driving.

In Sidney RCMP court today:

Arthur Saunders, Sidney, $50 and $3 costs for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $35 and $5 costs for careless driving.

REACTOR KNOCKED OUT IN ATOM DUST MISHAP

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's powerful NRU atomic reactor at the Chalk River, Ont., atomic establishment was knocked out of action Saturday night following a rare accident which contaminated the building housing it with radioactive dust.

Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., Crown company that operates the huge atomic project, said no one was injured in the accident. However, the $57,000,000 reactor, which goes by the code name NRU, likely will shut down for three or four weeks.

French Police Seize U.S., London Papers

PARIS (AP) — French police seized today's issue of The London Daily Mail and the European edition of The New York Herald Tribune.

The information ministry said the seizure of The Herald Tribune was ordered because the paper printed remarks by the French naval commander in the Mediterranean, Admiral Philippe Auboyneau, that the navy supported the rebel group in Algeria.

The Daily Mail was seized when it arrived in Paris. No reason was given. Other London papers were distributed without interference.

The seizures were part of the government's campaign to keep from the public certain information pertaining to the spread of the Algerian revolt against Paris control. The government Sunday extended censorship to all news distributed in France, although there still is no censorship on outgoing news.

Tear Gas Attack On H-Bomb March

OXFORD, Eng. (AP) — A cloud of tear gas was discharged among 200 demonstrators setting out from here Sunday on an H-bomb protest march to a nearby U.S. Air Force base. The march went ahead, with a police escort. The tear gas thrower escaped.

GIRL FRIEND CUT UP, TOO

He Kissed His Car Goodbye

VANCOUVER — A kiss cost a young motorist his convertible Sunday. It also resulted in injuries to his girl companion.

Police said the youth admitted he was kissing his 16-year-old companion when the car skidded and plunged over a 25-foot embankment into Burarrd Inlet.

The girl was hurled from the auto as it shot over the bank. She was treated at hospital for shock and bruises. The driver, who stayed with the car, escaped injury but police said the vehicle was demolished.

A charge of driving while his licence was suspended will be laid against the youth, police said, and other charges are being considered.

'STILL DEEPLY IN LOVE'

'Marry Peter or Nobody' Reported Margaret Stand

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret still is deeply in love with Group Capt. Peter Townsend, The Sunday Pictorial says.

"She would like to marry him —or nobody," writes the tabloid's palace correspondent, Audrey Whiting.

Whether they hope to marry or not Townsend appears to be the 27-year-old princess' favorite date. And the 43-year-old former courtier has given friends the impression of still being a suitor — despite Buckingham Palace insistence that the situation has not changed since Margaret's statement in 1955 that she would not marry him.

The princess and Townsend have adopted a seemingly don't-care attitude to what people may whisper about their recent dates and there is a strong feeling of sympathy among Britons about their predicament.

But there is an equally strong feeling that the princess would never embarrass the Royal Family by reneging on her 1955 pledge to stick by the church's teachings.

Within 24 hours of a Swiss newspaper report last week that their engagement was imminent, the palace issued a statement branding the report untrue. The Royal Family in the past has always ignored rumors concerning their private lives.

The Sunday Pictorial says the princess and the retired RAF pilot hope in time to get the public used to the idea so that their dates "will attract neither raised eyebrows nor front-page headlines."

Navy Pilot Killed In Backyard Crash

FONTHILL, Ont. (CP) — A horrified family of five stood helpless Sunday as an RCN Grumman Avenger aircraft crashed in flames in their back yard, killing the pilot.

The dead man was identified as Sub-Lieut. P. W. A. K. Chambers, whose father lives in Belfast, Northern Ireland. Chambers was a pilot in the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, which he joined after arriving here from Belfast about three years ago.

Lloyd Burton, a farmer on Highway 20, said he heard the plane, believed it was stunting and called his family and a neighbor to the back porch to watch.

He said the plane was heading straight at him at a low level, veered into a bank and crashed 15 feet away from where the group was watching. Wreckage crashed against the walls of the house, broke the windows and demolished a section of the porch, but the group escaped injury.

Big 'Brains Trust' Meets at Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—About 1,200 Canadian scientists and intellectuals will be on the University of Alberta campus during the next three weeks at the annual Conference of Learned Societies.

Almost all scientific, professional and university groups will be represented. Among the delegates will be historians, chemists, mathematicians, geographers, geologists, psychologists, archaeologists, biologists, sociologists and others such as political economists, and university teachers and officials.

The conference will be opened Wednesday by a four-day meeting of the Canadian Association of Geographers, followed June 1-4 by the 485-member Royal Society of Canada. The Canadian Association of Slavists will end the conference June 16.

Topics include Commonwealth military ties, Canadian-American relations, recent Canadian temperature changes, fisheries research, proposals for a Canadian dictionary, bank policies and dozens of other subjects.

The geographers, meeting Wednesday to Sunday, and the Royal Society both have scheduled discussions on Canadian northwest development.

Up-Island Labor Backs Ship Strike

NANAIMO (CP)—The Nanaimo and District Labor Council Sunday gave full support to the striking members of the Seafarers' International Union.

Corresponding secretary Carl Anshelm moved support of the strike and offered every assistance possible from the council after hearing a report from SIU representative Wally French.

He said Vancouver Island chamber of commerce representatives "were biting the hand that feeds them" with regard to the recent move of Island businessmen to seek government intervention in the strike.

Mr. Anshelm said the "small businessmen" who make up the chambers of commerce are dependent upon the wage-earners.

"We wouldn't be galloping around the countryside every weekend buying fishing rods, camping equipment and bathing suits if the trade unions had not won the shorter work week for which they fought for so many years," he said.

Labor council president John F. Colwell advocated Nanaimo city council refuse any further grants to the Chamber of Commerce, calling it a group of "anti-union money-grabbing businessmen."

Four Workers Killed In 7,200-Volt Flash

WARREN, Ont. (CP)—Four workers of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission died today five hours after they received electrical shocks in an accident at the hydro substation at Warren, 40 miles east of Sudbury.

The dead were identified as Louis Villa, 36, of Sudbury; Aubrey Staples, 36, of Garson; Maurice Paradis, 26 of Chelmsford, and Aurele Fournier, 30, also of Chelmsford.

The six-man crew from Sudbury was working on replacement of a transformer and was slipping steel pipe scaffolding into position when the accident occurred. Armstrong said the scaffolding touched the blade of a live switch. The line was carrying 7,200 volts.

They were held fast to the scaffolding until a transformer fuse blew, breaking the circuit. Armstrong said the feeder line on which they were working was dead.

Campbell River Power Trials In Mid-June

Initial trials of the 42,000 hp capacity generating unit at Upper Campbell Dam are expected to be made about June 15, according to H. L. Briggs, general manager of the B.C. Power Commission.

When the unit is placed in service it will increase the power commission's hydro generating capacity on Vancouver Island to over 300,000 hp. The combined ultimate capacity of the three plants in the Campbell River system, John Hart, Ladore and Upper Campbell is 400,000 hp.

Mr. Briggs said that with the completion of the Upper Campbell dam and powerhouse the power commission will have a brief respite in the long battle against a power shortage on the Island.

TIMBER REMAINS

R. C. McMordie, chief engineer for the power commission, said that although the dam and powerhouse are virtually complete, work remains to be done before the entire multi-million dollar development is finished. Movement of logs cleared from the shoreline of Buttle Lake, disposal of debris from old logging operations in the vicinity and clearing around Upper Campbell Lake will continue until the end of this year, he said.

. . . ALGIERS

The disclosure of the new visits came amid reports that the huge French aircraft carrier Lafayette and three destroyers already had arrived at Bone from Malta.

By coincidence, the imminent arrival of the fleet units in the Algerian ports came at the same time as a visit of Gaullist Jacques Soustelle and top generals of the all-Algeria committee of public safety to Bone and Constantine in eastern Algeria.

Meanwhile, insurgent authorities in Algeria accused the Paris government of plotting to create incidents between the French and Tunisian forces in Tunisia to discredit the committee of public safety in Algeria.

An official spokesman of the committee said the government of Pierre Pflimlin is trying to exploit the situation and obtain international sanctions against the Algiers authorities.

He added that the 22,000 French troops in Tunisia commanded by Gen. Fernand Gambiez were "working in very close contact with us for operational reasons."

Grave Charge Laid Against Brannan Boys

NANAIMO (CP) — Two 17-year-old boys, escapees from Brannan Lake Industrial School, were charged in police court with robbery with violence Saturday and remanded until June 2 after an elderly couple in suburban Wellington were beaten and robbed.

Mrs. Jacques Rioux said two youths attacked her husband in their home and stole $29.50 and some household goods and clothing after binding Mr. and Mrs. Rioux.

Mr. Rioux, a First World War veteran and former Quebec police officer, suffered a broken nose, cuts and bruises in the attack.

RCMP said the youths had broken out from the school, six miles north of here, Friday afternoon.

One of the youths was reported to have fled from the Rioux home on a previously broken leg, using crutches stolen from the couple. They were arrested about two hours after the attack.

One youth is reported to have broken down a door to reach Mrs. Rioux after she locked herself in a room when her husband was attacked.

Miss Death by Inches as Explosion Blasts, Burns 22-Foot Cruiser

DUNCAN—Mayor Jack Dobson and a companion, Robert Barton, missed death by inches Sunday morning at Maple Bay when an explosion and fire wrecked Mayor Dobson's cruiser, "Sheila-Jo."

Loss was estimated at $3,000.

The mishap occurred at 11 a.m., when the engine backfired on starting. Mayor Dobson and Mr. Barton leaped to the water with hair and eyebrows badly singed, only seconds before the boat burst into flame.

MAYOR J. DOBSON
. . . narrow escape

They made their way to Mr. Barton's boat and took the blazing 22-foot cruiser in tow to the beach at Birds Eye Cove, a part of Maple Bay.

Maple Bay volunteer fire department attended, but was unable to save the inboard cruiser, which was termed a total loss.

Birds Eye Cove is a popular boat-building, mooring and boat repair centre at the southern extremity of Maple Bay.

Ambulance Service Committee Organized

QUALICUM BEACH — Setting up of a committee to organize an ambulance service in the district was the main item at a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting here.

Suggestion was that a St. John Ambulance unit be formed to operate the service.

Mine in Red Ink, Pay Boost Denied

VANCOUVER (CP)—A majority conciliation board report has recommended against any change in wage rates for miners employed by Cowichan Copper Mining Company at Lake Cowichan.

A third member of the board, William Stewart, will submit a minority report.

The report, signed by chairman E. D. Strongitharm and J. A. Pike, also recommended against changes in statutory holidays and free transportation of miners.

The union asked for an increase of 35 cents an hour, while the company asked for a 12-cent reduction.

The report said the company had shown it was not operating at a profit but at a substantial loss and "under the circumstances any increase in wages at this time would seem to herald the discontinuence of operations of the company."

Cowichan recently signed a $5,000,000 contract to ship copper concentrate to Japan. First shipment will be made in August.

Ratepayers Ask New Deal for Island

NANAIMO (CP)—Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association has decided to seek a "new deal" for the Island.

The group named G. W. Hamilton, of Shawinigan Lake, and H. Watson, of Victoria, Friday night, as a special committee to review "inequities and injustices" to Vancouver Island, including problems of communication with the British Columbia Mainland, freight rates and milk produce prices.

Mr. Hamilton said later: "Residents cannot buy land for a summer home or camp and they are 'caught in the middle' in such cases as the current seafarers' strike, which threatens to cut them off from the Mainland."
